Why the Unless?

Two Mysterious Ones.

A Hole In Your Stomach?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

IT IS SAID for President Coolidge "Unless there is an armament limitation agreement the United States will go ahead with a development of naval aviation that would make America lead the world in the air."

Why any "unless?" The president is elected to look after THIS country and its defenses, not to tell other nations what they should do. His business is in the United States, and as head of the army and navy his most important business is to see to the defense of the United States.

WHY not go ahead and build the greatest air fleet instead of talking about it? With that fleet in working order, and run by flying men, not swivel-chair men, this country wouldn't need to worry about other nations.

IT IS ALSO said, "President Coolidge is very optimistic and believes the world court will admit this country in spite of the United States reservations."

The president may well be optimistic, if admission to the World Court is what he wants.

The world court would admit us, if we came with all our relations, nine elephants and a dozen baboons. Anything to get old Uncle Sam into the court. The next step will be to push us from the court in the league of nations.

DR. ALBERT LOWENSTEIN, a Belgian, is Europe's latest "mysterious millionaire." He has a place in England with a string of horseless five villas at Biarritz, one of two of them for aviators that run his flock of flying machines.

The flying machines bring millionaires from other countries to talk with him. He has forty secretaries, and a fleet of automobiles. His airplanes, including those rented from the Imperial Airways company, of London, cost $100,000 a week.

So goes the story, worthy of Jules Verne, apparently.

That is the too busy, too much cluttered-up type of millionaire. There is something wrong with a mind that needs so many secretaries, automobiles and flying machines.

WALL STREET has a young mysterious millionaire also, named Clarence Dillon. He took away the Dodge car financing from highly indignant, slow-moving Wall Street dinosaurs, then "grabbed" the National Cash Register, and lately has been financing bigger enterprises in Europe.

His ways annoy old-fashioned Wall Street finance exceedingly. Wall Street reporters say he has no papers, no pen and ink, only one or two sharp pencils and a paper pad on his smooth, glass-topped desk, near a comfortable arm-chair beside an open fire-place.

That's the way to be an efficient mysterious millionaire. Get rid of detail.

A WELL-KNOWN young man who died recently was temperate, hard-

A Baking Booklet

Some kind of bread is served on the average American table three times a day. The quality of that bread is an important matter. The food value depends on the materials which go into it, whether it is made at home or in the bakery. The baking booklet has been planned primarily as a guide in home baking, but through its discussion of materials it offers help also in the choice of commercial baked products.

This invaluable offering is a government publication, and our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy for any reader who fills out and mails the coupon below, enclosing four cents in stamps for return postage and handling. Write your name and address clearly.

ROME POLICE DIRECTOR AND CHIEF "FIRED" BY MUSSOLINI

Premier Acts as Result of Attempt to Kill Him.

LAXITY CHARGED

Bomb Thrower Says Act Was That of Individual.

ROME, Sept. 13.—Premier Mussolini's first move as the result of the bomb attack against him on Saturday has been within his own household.

The government today announced that General Police Director Crisponancada and Signor Pirilli, chief of police of Rome, have been dismissed. It is understood that the government holds that these two officials were lax in their duty in permitting the attempted assassination and in failing to uncover the alleged plot which fostered the attack.

Signor Bocchini has been named general police director and Signor Angelucci has been named chief of police of Rome.

Denies Widespread Plot.

Gino Lucetti, the would-be assassin who first gave his name as Ermete Giovannini, has been further grilled and now confesses that he arrived in Rome on September 2 and spent more than a week studying the daily routine movements of Premier Mussolini, the police state.

Lucetti, despite arrests which have been made and the police charge of a widespread plot, still persists that his act was that of an individual. He declares that several times during the past week he has stood before the Chigi palace prepared to bomb Mussolini, but each time something prevented him from acting. He states that when he emigrated to France in 1920 he hid the bombs in Rome which he used in the attack on Saturday.

The police state that Lucetti has tattooed upon his breast the words, "Vive la mort."

Members of Lucetti's family have been placed under arrest at Avezza.

Many anarchist leaders were under arrest today, including Signora Malatesta, whose husband was arrested yesterday. The police admit, however, that they have not yet sufficient evi-

EVIDENCE BROUGHT OUT IN RECENT POLICE CHIEF FIGHT TO BE CHECKED

Ousted Department Head, Target for Many of Slain Newspaperman's Editorials, Awaits Decision on His Appeal for Reinstatement—Carl Studer, Facing Two Charges, Still in Jail.

By PAUL E. BROKAW

CANTON, O., Sept. 13.—A renewed investigation into the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton newspaperman, was expected to get under way today with the return of Ora Slater, private detective who originally opened the inquiry.

Slater was recalled by County Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

He is expected to make an investigation into the contributing causes of the murder with a view to presenting whatever evidence he gathers to a Stark county grand jury scheduled to convene here September 20. That is to be the same grand jury that recently indicted Louis Mazer, Ben Rudner and Patrick McDermott for murder in connection with the Mellett assassination.

The Canton civil service commission today will announce its decision on the hearing for the reinstatement of former Police Chief S. A. Lengel, who was the target for many of Mellett's editorial shots, which were directly aimed at the police department.

Expect Return of Mazer.

The investigation to be started by Slater today has been claimed to have been opened by evidence brought out at Lengel's hearing.

Carl Studer, arrested last week on charges of perjury and keeping a disorderly house, was still being held in the municipal jail here in default of $5,000 bond.

Studer will have a hearing Tuesday on the disorderly house charge and Wednesday on the perjury count.

Return of Louis Mazer, one of the two indicted for first degree murder to Canton for arraignment, was expected tomorrow or Wednesday. Mazer is now held in Cleveland by federal authorities who have preferred accusations of liquor conspiracy against him.

APPLY varnish stain to a metal panel. Allow the panel to dry. Bend or crease it over a straight edge. Then straighten it out and examine its surface.

An inefficient varnish stain will crack badly where it was creased, leaving a broken film that will chip off and expose the bare surface.

Devoe Mirrolac will retain an unbroken film thereby fully protecting the surface. This proves the elasticity and durability of the product.

Practical tests prove Devoe quality.

BOOK TWO—VI.

Jock cut in, successively, on Gloria Martin, on a languid brunette with earrings the size of butter plates, on Norma Knight, on a blonde who was mildly intoxicated, on a theatrical-looking girl who called him "big boy," and on Winky Winters. They all greeted him graciously, and they all said much the same things. Well, it was about time he remembered they were there! They'd been wondering all evening when he was going to look their way. But of course, he'd been so absorbed in that queer little person Dopey Lane brought! . . . Every one of them had noticed him with Cecily, and knew approximately how long he had danced with her. Jock thought this very curious. Being that rara avis, a young man almost entirely without vanity, it did not occur to him that girls would always observe and mentally register all his activities, no matter how many other male beings there might be present.

Half an hour passed before he danced with Molly again. "Jock," she declared then, "I cannot stand it, that's all there is to it! I'll have to go back to the frat house and get another pair of shoes. These are brand new, and my feet are tired anyway from dancing constantly for two days, and I'm suffering agonies."

"I'll go back and get them. Tell me where they are."

"You never could find them—"

"Sure I could!" A suspicion that if Molly returned to the deserted fraternity house with him there would be another scene similar to the recent one in the roadster made Jock all the more emphatic. "Sure, Molly, I'll find them all right. Where'd you leave them? What do they look like?"

"They're silver," Molly said. "Silver brocade, and they tie on the instep with little tassels. They're in the closet—the only silver slippers in there unless Norma has a pair, in which case you'll know mine because they'll be the smallest. But I'd better go with you—"

Jock turned her over to an approaching stag, and went alone.

VII.

The room that Molly and Norma Knight were occupying was the one inhabited in more normal times by Jock and Bones. But even though it belonged to him, Jock entered it almost guiltily, like a furtive intruder. It looked so feminine! Its chairs were festooned with wispy garments in pastel colors. Its chiffoniers supported a miscellany of hairpins and round gilt boxes and pearl beads and perfume bottles and crumpled handkerchiefs and lipsticks, and, over all, a light snowfall of powder. There were suitcases under the beds, suitcases somewhat ajar and foaming lace at the mouth. Jock opened the closet door and peeped in. Gowns hung there in a row, and below them, innumerable small shoes trod carelessly on one another's toes.

He stooped to search for a pair of silver ones with little tasseled ties for the insteps, and as he did so he heard a sound.

He sat up, listening. He heard it again . . . a queer little muffled sound, rather like a whimper into a pillow. . . .

"Now who—?" he said aloud. But he knew. Of course. Who else, of all the Zeta Kappa guests, would be crying alone in the dark on prom night?

He went into the hall and called, "Cecily!"

No answer.

"Cecily, it's Jock Hamill. Let me talk to you a minute."

Still no answer.

Jock walked straight across to Dopey Lane's room, entered, and pressed the wall switch. Lights sprang out of the pitch blackness, revealing Cecily.

She lay face downward on the bed, in a heap, as though she had been crumpled like paper and flung there. The silk of her gown wrinkled over her like disturbed water, and her head was visible only as a mesh of thick brown hair framed in a triangle of arm. She looked tragic as she lay there, and crushed, and utterly hopeless.

"Why, Cecily!" Jock said. "Why listen—dear little kid—this won't do at all, you know!" She was the second weeping woman he had seen that night, but she did not affect him as Molly had. Instead she wrung his heart.

"Go away!" she mumbled.

"I will not! You sit up here this minute and tell me what it's all about."

Cecily shook her head so violently that tendrils of hair bounced like little springs.

"Then I'm going to wait here till you do," Jock told her firmly.

He waited in silence, and after an interval Cecily said, "Turn out the light."

When the room was in darkness again Jock could hear her stirring, sitting up—blowing her nose, even. Her voice came, still thick, but much more nearly normal. "What are you doing here, anyway?"

"I came over on an errand, and heard you—"

"How did you know it was I?"

"I missed you from the dance," Jock lied. "I was sure you couldn't be in the dressing room all that time. Cecily, tell me why—"

"You know why."

"No, I—"

"Oh, stop!" she wailed. "Don't lie to me—not now. Of course you know why I left, and why I'm crying, and just exactly what's wrong—of course you do. That's why you've been so wonderful to me ever since I came—because you were sorry for me. Oh, I know! I understood that, even though you acted just as if I was—was—as if you really liked me—"

"I do like you, Cecily."

"Do you really?"

"I really do."

"Enough to be absolutely frank with me?"

"Y-yes."

"Then tell me what to do!" cried Cecily passionately through the dark. "Tell me how to be like the rest of these girls—how to be popular! That's what I need—somebody who likes me well enough to be willing to tell me that!"

An honest appeal, straight from the heart. Jock was not the man to resist it. "Sure I'll tell you," he said, "if I can. I don't know much about it, but I'll do my best." He hesitated. "Let's go downstairs, Cecily, don't you want to? Somebody's liable to come in and find us here—not that I care, but it might not look so well for you—"

They went down, Cecily with her rough little hand thrust into Jock's trustingly.

Of course you do. You want a figure that you can drape your clothes on—not just hang them on! What's the use of having pretty clothes, if they just hang on you?

And what would you say if you were told you could have the figure you want? A graceful, well rounded body—firm, solid flesh—just enough—just your right weight? You'd be mighty happy, wouldn't you?

Well, then, be happy—because you can have it! Put plenty of red cells in your blood and watch your weight go up to where you want it! That's what's the matter with you! Your blood is impoverished. OHIO CHURCHES CONSOLIDATE

Five Communities Have Merged Competing Congregations.

COLUMBUS, O., September 13.—The movement for consolidation of competing churches of different denominations in over-churched communities in Ohio, which began some 15 years ago, is gaining ground rapidly today, according to a report of such projects compiled by the Ohio Council of Churches.

Within the past year, the summary showed, churches have united in at least five Ohio communities—Welshfield, Nelson, Apple Creek, Fredericksburg and Monroe Township, Putnam county.

Several other merger projects are pending and may be carried out in the next few months, according to church council officials.

Through action taken in 1921 by church officials, the Protestant denominations of the state are committed to a policy of favoring consolidation of churches in small communities, to achieve the ideal of having a resident minister and a well-equipped church in every community with 500 or more people. Principles adopted at that time hold that any community with fewer than 1,000 population is best served by a single well-equipped Protestant church with "adequate resident pastoral leadership." Many of the church consolidations in the five years since this action was taken.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Futile Pride

Spain, refused a permanent seat on the council of the league of nations, withdraws from the league because her feelings are hurt.

Here is old-fashioned "Castilian pride" still alive and still operating, as it has done for centuries, to Spain's own disadvantage.

As matters stand, Spain's retirement hurts Spain more than it does the league. The latter gains prestige by keeping faith with Germany and refusing to be bulldozed into changing its policies by a member with whom there was really a good deal of sympathy. The welfare of the league was placed above favoritism and threats.

Spain has not "fired" the league, but the league has, however, regretfully, fired Spain.

So Spain is left with her pride, and little else. And pride, in a man or nation, is of little use when it is not accompanied by substantial strength or achievement.

It was really absurd that a nation which has lost the vast empire which was once Spain's, and dwindled in power until it was beaten to a standstill by a handful of Moroccans, should presume to dictate to a majority of the powers of the earth.

The Castilian nobleman, dwelling ragged in a tumble-down castle, and starving because he is too proud to work for a living, is still a symbol of Spain. That is why Spain fails to prosper and why, in spite of her great past, she fails to exert power in international councils, and ever her Spanish-American offspring fails to support her.

The New Immortality

Valentino's body is laid to rest, but "his soul goes marching on." His career continues amazingly after his death. The "pictures" he created, instead of being withdrawn, as in the case of various other film actors, are being shown more widely than ever. Death has increased his popularity, has even started a new vogue for him.

"The Valentino the fan knows," says a movie writer, "will only die with this generation, and in some of his impersonations he may continue still longer."

It has always been possible, in a way, for a poet or dramatist or painter or sculptor to live on in his accomplished work; but here we have, or seem to have, the actual, living man himself still before our eyes. It is this sense of complete illusion given by the moving picture that so amazingly prolongs the career of a film favorite and gives him what seems, at least for the time being, a veritable immortality.

Moreover, since it is said to be possible to preserve present-day films indefinitely, a Valentino or any other actor on any stage of modern life may conceivably be preserved and brought forth again before the eyes of remote generations.

Present and future may be merged as never before. The future will know its past as we cannot know ours. We have now incentive to work for the future, knowing that our work can be preserved.

Sunlight

The sunshine gospel—which is a scientific gospel—continues to spead. At a gathering of sanitary inspectors in Brantford, Ont., the chief health inspector of Winnipeg spoke forcibly on "Light and Health" emphasizing the need of "natural light" in living and working quarters.

The four chief needs for the health of the community, he declared, are these:

A clean atmosphere in cities and towns.

The admission of direct sunlight to all working and living quarters, particularly in homes where there are growing children.

The perfection of a window glass to admit ultra-violet rays—the part of sunlight especially promoting health and growth.

The inculcation in the minds of the people of the absolute need of direct sunlight in winter as well as summer, for the maintenance of health.

It would be well if health officers everywhere were harping on this subject. It has taken the human race a good many thousand years to learn how sunshine affects life, and to start making intelligent use of it and, where it is lacking, to begin providing the best substitutes possible.

The Miser

Poor little old Matilda Ries, a laudress by day and a pencil vendor by night, was taken by the New York police for soliciting alms in the subway and was subsequently sent to the insane asylum.

She had $1,800 in bills sewed into her clothing, and under her bed in the hovel where she lived was half a ton of small coins worth nearly $10,000. She had toiled and hoarded and reveled in her treasure and sought ever more eagerly to add to it until the treasure possessed her. She wore herself out, body and mind, and looked to be 63 instead of 43, and finally lost all count of dollars and days. It got to be so hard to add up her savings, with pencil and paper, that she couldn't sleep any more. And then, the responsibility of safeguarding it! At every step on the stairs she would start up and cry, "Are you coming to rob me?"

Of course that has nothing to do with any of the rest of us. Yet there is more than one kind of useless hoarding. And many are the people "demented with the mania of owning things," who clutter up and wear out their lives taking care of useless possessions instead of living.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Early up to drive to Pompton Lakes where Albert Payson Terhune and his lady were celebrating the 25th anniversary of their marriage, and a distinguished gathering there.

So to the city where my barber told me that in five years I would be bald, my idea of nothing to worry about. Some of the most distinguished men I know are hairless and anyway the trying part of one's toilette is brushing the hair.

In the evening to a play and heard a comedian imitate an auto siren and going home found I could and never so pleased in my life and crossing the street behind a man so frightened him he threatened to knock my head off. Thence to bed, a contrite smart alec.

Broadway has a way of reaching out and plucking those in humble paths for the glare of the spotlight. A set of twin dancing sisters were a short while ago $15-a-week ushers in a theatre. A clever comedian was selling soap from door to door.

A rather obscure singer of the cellar cabarets is now the omni-present Balief of a glorified revue. A trick dancer was a year ago doing his steps between calls for companions on a messenger boy's bench.

And it is an old story that Fanny Brice sold newspapers at the Brooklyn end of Brooklyn Bridge. Now she is a Belasco star. The theatre is one institution that has no interest in a past. If one has the stuff recognition is inevitable.

Broadway is filled with men and women who came up from gutter environments to the imperious grandeur of swoop-nose imported cars. Their wits have been sharpened on flag stones. And it is natural for them to strut.

The successor to those electrical chewing gum acrobats which graced a Broadway cornice is noted. It is a lone puppet that kicks his hat off and then kicks it back on with a precision that charms curb loafers.

Broadway calls spats "ankle awnings" and a monocle "a porthole." And those who essay full evening dress are "whitefronts." Full evening dress for a time threatened to shelve the Tuxedo for strictly formal wear, but the European idea didn't click for long. Full evening dress is now left for visiting Europeans. And head waiters.

And Broadway's current popular "blue" song is the theme of an old hymn. Which recalls the chorus girl who, when asked her favorite hymn, replied: "Jack Barrymore."

There is something appealingly frank in this sign in the luminous entrance of a Turkish Bath near Times Square: "No matter what condition you are in when you visit our baths, we will take care of you." That—hic—is a promise!

The original name of Washington News was Stable Alley—and then a painter set up a studio and gradually the place became "arty." Other stables became civilized centers of thought. Rents went up and rubber-neck megaphonists pointed it out as one of the sights of the Village. Two novels have glorified it. Even noted European artists have declared it offered an atmosphere rarely felt outside of Florence.

A truthful lady vouches for this. A workman left two fresh eggs near a steam pipe in the boiler room of a prominent hotel. The other day a chicken pecked out of one of the eggs.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The English Coal Strike.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—The end of the English coal strike may be at hand now that the miners by slightly more than a two-thirds vote have authorized their council to make a settlement with the operators. This may mean the capitulation of the strikers, or it may result merely in tedious negotiations and the prolonging of the dealock, but it is generally regarded as a step toward peace. That the outlook is not altogether promising is indicated, however, by the fact that some 225,000 of the miners voted against the authorization. With such a large element of bitter-enders among the workers after all the privations that they and their dependents have endured, the officials of the union are likely to be slow in making concessions.

Unionists and employers as well in the United States have been amazed at the continuation of the English coal strike after the general strike collapsed. The general strike was called, presumptively, as a last desperate measure of British trade unions to force the government and the coal operators to meet the demands of the miners. Certainly it was called to aid the coal workers, and when it failed—and it did fail signally—it was assumed here that the miners would throw up their hands at once. Such would have been the result in this country, if it were conceivable that a general strike could be attempted here in support of any one group of unionists.

Strikes collapse in the United States when the strikers and their leaders realize that public sentiment is against them to a marked degree. The general strike in England developed the most amazing adverse popular sentiment. All classes of the people rallied 'round in the most determined and most efficient cooperation to defeat the strike and the end was not long in doubt. Even the strikers themselves seemed to cooperate, for they indulged in no sabotage and no riotous demonstrations against strike breakers, and to glory in the manner in which their country met a perilous situation. It was industrial warfare, but the most peaceable warfare the world has ever known.

No National Hysterics

There was no exhibition of national hysteria, such as would have been inevitable in this country in a similar situation. No bitter hatreds were engendered, and neither side manifested a determination to rule or ruin. The strikers said, in effect, "This is how we feel about this situation, and here is our demonstration," to which the British public replied emphatically in substantially the same words. Whereupon the unionists said "Well, if that's the way you feel about it, the general strike is off."

But the coal strike went on. All the trade unions in England could not win in a concerted action, but one group, in whose behalf the concerted action was taken, carried on. The only explanation of this extraordinary development in a great industrial conflict is that while British public sentiment was overwhelmingly against the general strike it was not correspondingly hostile to the cause of it. The miners must have popular sympathy to an appreciable degree.

Evidence of this is seen in the public support that has been given the striking miners. Just as during the World war a city or an organization in the United States would "adopt" a village or town in France or Belgium and provide for the support of its inhabitants, so parishes and similar social entities in England have adopted mining districts. For instance, Balina, in Wales, where there has been perhaps greater and longer distress than in any district in the coal mining regions, has been adopted by a parish in one of the poorest boroughs in London which sends from one to three hundred pounds a week for distribution among the strikers and their families.

For the most part the striking miners are fed by funds that are raised by the distressing committees of their federation, while their wives and children are supported by the poor law relief dispensed by public guardians.

What It Is All About.

The strikers, notably in Wales, keep up their spirit and maintain their morale largely by jazz music. They organize jazz bands, occasionally as many as thirty or forty in a district, and hold concerts and festivals at which the bands compete for prizes for the most striking costumes and the best music. Recently, however, there has been some rioting in Wales, and it has been made apparent that the spirit of the strikers has come either to the danger point or to the breaking point.

In this country it has long been

THE PERFIDY OF THE SCOT.

Among golfers this one is at present having a more or less deserved circulation.

A Yankee enthusiast on his return home from the grand tour was telling his friend of his experience on foreign links.

"Say," he said, "the Scotch are a mighty tricky race. You know what I mean—liars and that sort of thing."

"Surely not all of them," protested his audience.

"Well, I'm only going by a sample specimen that I ran into. He may not have been typical, but I'll say this for him; he was a sharp practitioner. I met him one morning at a club in the Lowlands. I was looking for a partner and he seemed to be alone, too, so I said to him:

"'What do you generally go around in?'

"'Oh,' he said, 'about 105 or 106 when I'm on my game.'

"'That's me, too' I said, 'if I break 110 on any course I'm doing pretty well. I guess we're pretty well mated. Suppose we play together for a shilling a hole?'

"Well, he took me up," continued the American, "and he turned out to be one terrible liar. Why, that Scotch son-of-a-gun made an eighty-two and I had to play my head off to take three shillings away from him."

OPEN SCHOOL BIDS OCT. 19

Brick and Concrete Structure Will be Erected.

Bids for the new Grant district elementary and high school building to be erected in Newell, will be opened by the board of education on Tuesday, October 19, it was announced today.

Call for proposals will be issued next week. This publication will continue for four weeks.

Plans for the new structure which will occupy a site on what was formerly a part of the Kenilworth Country Golf club golf links, donated by the North American Manufacturing company, probably will be approved within the next ten days.

The building will be brick and concrete and fire proof in every respect. It will be one story high with a basement. Its approximate cost will be $100 000, including equipment.

Peterson & Clark, Steubenville architects, who supervised the building of the East Liverpool high school, the Mary A. Patterson Memorial Christian home new schools in Toronto and Steubenville, will be in charge of the work.

The three-room Grandview school building, in what is known as Lawrenceville, has been completed, as the result of funds made available through the $75,000 bond issue approved at the August election.

Q. How much money is received in royalties for films shown abroad, and what is paid for foreign films? C. M.

A. In the last six years motion picture royalties have amounted to at least $300,000,000, while foreign films have cost $1,000,000 for exhibition here. Last year Europe paid the most, $52,000,000; Latin America next, $7,500,000; Canada, $3,500,000; Asia and rest of world, $12,000,000; making a total for 1925 of $75,000,000.

Q. How many people are killed at grade crossings? L. D.

A. During the last ten years, more than 19,000 persons have been killed and over 52,000 injured on grade crossings.

Q. Does the forest land of the Northwest yield more lumber to the acre than the eastern forests did? H. J.

A. In the East, 5000 or 6000 feet per acre was considered a normal yield, the forests of the west coast average nearly 40,000 feet and acre, and some yield as high as 150,000 feet.

Q. What is the rug of skin that a native black in South Africa wears, called? N. A. F.

A. The square of cloth or skin is called a kaross.

Q. When was the recall first practiced in American politics? B. T. L.

A. Contrary to general opinion the recall is not an innovation of modern politics, but has been known since reveutionary times. Pennsylvania's delegates to the Continental Congress who refused to sign the Declaration of Independence were recalled and others sent in their places. Los Angeles was the first city to adopt the recall, the amendment to its charter in 1903 being modeled after the cantonal law of Schaffhausen, Switzerland.

Q. Does a steam piston come to a stop at the end of its strokes? M. H. S.

A. At the end of each stroke the piston is stationary for a fraction of a second.

Q. When were italics first used? G. T.

A. Manutius, a Venetian printer, first used them about 1500 A. D.

Q. Did the gas mask provided the soldiers during the war, protect them against illuminating gas? S. D. N.

A. The army mask which afforded protection against the gases used in warfare, would not be effectual against common illuminating gases.

Q. What are the fat-forming and non-fat-forming foods? C. S.

A. The fat-forming concentrated foods are of several classes and consist of such substances as first, butter, cream, fatty portions of meat, salad oil and nuts; second, starchy foods, such as bread and pastry, the bread being taken as a rule with butter, giving a very concentrated fat and starch combination, while pastry has both fat in the form of butter, and sugar; third, sweets and sugars. Sugars are used largely to add to the palatability of certain foods. The non-fat-forming foods consist in general of the bulky vegetables, fruits, lean meat, and fish without fat.

Q. What is meant by a 5 per cent solution? C. E. W.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that the term per cent solution is used loosely in two or three ways. For instance a 5 per cent solution of calcium chloride means, to some chemists, a solution made up by dissolving 5 grams of the salt in 100 cubic centimeters of water. It may also mean a solution made by dissolving 5 grams of the salt in enough water to make 100 cc. In the strict sense, a 5 per cent solution is one of such strength that 100 parts by weight contain 5 parts by weight of the salt.

Q. How did "Jesus Lover of My Soul" happen to be written? T. O.

A. Wesley was one day standing at a window where a hawk began to chase a small bird. Suddenly the bird saw the figure at the window, flew in, and nestled in Wesley's coat. This experience gave him the inspiration for the hymn.

She was only a plumber's daughter, but, oh, boy, those fixtures!—Fostoria Times.

Stomach Bloated With Gas Was His Worry

Mr. D. Zelinka, of New York, N. Y., writes: "I want you to know that no day passed for months and months that did not find my stomach bloated with gas and shooting pains darting through my stomach. I felt hungry at times, but as soon as I started eating, food nauseated me and I became bilious. My tongue was coated, had bad taste and breath was offensive. I never thought this could all be from my liver, but my liver it must have been, for the very first day after taking your wonderful Carter's Little Liver Pills I felt like a new person. The small dose makes them easy to take too." For sale at all druggists.

AWARD VANPORT CROSSING JOB

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has awarded the contract for the elimination of the Vanport grade crossing, one of the two remaining crossings on the route between this city and Beaver, to the Milliron company of DuBois, Pa.

Representatives of the concern are on the ground, making ready to begin active work for the over-grade crossing, which, by order of the public service commission, should be completed by December 31.

The estimated cost of the improvement is $156,122.79, of which Beaver county is to pay $26,000; the Pennsylvania Railroad company $70,000; the State Highway Department $50,000 and the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company $1,000. In addition to its share of $26,000 the county is to pay for property damages incurred by the construction but which are expected to be small since only the Sebring property is affected.

The overgrade crossing is to be located several hundred feet east of the present grade crossing and on the other side of the Vanport station. A road will be made south of the railroad tracks from the present end of the concrete to the over-grade bridge and thence, northwest over the Sebring property to join the Borough township pavement. It was not announced whether a footpath which has been sought by the residents of Borough township will be included in the work.

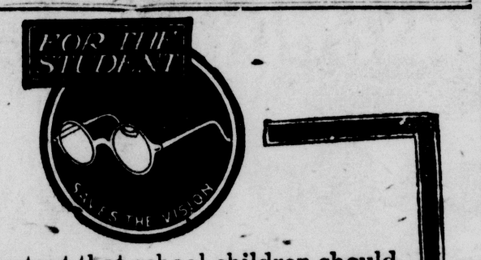
STUBBORN SORES and inflammations quickly yield to the healing power of Resinol



It is important that school children should have their eyes examined regularly.

Children's eyes are a special study with us. We fully realize the great care necessary in their cases.

Possibly the children are backward in their studies. Perhaps the dullness is not due to the child, but to eye strain.

Did you ever think of that? Why not be sure?

We are specialists in children's eyes and will tell you if glasses are neded.

A strong team of all star performers is being organized for the occasion.

The Newell and Chester league clubs, now in the throes of a pennant series, will also play a benefit for Morgan at the close of the flag battles.

ANNONCE PLAN FOR NEW HOTEL

Start Work in Two Weeks on $90,000 Structure.

Plans for the reconstruction of the Riverview hotel, which was totally destroyed a little more than a month ago in one of the most disastrous blazes in the city's history, were announced today by Fred Wilke, the owner.

Wilke expects to let the contract for a new three-story brick building, to cost $90,000, within the next few days and, if plans proceed according to schedule, to have workmen on the site within two weeks. He expects to have the building completed and ready for occupancy within four months.

The building, according to specifications, will have 50 rooms, all to be known as outside rooms, and each with a shower or tub. Each room will be moderately furnished.

On the first floor, in addition to the customary layout, will be a modern dining room.

The greater part of the basement will be turned into a public garage, in which cars driven by hotel guests, can be stored.

Through the recent purchase of the adjoining property, formerly owned by George Petrakes, who operated a candy manufacturing establishment before the fire, Wilke will be able to completely isolate the hotel structure through the construction of an alley or passage way off Main street.

Workmen are now engaged in clearing off the bricks and debris remaining from the fire ruins.

Haines, Perry and Martin, together with Claire Hoffman, of the Northside, East Liverpool, and Robert Bloor of East Liverpool, were occpants of an automobile, which police say was owned by Perry's father and driven by young Perry, which got beyond control of the youth Friday night at the top of the Lisbon road out of Wellsville and was ditched.

HOOVER CALLED UPON TO FIGHT DAMAGE CASE

City Will Ask Court to Set Aside $650 Verdict.

HAMILTON CASE

Council Transfers Fund of $10,515 to Pay Salaries.

Expressing the opinion that the liability is one which rests with the street car company and not with the municipality, members of council, at a special meeting Saturday night, instructed Solicitor Frank Hoover to file a petition in common pleas court asking that the verdict of $650 against the city in the damage case fo Mrs. Jennie Hamilton, College street, be set aside.

Solons Hughes, Poole, Goodballet and Farrall voted affirmatively, while Councilmen Hayes and Heddleston, urging a conference with the traction company to discuss the claim, cast their votes against the motion.

Attorney Ben L. Bennett, counsel for Mrs. Hamilton, appeared before the solons to explain the accident in which two suits, for $10,000 each, had been filed against The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company and the city. Mrs. Hamilton, he claimed, had received permanent injuries when she stepped into a hole in the street paving while crossing Broadway in front of the waiting room.

The street car company, Bennett said, had settled their suit by the payment of $650 and the same offer had been made to drop the proceedings against the city. Council about a month ago enacted legislation instructing the solicitor to settle the claim for this figure but the ordinance was vetoed by Mayor Benedum. Despite the veto, the solicitor is said to have gone into court with attorneys for the plaintiff and agreed to a $650 judgment against the city.

Attorney Bennett said that the primary liability of the accident rested with the street car company inasmuch as the hole in the street into which Mrs. Hamilton had stepped was alongside the street car tracks. He said that the city could recover from the traction company any judgment which might be returned against the municipality in the damage suit. The attorney expressed the belief that a judgment of $2,000 to $3,000 against the city would be returned if the case were carried into court. Mrs. Hamilton, he declared, had already spent several hundred dollars in physicians' bills and was arranging for another operation upon her knee.

Councilman Farrall said that the city should not be held liable for one cent of damage and offered a motion that the solicitor be instructed to petition the court to set aside the verdict. Hughes seconded the motion.

Solon Hayes declared that council should meet representatives of the street car company in an effort to have the company assume the damage claim. Councilman Heddleston expressed the same opinion.

Motion to set aside the verdict must be filed before court adjourns next Friday.

The legislators also approved an ordinance transferring $10,515 to the safety department to pay the salaries of members of the police and fire departments. This ordinance was approved by unanimous vote.

"Flapper" Type Doomed by Victory of "Miss Tulsa" in Beauty Contest

The decline of the Flapper is heralded in the victory of a quiet, unbobbed girl as America's new Queen of Beauty. She is Miss Norma Smallwood, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, whose winsome loveliness gained the Atlantic City pageant decision for her over "Miss Washington" and "Miss New York," who took second and third place respectively. Her hair is unbobbed, her hair is dark, her eyes are blue and her complexion fair. She is far from the "flapper" style.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—With few exceptions industrial stocks continued their decline to slightly lower price levels in the early trading today. Professional traders flooded the market with selling orders in the industrial leaders in the motor, steel accessory and oil lists, and against these offerings no progress in the upward movement of prices could be made.

There were no signs of an easing up in the call money market, where renewal rates were again posted at 5 per cent, but funds were in good supply, and bankers looked for an improvement after the quarterly income tax day on Wednesday. Industrial and business reports were generally favorable, and a decrease in brokers' loans was looked for in the weekly statement by the Reserve bank.

On its new basis, General Motors opened at 142¼, which compares with a final price of 143⅜ for the stock on the curb on Saturday. The stock made some progress to above 143, but promptly retreated to around 140½, where a good volume of stock was sold.

Studebaker was the strong spot of the Independent Motors and sold at the year's high price 61¼. The accessory stocks, as well as the rubber and tire stocks, moved downward, in well directed selling. Pullman led a moderate rally in the equipments, in which Baldwin and Lima participated. Oil and copper stocks, sugar tobaccos and specialties were inactive rather than weak, but price trends were mostly downward.

Commodity markets were steady, with grain and cotton inactive and featureless.

22 Words, Badly Misspelled, May Save Condemned Men

DEADHAM, Mass, Sept. 13.—Twenty-two words, badly misspelled and scrawled over a ragged sheet of cheap paper, may save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vansetti, Italian communists, from the electric chair.

The words, written by Celestino Madeiros of New Bedford, convicted Portuguese murderer of a Wrentham bank cashier, are:

"I hearby confess to being in the South Braintree Shoe Company crime and Sacco and Vanzetti was not in said crime." Celestino Medeiros.

The brief note was written by Madeiros in the Deadham jail in a last-minute effort to save Sacco and Vanzetti from the chair for slaying a shoe company payroll messenger and his guard six years ago. As a result of the note Governor Fuller has extended the date of Madeiros' execution pending the outcome of the plea before Judge Webster Thayer today for a new trial for the two Italians.

KLANSMEN POUR INTO CAPITAL FOR CONCLAVE

Claim 25,000 Robed Figures Will March in Parade.

SPECIAL TRAINS

Police Take Precautions Against Possible Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.— They spelled the national capital with a capital "K" today.

In travel-stained automobiles and by special train, some thousands of Ku Klux Klansmen and their women folk poured into the city from a half a dozen nearby states for the demonstration the hooded order is to stage between the capitol dome and the White House.

The big event is the parade, scheduled for 3 o'clock this afternoon, down historic Pennsylvania avenue from the capital to the executive mansion. Klan officials have claimed that 25,000 robed figures will be in line, but police and other estimates do not run half as high. Last year's parade had about 30,000.

A number of special trains ran into Union station during the night and discharged hundreds of white-robed passengers. Some came from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and there was one of 14 cars from Florida. Nearby Maryland and Virginia furnished a few trainloads and innumerable dusty automobile caravans.

After today's parade there will be a business session of the national leaders, the exact nature of which they refuse to reveal.

Police are taking precautions against any possible trouble. Pennsylvania avenue will be closed to traffic from 2 p. m. until the conclusion of the parade, with policemen in every block, and lines of fire hose laid for possible emergencies. The police, however, as last year, when the visitors ever, were not so concerned over the number twice as many, and everything went off as peacefully as a Boy Scouts' parade.

Vestryman is Ready To Tell Everything In Hall-Mills Case

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 13.—Ralph Gorsline, declaring he had been made a scapegoat in the Hall-Mills murder case announced today to Prosecutor John J. Underwood, that he was ready to do everything in his power to help solve the mystery of the killings.

Gorsline, who was a vestryman in the church of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and sang in the choir with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, the woman slain with the minister, has admitted that he was near the scene of the crime, and heard shots and screams.

He was accompanied on the fatal night by Miss Catherine Rastall, who has corroborated his story of the tragedy. Gorsline stated that his home had been broken up, and his daughter's life at school made unbearable by insinuations against him.

France Delivers Protest.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—France has already delivered a mild protest to Premier Mussolini against Italian attacks upon France in connection with the attempt to assassinate Mussolini last Saturday.

The French charge at Rome, after conveying the congratulations of the French government upon the escape of Mussolini, registered a protest against an article in the Giornale D' Italia, which attacked France in connection with the outrage. The French charge expressed to Premier Mussolini the hopes of his government that the Italian government would take steps to prevent opinion being led astray.

This protest, it is understood, was delicately phrased but was intended as an indication of the French government's displeasure with the statements made by Premier Mussolini himself with regard to the French tolerance of anti-Facist activities.

Press Under Restraint.

While the public in France is aroused over Premier Mussolini's speech, the press is under restrain as it has been requested by government spokesmen to realize that Mussolini's speech was delivered in the heat of the moment for home consumption.

Le Temps, which is regarded as speaking for the government, says: "Just as France will not tolerate any abuse of its hospitality, neither will she admit that any action can be taken against foreigners who are under her protection and whose only crime is that they are not in agreement wit the government of their own country.

The newspapers point out that an Italian assassinated the former President Carnot of France, at Lyons, but that there was no outcry for holding the Italian nation responsible.

Attempt to Smuggle 200 Italians Into Canada is Balked

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 13.—Canadian authorities have balked an attempt to smuggle about 200 Italians into Canada it became known today with the arrival of the Italian steamer Dori.

Immigration officials co-operating with the royal mounted police took the Italian immigrants into custody and seized the ship's papers.

The immigrants, all of whom had paid heavily to be smuggled into Canada, had all been landed at Mill Cove, on St. Margaret's bay, Nova Scotia, when word reached the authorities. Quick action resulted in a complete round-up of all concerned.

Ex-senator Burke Will Protest Vote On Primary Change

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—Alleging fraud of various kinds, a protest, asking that the proposed Ohio constitutional amendment, abolishing the nomination of political candidates by direct primary vote be kept off the November ballot, will be filed today with Secretary of State Thad Brown. This announcement was made here at noon by former State Senator John F. Burke, Elyria.

The protest, Burke said, will be submitted by the Primary Defense league, a state-wide organization former recently to oppose the proposed amendment. Burke is temporary chairman of the league.

Jesse Guilford And Mackenzie Off In Golf Tourney

BALTUSROL COUNTRY CLUB, SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 13.—Jesse Guilford ex-champion, and Roland Mackenzie, the 1925 medalist, began the qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship this morning with varying success, Guilford going to the fifth hole with even 4's while the young Washingtonian was four strokes over that magic figure. Mackenzie needed all of five strokes on each of the first three holes and, after getting a par 3 on the water hole at the fourth he took a terrible six on the fifth.

This pair were the only big timers to get away with the early starters.

JOCKEY DIES AS RESULT OF FALL

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—Frank Batiste, 33, New Orleans jockey, is dead here today as the result of injuries caused by a spill at the Brooklyn track last week.

Joseph Smith, New Orleans, another rider injured at the same track, is expected to recover from injuries received when he fell recently during a race.

THREE FACE DRY LAW COUNT

One Man Pays $100; Another's Fines are Suspended.

Three alleged liquor law violators were nabbed by police during the week-end.

Philip Wingrove was arrested at his home in Rural lane, charged with the home in Rural lane, charged with illegal possession after Chief of Police McDermott and Captain Conley located a gallon of moonshipe whiskey. He paid a fine of $100 and costs after arraignment before Municipal Judge Hanley today.

Police found five half pint bottles of liquor on which were tied strings hanging over the side of the boat. Bailey was fined $100 and costs upon a charge of the illegal possession and $50 and costs for being drunk.

Both fines were suspended upon condition that Bailey with his family of seven children leave the houseboat.

John Croxall was arrested in Rural lane Saturday night, charged with selling liquor. He will be arraigned this afternoon.

Defense Inning In Charges Against Daugherty, Miller

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The defense began building its case around "a scrap of paper" today at the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, charged with conspiracy in connection with the return of seized German wartime property.

The claim papers to $7,000,000 in property of the American Metl company as filed by the Society Suisse through Richard Merton, German financier, on July 6, 1921, were read to the jury this morning.

Republicans of New Hampshire True to Tradition

When Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire failed to win renomination in the recent gubernatorial primaries in that state the Republicans were merely holding to a tradition. Not since 1878, when the two-year term for governor was adopted, has the state sent a governor back for the second term. Huntley N. Spaulding above, was the G. O. P. choice in the recent primaries.

ANNE NICHOLS' HIT IS COMING

"Abie's Irish Rose" at Ceramic for Two Days.

A signal event in local stage history will be the engagement here at the Ceramic theatre for two days, Thursday and Friday, of Anne Nichols record-breaking comedy success, 'Abie's Irish Rose."

This wonder play is now in its fifth year at the Republic theatre, New York, and ran over a year at the Studebaker theatre, Chicago.

Loses Auto and Disposition.

MARION, O.—Earl Miller, Marion, had a perfectly good borrowed automobile and a friendly disposition toward hikers before he started on a trip to Galion.

Before he reached his destination he was minus both. The machine was stolen by two youths he gave a lift and he subsequently lost his disposition. The car has not been found.

STAGE ADVICE BY MAE MACK

"No Small Bottles, No Flirtations," She Warns.

"No small bottles, no flirtations." Let the girl who wants to go on the stage and be a successful star remember this," is one of the many emphatic admonitions given by charming Mae Mack of the Red Mack Players, the big musical comedy company now playing at the Strand theatre.

Miss Mack says: "It's a hard, hard row to hoe even for a girl who has health, beauty and influential friends to help her make a start. Girls are attracted by the glamor and the lights and seldom look deeper into the gaudy tinsel trimmings. If any of them had the slightest idea of the endless amount of work in the production of —say, one song, she would have her artistic ambitions curtailed at the very start.

"The first thing to do is to get a playright who understands you and your individual style. Then you think and study and plan to elaborate some idea until both your heads are in a state of unparalleled giddiness. At last the lyrics are in order and the work commences in earnest. Every line, every word, every phrase has to be analyzed.

"Then comes the costumer. The gown must fit the song; it must fit the wearer and it must harmonize with the general color scheme of the act. Nothing is left to chance, every thing is eliminated that could, by any means, mar the effect.

"After all things are completed, every detail perfect, you set a date to try out your new masterpiece—the song that is to create a furor—to make you famous, as it were. Your mother goes out in front to encourage you, the manager stands, all attention, in the rear, the orchestra is perceptibly nervous (for orchestras hate new songs) and the whole atmosphere seems surcharged with expectancy.

"Your introduction is played and the song is launched. You sing with all the fervor you can command, you dance with all the skill you possess, you act (as you think) with becoming warmth; then you await for the approval of your supreme critic—"the audience"—and in the awful silence that follows you know that the song is doomed.

"Then comes the reaction, storming at the audience, wild raving at the song, abuse of yourself for your rendition of it and a hurry call for the playright, with some brand new ideas for another lyric. Perhaps this process is repeated a dozen times or more with varying results, till you finally get a song that thoroughly pleases. And this is but one of the trials of the stage.

"Now do you see the point of the bottle and flirtation story? All your time must be free to apply to your art. I might add, small flirtations are distracting; and men are demoralizing. Think it over well, girls, and then—marry some nice boy and be happy."

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

M. K. Zimerman, West Park Ave. Phone 319-R. Lisbon, O.

HOFFEE HELD ON RUM CHARGE

Man Wanted Since July 30 Captured at Point of Gun.

George Hoffee, formerly of Lisbon, against whom an affidavit was filed in the court of Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon, July 30, charging him with possessing implements for the manufacturing of liquor, was arrested in Hanover township Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and Constable Clarence Wetzel of Center township.

When officers went to the home of a relative of Hoffee, the suspect jumped out of a parlor window and ran to the woods in an effort to escape. He hid himself in a thicket, and when the officers threatened to shoot, Hoffee raised his head and looked into a gun held by Constable Wetzel. He was then placed under arrest and later held under $2,000 bail for the grand jury.

Hoffee left the county last July after Albert Shasteen, a tenant in the Hoffee property in Hanover township, had been arrested on a similar charge. In the raid, police found a still at work in the basement of the house ae well as sugar, mash and corn liquor.

After Shasteen had been placed in jail, the raiders made another trip to the house and confiscated the contrabrand.

Shasteen entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned, and was bound over to the grand jury. He declared the still was in the house when he rented it from Hoffee, and when Hoffee was arraigned Saturday afternoon he admitted trucking mash and sugar to the house.

DIVORCE ACTION ANSWER FILED

In the divorce action filed in common pleas court July 12 by George B. Wolfgang against his wife, Ella Jane Wolfgang, Judge W. H. Spence has granted the defendant leave to file an answer and cross petition.

The defendant, who is represented by Attorney W. E. Warren, of Leetonia, in her answer declares that Wolfgang has been guilty of extreme cruelty, and that on April 2 he struck her in the face and told her he no longer wanted to live with her.

The charge of gross neglect of duty is also made by the defendant, and she asks for a decree, alimony and the custody of a child.

MacGill of Columbiana for $4,000. Preferred stockholders will receive from 10 to 15 percent on the dollar as a result of this action. The Acme company failed to raise additional working capital, and as a result the proposition to sell the business was acted upon.

MAN IS JAILED FOR ROBBERY

Admits He Made Self "at Home" in Pondi House.

Jacob Orestean pleaded guilty in Mayor Clark's court Saturday night to entering the home of John Pondi, near the Beaver creek bridge on the East Liverpool-Lisbon road last Monday night, while the family was away. For four days, it is alleged, he "made himself at home," partaking of all the fruit and vegetables that had been "put up" by Mrs. Pondi for winter use, it is charged.

Pondi and his wife returned home, found what had happened and filed the charge.

Orestean was committed to the county jail in default of $1,000 bail, on a charge of breaking and entering, after being bound over to the grand jury.

STAGE ADVICE BY MAE MACK

"No Small Bottles, No Flirtations," She Warns.

"No small bottles, no flirtations." Let the girl who wants to go on the stage and be a successful star remember this," is one of the many emphatic admonitions given by charming Mae Mack of the Red Mack Players, the big musical comedy company now playing at the Strand theatre.

Miss Mack says: "It's a hard, hard row to hoe even for a girl who has health, beauty and influential friends to help her make a start. Girls are attracted by the glamor and the lights and seldom look deeper into the gaudy tinsel trimmings. If any of them had the slightest idea of the endless amount of work in the production of —say, one song, she would have her artistic ambitions curtailed at the very start.

"The first thing to do is to get a playright who understands you and your individual style. Then you think and study and plan to elaborate some idea until both your heads are in a state of unparalleled giddiness. At last the lyrics are in order and the work commences in earnest. Every line, every word, every phrase has to be analyzed.

"Then comes the costumer. The gown must fit the song; it must fit the wearer and it must harmonize with the general color scheme of the act. Nothing is left to chance, everything is eliminated that could, by any means, mar the effect.

"After all things are completed, every detail perfect, you set a date to try out your new masterpiece—the song that is to create a furor—to make you famous, as it were. Your mother goes out in front to encourage you, the manager stands, all attention, in the rear, the orchestra is perceptibly nervous (for orchestras hate new songs) and the whole atmosphere seems surcharged with expectancy.

"Your introduction is played and the song is launched. You sing with all the fervor you can command, you dance with all the skill you possess, you act (as you think) with becoming warmth; then you await for the approval of your supreme critic—"the audience"—and in the awful silence that follows you know that the song is doomed.

"Then comes the reaction, storming at the audience, wild raving at the song, abuse of yourself for your rendition of it and a hurry call for the playright, with some brand new ideas for another lyric. Perhaps this process is repeated a dozen times or more with varying results, till you finally get a song that thoroughly pleases. And this is but one of the trials of the stage.

"Now do you see the point of the bottle and flirtation story? All your time must be free to apply to your art. I might add, small flirtations are distracting; and men are demoralizing. Think it over well, girls, and then—marry some nice boy and be happy."

HOFFEE HELD ON RUM CHARGE

Man Wanted Since July 30 Captured at Point of Gun.

George Hoffee, formerly of Lisbon, against whom an affidavit was filed in the court of Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon, July 30, charging him with possessing implements for the manufacturing of liquor, was arrested in Hanover township Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and Constable Clarence Wetzel of Center township.

When officers went to the home of a relative of Hoffee, the suspect jumped out of a parlor window and ran to the woods in an effort to escape. He hid himself in a thicket, and when the officers threatened to shoot, Hoffee raised his head and looked into a gun held by Constable Wetzel. He was then placed under arrest and later held under $2,000 bail for the grand jury.

Hoffee left the county last July after Albert Shasteen, a tenant in the Hoffee property in Hanover township, had been arrested on a similar charge. In the raid, police found a still at work in the basement of the house ae well as sugar, mash and corn liquor.

After Shasteen had been placed in jail, the raiders made another trip to the house and confiscated the contrabrand.

Shasteen entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned, and was bound over to the grand jury. He declared the still was in the house when he rented it from Hoffee, and when Hoffee was arraigned Saturday afternoon he admitted trucking mash and sugar to the house.

Sol McCoy's Laughlins Draw First Blood In City Series

Put Up Great Battle and Win In Tenth As Foe's Defense Cracks

Two Hits, a Pass and McMath's Error Give Visitors Three Runs in Ninth and Ties Score, 4-4; Cebula's Miscue, Plus Two More Safe Drives in Final Inning, Clinches Game.

Calling upon every available resource, utilizing every strategic move and fighting until the last man was out, Laughlin and Chester, clashing Saturday at Smith field in the first game of the "baby world's series" for supremacy in the City Industrial league, battled for 10 innings before a capacity crowd before the Riley cohorts bent the knee in submission to a last inning rally by the Laughlinites that enabled McCoy and his crew to shove off with a 6 to 4 conquest.

Two hits, a pass and an error by Second Baseman McMath in the ninth, translated into three runs, brought Laughlin from behind to tie the score at 4 to 4. Then, in the tenth, a miscue by Pete Cebula plus two more safe drives gave the visitors two more runs and the game. Briggle, supplanting Ashe in the ninth and tenth, blanked Chester in both periods.

With "Mike" Cebula unable to work because of a sprained wrist sustained in a dash for second in last week's game with Turk-Nash, P. Bennett, schoolboy twirler, accepted the responsibility of the flinging role for Chester. And until the fateful errors of McMath and Cebula behind him in the ninth and tenth, he had "curve balled" Laughlin into what seemed certain defeat.

Pitches Great Game.

Until the ninth he had blanked Laughlin in all but two frames. One run was made off him in the seventh which, had L. McMath covered second, might have been prevented since a double play would possibly have been consummated. In that interim he had allowed but three hits, scattered, from Crawford, the first man facing him in the first, to Bubin, first man up in the fifth. He fanned 10, walked three and hit one. Once, in seven chances, he missed, on a running assist, touching the first bag, an almost excusable miscue in the rush to which he was put.

Opposing him was the elongated and speedy Ashe. He, too, was in rare form. He also, after a bad start, when two bunts got away from him and Herbert, following a single, augmented by his hitting of Wilde and forcing in the first run that paved the way for two more in that period and another in the second due to two blows, a steal and a passed ball, blanked Chester for six straight innjngs. Taken out for W. Watson, a pinch hitter in the crucial ninth, he was succeeded by Briggle, who in the best form he has shown this year, kept scoreless the batters facing him for the two final innings of play. Ashe struck out six, walked two and hit one.

Chester scored in the first two innings of play, three and one while Laughlin duplicated the feat in the final two periods of activity, three and two with another in the fifth.

McMath's Error Costly.

Chester was laeding 4 to 1, at the outset of the ninth. Parsons flew to L. McMath. Finley walked. Herbert singled to right. Then the managerial gray matter began to function on the Laughlin bench. Finley had reached third on the blow and Herbert scored on the throw to the hot corner. L. Digman, nemesis of Chester in the first half and recently back from a visit to the wilds of Idaho, was sent in to hit for Babb, who previously had not driven the ball out of the infield. Digman sent a liner to P. Cebula, who assisted to Heckathorne, retiring the western visitor but at the cost of a run for Parsons ambled across the plate and Herbert took third making the figures, 4 to 2. Then Bubin drove to L. McMath. Handled, the play would have made the third put out, but the second sacker juggled the ball and got it to first too late as Herbert scored. It was now a 4 to 3 situation, Aufterheide ran for Bubin. A passed put "Aufty" on second. Sayers singled to right, but Aufterheide seemingly was held from scoring and camped on third base.

Bedlam now broke loose among the Laughlin rooters. The youthful, but brilliant W. Watson was sent to bat for the veteran Ashe. As he batted a passed ball permitted Aufterheide to count and the score was evened, 4 to 4. Watson then walked.

Crawford, facing his old B. & W. associate had the chance to win the game then and there, but Bennett fanned him, the feat being the third consecutive time that the clever gardener, after singling the first time up, had swung and missed.

After Aufterheide, in right muffed P. Bennett't fly in Chester's half of the ninth, Briggle retired Evans, C. Marshall, swatting for Heckathorne and P. Cebula in a row.

Digman Hits Timely.

Digman, now playing first, after starting the serious batting rally of his team in the ninth by driving in the club's second run with a timely triple to deep right, scored two runs and won the contest for Laughlin in the tenth. Hunselman, up, fanned. Parsons drove to P. Cebula, who fumbled and the gardener was safe instead of registering the second put out. Finley flew to Evans, a play that should have retired the side barring the aforesaid miscue. Herbert singled to right, putting Parsons on third and himself on second on the throw-in. Then Digman did his stuff. It was a mighty swat, the ball going into the gully beyond C. Marshall in right as Parsons and Herbert scampered across the plate, making the count 6 to 4. Then Aufterheide fanned.

Chester still had a chance. Wilde, up, flew to Aufterheide. Steffel, batting for L. McMath, fanned. Potts revived hopes by singling to left, but F. Marshall, for the fifth consecutive time, failed to reach first base as the steady Sayers threw him out at first and the game was history.

Crawford, the brilliant Laughlin gardener thrilled the spectators with the most brilliant play of the game when, in the seventh, he ran back and sideways into middle-left and with his back to the crowd pulled down on a hard run Heckathorne's near home run. Then in turn he captured flies from P. Cebula and Wilde's bat, retiring the entire side himself. He was roundly cheered as he came to the bench, but refused to doff the now famous green cap he always affects.

Herbert's play back of third in knocking down Pott's hard drive and his resultant long assist to first in the fifth was another that stood out in the great contest.

Bubin captured three dangerous flies to right before, two of them stopping potential runs.

Evans, in grabbing Finley's fly in the tenth also made a fine play. P. Cebula missed one of eight chances.

Sayers was a veritable stone wall at second where he accepted five chances while hitting at a .500 clip for the day, a batting feat that Herbert duplicated.

Potts led both clubs in hitting with a double and two singles in five attempts, a .600 mark while P. Cebula followed with one blow less, making for a .400 average during the defeat for his team.

The Reds trounced Brooklyn twice, 5 to 0 and 4 to 3, and advanced to within one game of the Cardinals. Pete Donohue held the Dodgers to three hits in the opener and then saved the second game in the ninth when Luque faltered.

Pittsburgh jumped right back into the thick of the fighting by swamping the Giants twice, 5 to 1 and 7 to 1. Aldridge and Meadows pitched gilt-edged ball while Waner starred at bat with two homers, a triple, a double and a single.

Cleveland made it three straight from Washington, winning 14 to 4. Speaker and Burns had a perfect day at bat with four hits apiece, Burns getting his 62nd and 63rd doubles of the season.

BOBBY JONES SHOOTS FOR NEW GOLF MARK

GENE'S "RIGHT;" HE'S PEEVISH

Slams Partners Savagely in Four-round Workout.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Gene Tunney is on edge and therefore peevish and sullen, which is a sure sign of condition. The challenger for Jack Dempsey's title is reasonably close to physical perfection and he is, as a result, about the most irritable human being on the face of the earth. He is willing to quarrel with his closest friends with or without provocation. Moreover he does.

Tunney has worked hard, lost most of his excess weight and his nerves, as a result, have become a bit frazzled.

Tunney is not stale, nor dangerously near staleness. He is just "in shape" and therefore peevish.

Tunney boxed four rounds yesterday. Boxed without paying much attention to the feeling of his sparring partners. He crossed to the jaws of Billy Vidabeck and Harold Mays and belted them about the body viciously. A snarl transfixed his usually calm face most of the time as he ducked and dodged his sparring partners' punches and countered them.

Johnny Dundee, Harry Perrson and Jimmy DeForest watched his work and liked his form. Dundee, a former champion, said that Dempsey was in good shape but that Tunney was in even better condition. Dundee predicted that Gene will defeat the champion.

DeForest, too, liked Tunney's condition. The former trainer of Dempsey estimated that he was not overly enthusiastic about Dempsey's condition.

Tunney will box again today and rest on Tuesday.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The shot in golf that is easiest to make, the long drive, is the one the golfer works hardest to get. The shot that is hardest to make and which often serves the player best, the niblick shot from the trap, is the one he pays the least attention to. Most golfers, when they find their ball in a trap at the side of the green, are satisfied merely to clout at it, hoping for the best—the best in each case being the hope that the ball will stop somewhere on the green or not too far away from it, if it gets out of the trap at all. The niblick is a useful club and not by any means is its usefulness confined to lofting the ball from traps. Out of the rough the niblick should invariably be used, while for pitches to hard greens or to small greens it cannot be beaten. The class might well give this week to lessons with the niblick. We will begin tomorrow.

EVEN MONEY ON BANTAM FIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Bets at even money were being made today on the Charlie Rosenberg-Bud Taylor bantamweight title match scheduled for Cubs' park Thursday, Sept. 16. The trend of the sentiment indicates that Champion Rosenberg may enter the ring a 5 to 3 favorite.

TUNNEY'S NICE BOY SAYS JACK

Champ Sure of Winning, But How Soon—He Won't Say.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13.—Discovered in his cottage, in the act of trying to apply a combination headlock and half Nelson upon the frames of Mike Trant and Jerry the Greek, at once and the same time, Jack Dempsey was asked:

"How long do you think this Tunney fight will last?"

"Wait a minute—wait until I get these dudes pinned," replied Dempsey and with a final twist of Trant's arm and a final squeeze on Jerry's head, he flopped both men, sat on them. Demanded that they cry "uncle" and when they did, he climbed up and said:

"Well, of we were battling with books and Shakespeare and this fellow Shelley and this Keats and that I guess I'd lose in half minute. But this thing is with gloves, isn't it? And that makes a difference. How long will it last? Say I'm not a fortune teller—just a knuckle thrower—that's all. So I cannot do any answering. I'll do it in the ring."

"What do you think of Tunney?" pursued the interviewer.

"A nice boy, great scholar, too," answered the champion, and I hear he has a good sock in either hand and he's mighty clever on defense. We'll he'll need to be. I have my title at stake when I meet him and I sort of like this thing of being champion, even if it has added a lot of lawyers to my payroll. And I don't like to lose, at that."

"I sure think I'll win but I don't know when or how long," he said. And Dempsey's whole attitude reflects a calm, quiet confidence. The mere fact that he spends part of his time roughing it and frolicking around with his attaches demonstrates that his mental adjustment is perfect. He doesn't seem to have a real care in the world nor a worry. His appetite is splendid and when night comes and he hits the pillow he's off to sleep inside of five minutes.

Favorite To Capture National Amateur Go

Faces Prospect of Being First Man to Win Title Over Three Successive Campaigns, and Add to Laurels as Open Champion of America and Great Britain.

BALTUSROL COUNTRY CLUB, SHORT HILLS, N. J. Sept. —Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., and 151 ordinary mortals this morning will begin the week-long quest that leads to rainbow's end and the title of amateur champion of golfing America. No pot of gold awaits the ultimate survivor at the end of the multi-colored trail; no promise of mere wealth beyond the dreams of evarice.

Fortunate, indeed, is the man who loses all else save honor and there will be honor in plenty for the entry who wins the 1926 National Amateur golf championship. If that man should happen to be Bobby Jones, the honors that have been his in the past must be enhanced beyond all reason. If the winner comes from the ranks of the ordinary 151, his new-born greatness must be amplified by the fact that it came to him over the figurative dead body of such a man as Bobby Jones.

What price mere money in these circumstances? It is to laugh. There are millionaires in the field that will break from the barrier in the first half of the 36-hole qualifying round today and the writer could name a few who would gladly lose their wealth for the chance to call the championship cup their own.

Big Chance For Bobby.

To Jones, of course, it is the big moment of his career. Amateur champion in 1924 and 1925, he faces the alluring prospect of being the first man to win the title over three successive campaigns. pen champion of America and Great Britain. He can add this three-time trick to his reperatoire and go down into history as the man who ruled alone.

Can he achieve what many regard as the impossible? Jones can achieve anything. If he wins this title, with all the laws of "percentage" against him, it will cause no great surprise. If he loses, the element of surprise will be lacking again, for everyone knows that witchcraft died in the early days at Salem and that legerdemain cannot be turned off and on like a faucet.

In his salad days as a competitor, there was always some rival who stepped up with a display of unbeatable golf against Jones and national honors were denied him. Today, the positions are reversed. For three years, it was Jones who played unbeatable golf and it was the field that took the beating.

Therefore, when the fact is mentioned that Francis Ouimet, Chick Evans, Max Marston, Jesse Guilford, George Von Elm, Bob Gardner, Roland Mackenzie, Watts Gunn and other big timers will be arrayed against the Atlantic wizard, it is merely to state that the line of Jones' victims is forming on the left.

Play Under Way Today.

However, miracles will happen; so will mistakes. In the last British amateur championship, the only major title yet to elude our hero, he was eliminated before the final round by one Jamieson, who is neither a champ nor chump. Such a form-handspring can happen in this tournament.

MAY USE MIKE IN THIRD TILT

Chester Pilot Not Downcast; McCoy Tossers Optimistic.

DESPITE the fact that his club lost the first game of the "baby world's series" and despite the added facts that "Mike" Cebula will not be available for pitching duty before Wednesday, if then, and that Les McMath, second baseman, will be absent from the club for the remainder of the series, Frank Riley, Chester pilot, refuses to be downcast over his prospects.

"Mike" is suffering from the effects of a sprained wrist, received in a game last week. The swelling has almost disappeared and Manager Riley today declared he hoped to use Cebula against Laughlin Wednesday night. Wilde probably will be his selection tonight.

McMath has left on a vacation. He will be away the remainder of this week and all of next.

It is likely that Evans will be brought in from the outgarden and placed at second, with the two Marshalls and probably Cebula in the field.

The second series battle this evening will be played at Newell field, beginning at 5 o'clock, and will go seven innings. Fleming and Andrew, Midland arbiters, will handle the contest.

Manager McCoy, of Newell, asserts the series is going along as he predicted. He expects a sweeping victory for Laughlin.

CARDS' LEAD IS THREATENED

Pace Setters Now in Front of Reds by Only One Game.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—As a result of double victories by Pittsburgh and Cincinnati yesterday, the Cardinals lead on first place in the National league race is seriously threatened this morning. St. Louis now leads the Reds by only one game, while the Pirates trail Cincinnati by only one and one-half games.

The Cleveland Indians, fighting tooth and nail to get within striking distance of the Yankees, beat Washington again and cut New York's lead to seven games.

Tobin's homer with the bases loaded featured Boston's 11 to 3 victory over the Browns, but the Red Sox tagged Gaston for only two hits in the nightcap and were whitewashed, 1 to 0.

American League Team Gets First Clash of Season

1926 World's Championship Contests Open Oct. 2.

The 1926 world series will open Oct. 2 in the city winning the American league pennant, it has been decided by officials of the two leagues.

The second game will be played in the same city.

The third, fourth and fifth games will be played in the National league city winning the pennant.

Should a sixth game or seventh game be necessary to decide the issue, they will be played in the American league city.

Games are to begin at 1:30 p. m. Standard time.

If the contest is between an eastern and western team there will be a laps of one day between the second and third games and the fifth and sixth contests in order to rest after traveling.

TILDEN DEFENDS NATIONAL TITLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The national men's tennis championship gets under way at the West Side Tennis club, at Forest Hills this afternoon, with William T. Tilden defending the title which he won for six straight years. Tilden is presented with the opportunity of equalling a record that has stood since 1887, for not since then, when Richard S. Sears won his seventh straight tennis championship, has any man been able to win the United States singles title for seven years in succession.

Opening of a new broadcasting station at Zagreb, Yugoslavia, has quickened the interest in radio there.

proverbial that a strike is always for more pay and shorter hours, but the English miners in the present instance are striking against longer hours and less pay. They have been making a desperate stand against relinquishing any part of the economic advantage they and their forebears have gained through long years of struggle.

For many years they waged a fruitless fight to better their conditions, but by 1908 their organization had grown sufficiently strong to enable them to persuade Parliament to enact a law which gave them an 8-hour day. It is true that there was a last-moment amendment to the act which provided that the day should be reckoned from the first cage down to the last cage up in the mines, which meant really an 8½-hour day, but it was a great victory for the miners.

And having gained that much they went after more, with the result that presently there was a strike and a committee was named to consider the problem. This committee, of which Sir Arthur Balfour was chairman, recommended a seven-hour day, and even said that it might well be six. Whereupon, in 1919, the seven hour day law was enacted, but with the one-winding-time proviso which made it in effect a 7½-hour day.

Post-war conditions speedily brought about a crisis in the coal industry. It appeared that it was in very much the same condition as the coal industry in the United States—over-manned, not always efficiently managed, and with low-cost mines rapidly putting out of business the mines of high operating costs. The operators declared they could not go on unless the miners would agree to a return to the so-called 8-hour day and to a slight reduction in wages. The miners declared they could not live on less wages, and that they would not go backward in the matter of the hours of labor.

That was the deadlock last year when Parliament met the threat of a strike on August 1 by passing the act subsidizing the mines for a period of nine months. At the same time a royal commission was created to make a study of the industry and report in May of this year.

The subsidy, it is charged by the miners, was not as efective as it should have been because it was paid in part to mines that were not entitled to it, and the royal commission failed to come through with an acceptable adjustment proposal. Then came the general strike.

Critics of the productiveness of the average American worker under present day conditions may be interested in knowing that the average annual output of the British miner prior to the strike was 217 tons, whereas in this country the miner produces on an average 655 tons.

3 DEAD IN KANSAS FLOODS

Today

Why the Unless?

Two Mysterious Ones.

A Hole In Your Stomach?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

IT IS SAID for President Coolidge "Unless there is an armament limitation agreement the United States will go ahead with a development of naval aviation that would make America lead the world in the air."

Why any "unless?" The president is elected to look after THIS country and its defenses, not to tell other nations what they should do. His business is in the United States, and as head of the army and navy his most important business is to see to the defense of the United States.

WHY not go ahead and build the greatest air fleet instead of talking about it? With that fleet in working order, and run by flying men, not swivel-chair men, this country wouldn't need to worry about other nations.

IT IS ALSO said, "President Coolidge is very optimistic and believes the world court will admit this country in spite of the United States reservations."

The president may well be optimistic, if admission to the World Court is what he wants.

The world court would admit us, if we came with all our relations, nine elephants and a dozen baboons. Anything to get old Uncle Sam into the court. The next step will be to push us from the court in the league of nations.

DR. ALBERT LOWENSTEIN, a Belgian, is Europe's latest "mysterious millionaire." He has a place in England with a string of horsepower, five villas at Biarritz, one of two of them for aviators that run his flock of flying machines.

The flying machines bring millionaires from other countries to talk with him. He has forty secretaries, and a fleet of automobiles. His airplanes, including those rented from the Imperial Airways company, of London, cost $100,000 a week.

So goes the story, worthy of Jules Verne, apparently.

That is the too busy, too much cluttered-up type of millionaire. There is something wrong with a mind that needs so many secretaries, automobiles and flying machines.

WALL STREET has a young mysterious millionaire also, named Clarence Dillon. He took away the Dodge car financing from highly indignant, slow-moving Wall Street dinosaurs, then "grabbed" the National Cash Register, and lately has been financing bigger enterprises in Europe.

His ways annoy old-fashioned Wall Street finance exceedingly. Wall Street reporters say he has no papers, no pen and ink, only one or two sharp pencils and a paper pad on his smooth, glass-topped desk, near a comfortable arm-chair beside an open fire-place.

That's the way to be an efficient mysterious millionaire. Get rid of detail.

A WELL-KNOWN young man who died recently was temperate, hard-

A Baking Booklet

Some kind of bread is served on the average American table three times a day. The quality of that bread is an important matter. The food value depends on the materials which go into it, whether it is made at home or in the bakery. The baking booklet has been planned primarily as a guide in home baking, but through its discussion of materials it offers help also in the choice of commercial baked products.

This invaluable offering is a government publication, and our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy for any reader who fills out and mails the coupon below, enclosing four cents in stamps for return postage and handling. Write your name and address clearly.

The convicts sawed through bars on windows of the penitentiary, escaping toward the swamps along the Cumberland river. All available prison guards and city and county officers are searching for them.

Another prisoner, John Okey, serving time for burglary, gave up his freedom to stay by the side of J. L. Proffett, a forger, who was seized with a coughing fit. Guards came upon Okey and Proffett, the latter coughing hysterically with his head on Okey's lap.

ROME POLICE DIRECTOR AND CHIEF "FIRED" BY MUSSOLINI

Premier Acts as Result of Attempt to Kill Him.

LAXITY CHARGED

Bomb Thrower Says Act Was That of Individual.

ROME, Sept. 13.—Premier Mussolini's first move as the result of the bomb attack against him on Saturday has been within his own household.

The government today announced that General Police Director Crispon-ancada and Signor Pirilli, chief of police of Rome, have been dismissed. It is understood that the government holds that these two officials were lax in their duty in permitting the attempted assassination and in failing to uncover the alleged plot which fostered the attack.

Signor Bocchini has been named general police director and Signor Angelucci has been named chief of police of Rome.

Denies Widespread Plot.

Gino Lucetti, the would-be assassin who first gave his name as Ermete Giovannini, has been further grilled and now confesses that he arrived in Rome on September 2 and spent more than a week studying the daily routine movements of Premier Mussolini, the police state.

Lucetti, despite arrests which have been made and the police charge of a widespread plot, still persists that his act was that of an individual. He declares that several times during the past week he has stood before the Chigi palace prepared to bomb Mussolini, but each time something prevented him from acting. He states that when he emigrated to France in 1920 he hid the bombs in Rome which he used in the attack on Saturday.

The police state that Lucetti has tattooed upon his breast the words, "Vive la mort."

Members of Lucetti's family have been placed under arrest at Avezza.

ANOTHER GRAND JURY INQUIRY WILL FOLLOW LENGEL CASE VERDICT

Cincinnati Detective, Who Opened Initial Investigation, is Recalled to Canton by Prosecutor McClintock as Result of Developments in Hearing Before Civil Service Commission.

EVIDENCE BROUGHT OUT IN RECENT POLICE CHIEF FIGHT TO BE CHECKED

Ousted Department Head, Target for Many of Slain Newspaperman's Editorials, Awaits Decision on His Appeal for Reinstatement—Carl Studer, Facing Two Charges, Still in Jail.

By PAUL E. BROKAW

CANTON, O., Sept. 13.—A renewed investigation into the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton newspaperman, was expected to get under way today with the return of Ora Slater, private detective who originally opened the inquiry.

Slater was recalled by County Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

He is expected to make an investigation into the contributing causes of the murder with a view to presenting whatever evidence he gathers to a Stark county grand jury scheduled to convene here September 20. That is to be the same grand jury that recently indicted Louis Mazer, Ben Rudner and Patrick McDermott for murder in connection with the Mellett assassination.

The Canton civil service commission today will announce its decision on the hearing for the reinstatement of former Police Chief S. A. Lengel, who was the target for many of Mellett's editorial shots, which were directly aimed at the police department.

Expect Return of Mazer.

The investigation to be started by Slater today has been claimed to have been opened by evidence brought out at Lengel's hearing.

Carl Studer, arrested last week on charges of perjury and keeping a disorderly house, was still being held in the municipal jail here in default of $5,000 bond.

Studer will have a hearing Tuesday on the disorderly house charge and Wednesday on the perjury count.

Return of Louis Mazer, one of the two indicted for first degree murder to Canton for arraignment, was expected tomorrow or Wednesday. Mazer is now held in Cleveland by federal authorities who have preferred accusations of liquor conspiracy against him.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY'S THREE-DAY FAIR WILL OPEN TUESDAY WITH RECORD NUMBER OF EXHIBITS

The 77th annual county fair, under auspices of the Columbiana County Agricultural society, will open at Lisbon tomorrow morning and close Thursday evening. Wednesday is expected to be the "big day," although large crowds, no doubt, will pass through the gates Thursday.

Practically every inch of exhibition space has been sold.

Secretary H. E. Marsden has assigned many concessions along the Midway, with attractions for the amusement of the children. Marsden and Speed Secretary Frank Dickey have been visiting many county fairs in the eastern Ohio territory, receiving the entries of horses in races over the half-mile track. The largest entry list in county fair history has resulted. Many horses arrived at the track Sunday.

Today the new dance pavilion was placed in readiness for the mercantile exhibits. Carpenters and laborers were engaged in erecting booths in the new exhibition hall and also in old Floral hall. In the latter will be found exhibits of domestic science and farm produce.

The first cattle shipment arrived at the fair grounds today. During the forenoon swine and sheep were trucked to Lisbon.

Many automobiles, farm machinery, home furnishings, etc., will be among the exhibits.

The Boys' and Girls' Calf clubs, under the direction of County Agent Floyd Lower, and also the Boys' and Girls' Poultry clubs have already taken their entries to the grounds. Rural school teachers and County Superintendent H. C. Leonard today arranged the educational exhibit.

Mayor Robert B. Clark of Lisbon, announced that 12 extra police would be on duty day and night during the fair, while the fair board will have a score or more of special patrolmen within the grounds.

Mayor Clark suggested that motorists, as a safety measure, observe the slow and stop signs within the public square and also the stop sign at the intersection of East Lincoln way and the East Liverpool-Lisbon road.

Within the oval at the fair grounds, 3,500 automobiles can be parked.

RENEE ADOREE IN "TIN GODS"

"Big Parade" Star With Meighan at Ceramic.

Renee Adoree, whose portrayal in "The Big Parade," has been acclaimed one of the outstanding performances of the year, began her screen career, oddly enough, as an Irish girl. Tom Moore's sister in one of his pictures, the little French mademoisele successfully interpreted a daughter of Erin and thus embarked on a film career that has given her a wide range of parts.

Miss Adoree has a preference for roles in which she can give full rein to a vivid personality. Unlike other players, she doesn't read or joke between scenes.

While appearing opposite Thomas Meighan in Paramount's "Tin Gods," which comes to the Ceramic today for a three day run and again on Saturday, Miss Adoree would retire to her portable dressing room. There she concentrated on the character she portrayed—a Latin-American singer in a border cafe. Or else, she talked to Meighan, Director Allan Dwan, Aileen Pringle and William Powell about the scenes that followed.

To the role of "Carita" in "Tin Gods," Miss Adoree brings all the charm and warmth of a volatile personality. Her part in the screen version of William Anthony McGuire's stage play is that the untutored girl who by her love and tender care regenerates Thomas Meighan, whom his ambitious, indifferent wife, Aileen Pringle, had debauched and nearly succeeded in destroying.

Miss Adoree professes no preferences as to roles she is called to portray, stipulating only that they be colorful and life-like.

FAMOUS "SLIM" IN RUDY FILM

Valentino's "Son of Sheik" Opens at American.

Karl Dane, giant character actor,—the famous "Slim" of "The Big Parade,"—plays an important role in Rudolph Valentino's last starring vehicle, "The Son of the Sheik," which opened a three-day run today at the American theatre.

Dane has scored signal successes in character parts of the gum-chewing soldier and the concierge with the walrus moustache in another feature film. His role of Ramadan in "The Son of the Sheik" is reported to give him full opportunity for his talents, not the least interesting of which is his knack of bunching his lips to a moue and bringing a great finger up to them, silencing the lovely Vilma Banky.

In his support of Valentino, Dane is a giant follower, bent upon protecting his master, Ahmed, who is constantly battling with a robber band for possession of the dancing girl, Yasmin.

Valentino has a remarkable cast beside Karl Dane in support, for producer John W. Considine, Jr., signed Agnes Ayres, George Fawcett, Bull Montana, Montagu Love and William Donovan, too. Vilma Banky, exotic Hungarian beauty, is the leading lady.

Simple Remedy For Bad Stomach Gives Quick Relief

No Need of Strong Medicine or Diet—Famous but Simple Old English Recipe Keeps Stomach in Fine Condition, Banishes After-Eating Distress.

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this simple advice.

Don't take strong medicines, artificial digestants or pull down your system by following unnecessary starvation diets.

Never hurry your meal or overeat of anything, but within reason most folks may eat what they like—if they will keep their stomach sweet, clean and active and free from the souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion.

And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a small amount of pure Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless and inexpensive form of Magnesia that promptly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A week's trial of Bisurated Magnesia, which may be obtained from any druggist for only a few cents, will easily convince you of the great value of this old English recipe.

Be sure and get BISURATED Magnesia—not a laxative.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

John Emery's Sedan Plunges Over Embankment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Emery and daughter Maybelle, 11, of Bank street, East Liverpool, were injured when their sedan plunged over a steep embankment on the Chester-Pughtown road, about a mile southwest of Chester, Sunday morning.

Mrs. Emery, who reveived a dislocated righ ankle, and her daughter, who is suffering from nervous shock, bruises and possibly internal injuries, were removed to the East Liverpool hospital in the Arner ambulance and attended by Dr. C. R. Campbell. Emery, who suffered a sprained ankle, was also attended at the hospital by Dr. Campbell, but did not remain at the institution.

The family was enroute to Steubenville to visit Carl Emery, brother of the driver, who is in a hospital suffering from injuries received Wednesday evening in a street car collision near King's crossing, east of Steubenville.

About 300 yards beyond the forks in the road at the top of the Fairview hill leading out of Chester, Emery is said to have attempted to pass another car. Instead of pulling to the left of the car, he is said to have attempted to pass on the right side and approaching too close to the side of the road plunged over the embankment.

The sedan turned over three times and came to a stop at the bottom of the ravine. Mrs. Emery and her daughter were thrown out at the first turn of the car, but Emery was still in the machine when it came to a stop. Passing motorists went to the assistance of the three persons and called Dr. Campbell and an ambulance. The sedan, badly damaged, was taken to an East Liverpool garage by the McElravy wrecker.

A Paige touring car belonging to E. M. Halstead of near Chester was slightly damaged when it plunged over an embankment on the Hookstown road, near the Stewart farm, Saturday night. Halstead received minor injuries, while other persons in the car were unhurt.

Halstead was coming down the hill and after dimming his lights for another car, approaching from the opposite direction, pulled to the right side of the highway. A minute later, when he turned on his lights, his machine was at the edge of the road.

The car is said to have overturned five times.

Wrecking equipment from the Ward garage, Chester, pulled the car to the road and towed it to Halstead's garage, Sunday afternoon.

APPLY varnish stain to a metal panel. Allow the panel to dry. Bend or crease it over a straight edge. Then straighten it out and examine its surface.

An inefficient varnish stain will crack badly where it was creased, leaving a broken film that will chip off and expose the bare surface.

Devoe Mirrolac will retain an unbroken film thereby fully protecting the surface. This proves the elasticity and durability of the product.

Practical tests prove Devoe quality.

Why the Unless?

Two Mysterious Ones.

A Hole in Your Stomach?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

IT IS SAID for President Coolidge "Unless there is an armament limitation agreement the United States will go ahead with a development of naval aviation that would make America lead the world in the air."

Why any "unless?" The president is elected to look after THIS country and its defenses, not to tell other nations what they should do. His business is in the United States, and as head of the army and navy his most important business is to see to the defense of the United States.

WHY not go ahead and build the greatest air fleet instead of talking about it? With that fleet in working order, and run by flying men, not swivel-chair men, this country wouldn't need to worry about other nations.

IT IS ALSO said, "President Coolidge is very optimistic and believes the world court will admit this country in spite of the United States reservations."

The president may well be optimistic, if admission to the World Court is what he wants.

The world court would admit us, if we came with all our relations, nine elephants and a dozen baboons. Anything to get old Uncle Sam into the court. The next step will be to push us from the court in the league of nations.

DR. ALBERT LOWENSTEIN, a Belgian, is Europe's latest "mysterious millionaire." He has a place in England with a string of horses, and five villas at Biarritz, one of two of them for aviators that run his flock of flying machines.

The flying machines bring millionaires from other countries to talk with him. He has forty secretaries, and a fleet of automobiles. His airplanes, including those rented from the Imperial Airways company, of London, cost $100,000 a week.

So goes the story, worthy of Jules Verne, apparently.

That is the too busy, too much cluttered-up type of millionaire. There is something wrong with a mind that needs so many secretaries, automobiles and flying machines.

WALL STREET has a young mysterious millionaire also, named Clarence Dillon. He took away the Dodge car financing from highly indignant, slow-moving Wall Street dinosaurs, then "grabbed" the National Cash Register, and lately has been financing bigger enterprises in Europe.

His ways annoy old-fashioned Wall Street finance exceedingly. Wall Street reporters say he has no papers, no pen and ink, only one or two sharp pencils and a paper pad on his smooth, glass-topped desk, near a comfortable arm-chair beside an open fire-place.

That's the way to be an efficient mysterious millionaire. Get rid of detail.

A WELL-KNOWN young man who died recently was temperate, hard-

A Baking Booklet

Some kind of bread is served on the average American table three times a day. The quality of that bread is an important matter. The food value depends on the materials which go into it, whether it is made at home or in the bakery. The baking booklet has been planned primarily as a guide in home baking, but through its discussion of materials it offers help also in the choice of commercial baked products.

This invaluable offering is a government publication, and our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy for any reader who fills out and mails the coupon below, enclosing four cents in stamps for return postage and handling. Write your name and address clearly.

SLATER RE-OPENS MELLETT PLOT QUIZ

ANOTHER GRAND JURY INQUIRY WILL FOLLOW LENGEL CASE VERDICT

Cincinnati Detective, Who Opened Initial Investigation, is Recalled to Canton by Prosecutor McClintock as Result of Developments in Hearing Before Civil Service Commission.

EVIDENCE BROUGHT OUT IN RECENT POLICE CHIEF FIGHT TO BE CHECKED

Ousted Department Head, Target for Many of Slain Newspaperman's Editorials, Awaits Decision on His Appeal for Reinstatement—Carl Studer, Facing Two Charges, Still in Jail.

By PAUL E. BROKAW

CANTON, O., Sept. 13.—A renewed investigation into the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton newspaperman, was expected to get under way today with the return of Ora Slater, private detective who originally opened the inquiry.

Slater was recalled by County Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

He is expected to make an investigation into the contributing causes of the murder with a view to presenting whatever evidence he gathers to a Stark county grand jury scheduled to convene here September 20. That is to be the same grand jury that recently indicted Louis Mazer, Ben Rudner and Patrick McDermott for murder in connection with the Mellett assassination.

The Canton civil service commission today will announce its decision on the hearing for the reinstatement of former Police Chief S. A. Lengel, who was the target for many of Mellett's editorial shots, which were directly aimed at the police department.

Expect Return of Mazer.

The investigation to be started by Slater today has been claimed to have been opened by evidence brought out at Lengel's hearing.

Carl Studer, arrested last week on charges of perjury and keeping a disorderly house, was still being held in the municipal jail here in default of $5,000 bond.

Studer will have a hearing Tuesday on the disorderly house charge and Wednesday on the perjury count.

Return of Louis Mazer, one of the two indicted for first degree murder to Canton for arraignment, was expected tomorrow or Wednesday. Mazer is now held in Cleveland by federal authorities who have preferred accusations of liquor conspiracy against him.

Eight Men Hold Up Guards And Flee Tennessee Prison

Armed Convicts Gag and Lock Deputies in Cell and Then Saw Bars of Windows.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 13. Holding up two armed guards, eight prisoners at the Tennessee state penitentiary here escaped early today from the tuberculosis hospital inside the prison walls.

The prisoners were all armed, the two guards said. The guards were found 15 minutes after the escape, locked in a cell and gagged.

The convicts sawed through bars on windows of the penitentiary, escaping toward the swamps along the Cumberland river. All available prison guards and city and county officers are searching for them.

Three of the prisoners were captured within two hours. One of them, realizing his time would be up in six months, turned before he had gotten out of the grounds and surrendered to a guard. He was Charles Archer, serving three years for forgery.

Another prisoner, John Okey, serving time for burglary, gave up his freedom to stay by the side of J. L. Proffett, a forger, who was seized with a coughing fit. Guards came upon Okey and Proffett, the latter coughing hysterically with his head on Okey's lap.

Bomb Thrower Says Act Was That of Individual.

ROME, Sept. 13.—Premier Mussolini's first move as the result of the bomb attack against him on Saturday has been within his own household.

The government today announced that General Police Director Crispon-ancada and Signor Pirilli, chief of police of Rome, have been dismissed. Denies Widespread Plot.

Gino Lucetti, the would-be assassin who first gave his name as Ermete Giovannini, has been further grilled and now confesses that he arrived in Rome on September 2 and spent more than a week studying the daily routine movements of Premier Mussolini, the police state.

Lucetti, despite arrests which have been made and the police charge of a widespread plot, still persists that his act was that of an individual. He declares that several times during the past week he has stood before the Chigi palace prepared to bomb Mussolini, but each time something prevented him from acting. He states that when he emigrated to France in 1920 he hid the bombs in Rome which he used in the attack on Saturday.

Members of Lucetti's family have been placed under arrest at Avezza.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY'S THREE-DAY FAIR WILL OPEN TUESDAY WITH RECORD NUMBER OF EXHIBITS

The 77th annual county fair, under auspices of the Columbiana County Agricultural society, will open at Lisbon tomorrow morning and close Thursday evening. Wednesday is expected to be the "big day," although large crowds, no doubt, will pass through the gates Thursday.

Practically every inch of exhibition space has been sold.

Secretary H. E. Marsden has assigned many concessions along the Midway, with attractions for the amusement of the children. Many automobiles, farm machinery, home furnishings, etc., will be among the exhibits.

The Boys' and Girls' Calf clubs, under the direction of County Agent Floyd Lower, and also the Boys' and Girls' Poultry clubs have already taken their entries to the grounds. Rural school teachers and County Superintendent H. C. Leonard today arranged the educational exhibit.

Mayor Robert B. Clark of Lisbon, announced that 12 extra police would be on duty day and night during the fair, while the fair board will have a score or more of special patrolmen within the grounds.

BOOK TWO—VI.

Jock cut in, successively, on Gloria Martin, on a languid brunette with earrings the size of butter plates, on Norma Knight, on a blonde who was mildly intoxicated, on a theatrical-looking girl who called him "big boy," and on Winky Winters. They all greeted him graciously, and they all said much the same things. Well, it was about time he remembered they were there! They'd been wondering all evening when he was going to look their way. But of course, he'd been so absorbed in that queer little person Dopey Lane brought! . . . Every one of them had noticed him with Cecily, and knew approximately how long he had danced with her. Jock thought this very curious. Being that rara avis, a young man almost entirely without vanity, it did not occur to him that girls would always observe and mentally register all his activities, no matter how many other male beings there might be present.

Half an hour passed before he danced with Molly again. "Jock," she declared then, "I cannot stand it, that's all there is to it! I'll have to go back to the frat house and get another pair of shoes. These are brand new, and my feet are tired anyway from dancing constantly for two days, and I'm suffering agonies."

"I'll go back and get them. Tell me where they are."

"You never could find them—"

"Sure I could!" A suspicion that if Molly returned to the deserted fraternity house with him there would be another scene similar to the recent one in the roadster made Jock all the more emphatic. "Sure, Molly, I'll find them all right. Where'd you leave them? What do they look like?"

"They're silver," Molly said, "Silver brocade, and they tie on the instep with little tassels. They're in the closet—the only silver slippers in there unless Norma has a pair, in which case you'll know mine because they'll be the smallest. But I'd better go with you—"

Jock turned her over to an approaching stag, and went alone.

VII.

The room that Molly and Norma Knight were occupying was the one inhabited in more normal times by Jock and Bones. But even though it belonged to him, Jock entered it almost guiltily, like a furtive intruder. It looked so feminine! Its chairs were festooned with wispy garments in pastel colors. Its chiffoniers supported a miscellany of hairpins and round gilt boxes and pearl beads and perfume bottles and crumpled handkerchiefs and lipsticks, and, over all, a light snowfall of powder. There were suitcases under the beds, suitcases somewhat ajar and foaming lace at the mouth. Jock opened the closet door and peeped in. Gowns hung there in a row, and below them, innumerable small shoes trod carelessly on one another's toes.

He stooped to search for a pair of silver ones with little tasseled ties for the insteps, and as he did so he heard a sound.

He sat up, listening. He heard it again . . . a queer little muffled sound, rather like a whimper into a pillow. . . .

"Now who—?" he said aloud. But he knew. Of course. Who else, of all the Zeta Kappa guests, would be crying alone in the dark on prom night?

He went into the hall and called, "Cecily!"

No answer.

"Cecily, it's Jock Hamill. Let me talk to you a minute."

Still no answer.

Jock walked straight across to Dopey Lane's room, entered, and pressed the wall switch. Lights sprang out of the pitch blackness, revealing Cecily.

She lay face downward on the bed, in a heap, as though she had been crumpled like paper and flung there. The silk of her gown wrinkled over her like disturbed water, and her head was visible only as a mesh of thick brown hair framed in a triangle of arm. She looked tragic as she lay there, and crushed, and utterly hopeless.

"Why, Cecily!" Jock said. "Why listen—dear little kid—this won't do at all, you know!" She was the second weeping woman he had seen that night, but she did not affect him as Molly had. Instead she wrung his heart.

"Go away!" she mumbled.

"I will not! You sit up here this minute and tell me what it's all about."

Cecily shook her head so violently that tendrils of hair bounced like little springs.

"Then I'm going to wait here till you do," Jock told her firmly.

He waited in silence, and after an interval Cecily said, "Turn out the light."

When the room was in darkness again Jock could hear her stirring, sitting up—blowing her nose, even. Her voice came, still thick, but much more nearly normal. "What are you doing here, anyway?"

"I came over on an errand, and heard you—"

"How did you know it was I?"

"I missed you from the dance," Jock lied. "I was sure you couldn't be in the dressing room all that time. Cecily, tell me why—"

"You know why."

"No, I—"

"Oh, stop!" she wailed. "Don't lie to me—not now. Of course you know why I left, and why I'm crying, and just exactly what's wrong—of course you do. That's why you've been so wonderful to me ever since I came—because you were sorry for me. Oh, I know! I understood that, even though you acted just as if I was—was—as if you really liked me—"

"I do like you, Cecily."

"Do you really?"

"I really do."

"Enough to be absolutely frank with me?"

"Y-yes."

"Then tell me what to do!" cried Cecily passionately through the dark. "Tell me how to be like the rest of these girls—how to be popular! That's what I need—somebody who likes me well enough to be willing to tell me that!"

An honest appeal, straight from the heart. Jock was not the man to resist it. "Sure I'll tell you," he said, "if I can. I don't know much about it, but I'll do my best." He hesitated. "Let's go downstairs, Cecily, don't you want to? Somebody's liable to come in and find us here—not that I care, but it might not look so well for you—"

They went down, Cecily with her rough little hand thrust into Jock's trustingly.

OHIO CHURCHES CONSOLIDATE

Five Communities Have Merged Competing Congregations.

COLUMBUS, O., September 13.—The movement for consolidation of competing churches of different denominations in over-churched communities in Ohio, which began some 15 years ago, is gaining ground rapidly today, according to a report of such projects compiled by the Ohio Council of Churches.

Within the past year, the summary showed, churches have united in at least five Ohio communities—Welshfield, Nelson, Apple Creek, Fredericksburg and Monroe Township, Putnam county.

Several other merger projects are pending and may be carried out in the next few months, according to church council officials.

Through action taken in 1921 by church officials, the Protestant denominations of the state are committed to a policy of favoring consolidation of churches in small communities, to achieve the ideal of having a resident minister and a well-equipped church in every community with 500 or more people. Principles adopted at that time hold that any community with fewer than 1,000 population is best served by a single well-equipped Protestant church with "adequate resident pastoral leadership." Many of the church consolidations in the five years since this action was taken.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 88

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

John Emery's Sedan Plunges Over Embankment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Emery and daughter Maybelle, 11, of Bank street, East Liverpool, were injured when their sedan plunged over a steep embankment on the Chester-Pughtown road, about a mile southwest of Chester, Sunday morning.

Mrs. Emery, who reveived a dislocated righ ankle, and her daughter, who is suffering from nervous shock, bruises and possibly internal injuries, were removed to the East Liverpool hospital in the Arner ambulance and attended by Dr. C. R. Campbell. Emery, who suffered a sprained ankle, was also attended at the hospital by Dr. Campbell, but did not remain at the institution.

The family was enroute to Steubenville to visit Carl Emery, brother of the driver, who is in a hospital suffering from injuries received Wednesday evening in a street car collision near King's crossing, east of Steubenville.

About 300 yards beyond the forks in the road at the top of the Fairview hill leading out of Chester, Emery is said to have attempted to pass another car. Instead of pulling to the left of the car, he is said to have attempted to pass on the right side and approaching too close to the side of the road plunged over the embankment.

The sedan turned over three times and came to a stop at the bottom of the ravine. Mrs. Emery and her daughter were thrown out at the first turn of the car, but Emery was still in the machine when it came to a stop. Passing motorists went to the assistance of the three persons and called Dr. Campbell and an ambulance. The sedan, badly damaged, was taken to an East Liverpool garage by the McElravy wrecker.

A Paige touring car belonging to E. M. Halstead of near Chester was slightly damaged when it plunged over an embankment on the Hookstown road, near the Stewart farm, Saturday night. Halstead received minor injuries, while other persons in the car were unhurt.

Halstead was coming down the hill and after dimming his lights for another car, approaching from the opposite direction, pulled to the right side of the highway. A minute later, when he turned on his lights, his machine was at the edge of the road.

The car is said to have overturned five times.

Wrecking equipment from the Ward garage, Chester, pulled the car to the road and towed it to Halstead's garage, Sunday afternoon.

APPLY varnish stain to a metal panel. Allow the panel to dry. Bend or crease it over a straight edge. Then straighten it out and examine its surface.

An inefficient varnish stain will crack badly where it was creased, leaving a broken film that will chip off and expose the bare surface.

Devoe Mirrolac will retain an unbroken film thereby fully protecting the surface. This proves the elasticity and durability of the product.

Practical tests prove Devoe quality.

Futile Pride

Spain, refused a permanent seat on the council of the league of nations, withdraws from the league because her feelings are hurt.

Here is old-fashioned "Castilian pride" still alive and still operating, as it has done for centuries, to Spain's own disadvantage.

As matters stand, Spain's retirement hurts Spain more than it does the league. The latter gains prestige by keeping faith with Germany and refusing to be bulldozed into changing its policies by a member with whom there was really a good deal of sympathy. The welfare of the league was placed above favoritism and threats.

Spain has not "fired" the league, but the league has, however, regretfully, fired Spain.

So Spain is left with her pride, and little else. And pride, in a man or nation, is of little use when it is not accompanied by substantial strength or achievement.

It was really absurd that a nation which has lost the vast empire which was once Spain's, and dwindled in power until it was beaten to a standstill by a handful of Moroccans, should presume to dictate to a majority of the powers of the earth.

The Castilian nobleman, dwelling ragged in a tumble-down castle, and starving because he is too proud to work for a living, is still a symbol of Spain. That is why Spain fails to prosper and why, in spite of her great past, she fails to exert power in international councils, and ever her Spanish-American offspring fails to support her.

The New Immortality

Valentino's body is laid to rest, but "his soul goes marching on." His career continues amazingly after his death. The "pictures" he created, instead of being withdrawn, as in the case of various other film actors, are being shown more widely than ever. Death has increased his popularity, has even started a new vogue for him.

"The Valentino the fan knows," says a movie writer, "will only die with this generation, and in some of his impersonations he may continue still longer."

It has always been possible, in a way, for a poet or dramatist or painter or sculptor to live on in his accomplished work; but here we have, or seem to have, the actual, living man himself still before our eyes. It is this sense of complete illusion given by the moving picture that so amazingly prolongs the career of a film favorite and gives him what seems, at least for the time being, a veritable immortality.

Moreover, since it is said to be possible to preserve present-day films indefinitely, a Valentino or any other actor on any stage of modern life may conceivably be preserved and brought forth again before the eyes of remote generations.

Present and future may be merged as never before. The future will know its past as we cannot know ours. We have now incentive to work for the future, knowing that our work can be preserved.

Sunlight

The sunshine gospel—which is a scientific gospel—continues to spead. At a gathering of sanitary inspectors in Brantford, Ont., the chief health inspector of Winnipeg spoke forcibly on "Light and Health" emphasizing the need of "natural light" in living and working quarters.

The four chief needs for the health of the community, he declared, are these:

A clean atmosphere in cities and towns.

The admission of direct sunlight to all working and living quarters, particularly in homes where there are growing children.

The perfection of a window glass to admit ultra-violet rays—the part of sunlight especially promoting health and growth.

The inculcation in the minds of the people of the absolute need of direct sunlight in winter as well as summer, for the maintenance of health.

It would be well if health officers everywhere were harping on this subject. It has taken the human race a good many thousand years to learn how sunshine affects life, and to start making intelligent use of it and, where it is lacking, to begin providing the best substitutes possible.

The Miser

Poor little old Matilda Ries, a laudress by day and a pencil vendor by night, was taken by the New York police for soliciting alms in the subway and was subsequently sent to the insane asylum.

She had $1,800 in bills sewed into her clothing, and under her bed in the hovel where she lived was half a ton of small coins worth nearly $10,000. She had toiled and hoarded and reveled in her treasure and sought ever more eagerly to add to it until the treasure possessed her. She wore herself out, body and mind, and looked to be 63 instead of 43, and finally lost all count of dollars and days. It got to be so hard to add up her savings, with pencil and paper, that she couldn't sleep any more. And then, the responsibility of safeguarding it! At every step on the stairs she would start up and cry, "Are you coming to rob me?"

Of course that has nothing to do with any of the rest of us. Yet there is more than one kind of useless hoarding. And many are the people "demented with the mania of owning things," who clutter up and wear out their lives taking care of useless possessions instead of living.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Early up to drive to Pompton Lakes where Albert Payson Terhune and his lady were celebrating the 25th anniversary of their marriage, and a distinguished gathering there.

So to the city where my barber told me that in five years I would be bald, my idea of nothing to worry about. Some of the most distinguished men I know are hairless and anyway the trying part of one's toilette is brushing the hair.

In the evening to a play and heard a comedian imitate an auto siren and going home found I could and never so pleased in my life and crossing the street behind a man so frightened him he threatened to knock my head off. Thence to bed, a contrite smart alec.

Broadway has a way of reaching out and plucking those in humble paths for the glare of the spotlight. A set of twin dancing sisters were a short while ago $15-a-week ushers in a theatre. A clever comedian was selling soap from door to door.

A rather obscure singer of the cellar cabarets is now the omni-present Balief of a glorified revue. A trick dancer was a year ago doing his steps between calls for companions on a messenger boy's bench.

And it is an old story that Fanny Brice sold newspapers at the Brooklyn end of Brooklyn Bridge. Now she is a Belasco star. The theatre is one institution that has no interest in a past. If one has the stuff recognition is inevitable.

Broadway is filled with men and women who came up from gutter environments to the imperious grandeur of swoop-nose imported cars. Their wits have been sharpened on flag stones. And it is natural for them to strut.

The successor to those electrical chewing gum acrobats which graced a Broadway cornice is noted. It is a lone puppet that kicks his hat off and then kicks it back on with a precision that charms curb loafers.

Broadway calls spats "ankle awnings" and a monocle "a porthole." And those who essay full evening dress are "whitefronts." Full evening dress for a time threatened to shelve the Tuxedo for strictly formal wear, but the European idea didn't click for long. Full evening dress is now left for visiting Europeans. And head waiters.

And Broadway's current popular "blue" song is the theme of an old hymn. Which recalls the chorus girl who, when asked her favorite hymn, replied: "Jack Barrymore."

There is something appealingly frank in this sign in the luminous entrance of a Turkish Bath near Times Square: "No matter what condition you are in when you visit our baths, we will take care of you." That—hic—is a promise!

The original name of Washington News was Stable Alley—and then a painter set up a studio and gradually the place became "arty." Other stables became civilized centers of thought. Rents went up and rubber-neck megaphonists pointed it out as one of the sights of the Village. Two novels have glorified it. Even noted European artists have declared it offered an atmosphere rarely felt outside of Florence.

A truthful lady vouches for this. A workman left two fresh eggs near a steam pipe in the boiler room of a prominent hotel. The other day a chicken pecked out of one of the eggs. Copyrighted, 1926, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The English Coal Strike.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—The end of the English coal strike may be at hand now that the miners by slightly more than a two-thirds vote have authorized their council to make a settlement with the operators. This may mean the capitulation of the strikers, or it may result merely in tedious negotiations and the prolonging of the dealock, but it is generally regarded as a step toward peace. That the outlook is not altogether promising is indicated, however, by the fact that some 225,000 of the miners voted against the authorization. With such a large element of bitter-enders among the workers after all the privations that they and their dependents have endured, the officials of the union are likely to be slow in making concessions.

Unionists and employers as well in the United States have been amazed at the continuation of the English coal strike after the general strike collapsed. The general strike was called, presumptively, as a last desperate measure of British trade unions to force the government and the coal operators to meet the demands of the miners. Certainly it was called to aid the coal workers, and when it failed—and it did fail signally—it was assumed here that the miners would throw up their hands at once. Such would have been the result in this country, if it were conceivable that a general strike could be attempted here in support of any one group of unionists.

Strikes collapse in the United States when the strikers and their leaders realize that public sentiment is against them to a marked degree. The general strike in England developed the most amazing adverse popular sentiment. All classes of the people rallied 'round in the most determined and most efficient cooperation to defeat the strike and the end was not long in doubt. Even the strikers themselves seemed to cooperate, for they indulged in no sabotage and no riotous demonstrations against strike breakers, and to glory in the manner in which their country met a perilous situation. It was industrial warfare, but the most peaceable warfare the world has ever known.

No National Hysterics

There was no exhibition of national hysteria, such as would have been inevitable in this country in a similar situation. No bitter hatreds were engendered, and neither side manifested a determination to rule or ruin. The strikers said, in effect, "This is how we feel about this situation, and here is our demonstration," to which the British public replied emphatically in substantially the same words. Whereupon the unionists said "Well, if that's the way you feel about it, the general strike is off."

But the coal strike went on. All the trade unions in England could not win in a concerted action, but one group, in whose behalf the concerted action was taken, carried on. The only explanation of this extraordinary development in a great industrial conflict is that while British public sentiment was overwhelmingly against the general strike it was not correspondingly hostile to the cause of it. The miners must have popular sympathy to an appreciable degree.

Evidence of this is seen in the public support that has been given the striking miners. Just as during the World war a city or an organization in the United States would "adopt" a village or town in France or Belgium and provide for the support of its inhabitants, so parishes and similar social entities in England have adopted mining districts. For instance, Balina, in Wales, where there has been perhaps greater and longer distress than in any district in the coal mining regions, has been adopted by a parish in one of the poorest boroughs in London which sends from one to three hundred pounds a week for distribution among the strikers and their families.

For the most part the striking miners are fed by funds that are raised by the distressing committees of their federation, while their wives and children are supported by the poor law relief dispensed by public guardians.

What It Is All About.

The strikers, notably in Wales, keep up their spirit and maintain their morale largely by jazz music. They organize jazz bands, occasionally as many as thirty or forty in a district, and hold concerts and festivals at which the bands compete for prizes for the most striking costumes and the best music. Recently, however, there has been some rioting in Wales, and it has been made apparent that the spirit of the strikers has come either to the danger point or to the breaking point.

In this country it has long been

THE PERFIDY OF THE SCOT.

Among golfers this one is at present having a more or less deserved circulation.

A Yankee enthusiast on his return home from the grand tour was telling his friend of his experience on foreign links.

"Say," he said, "the Scotch are a mighty tricky race. You know what I mean—liars and that sort of thing."

"Surely not all of them," protested his audience.

"Well, I'm only going by a sample specimen that I ran into. He may not have been typical but I'll say this for him; he was a sharp practitioner. I met him one morning at a club in the Lowlands. I was looking for a partner and he seemed to be alone, too, so I said to him:

"'What do you generally go around in?'

"'Oh,' he said, 'about 105 or 106 when I'm on my game.'

"'That's me, too' I said, 'if I break 110 on any course I'm doing pretty well. I guess we're pretty well mated. Suppose we play together for a shilling a hole?'

"Well, he took me up," continued the American, "and he turned out to be one terrible liar. Why, that Scotch son-of-a-gun made an eighty-two and I had to play my head off to take three shillings away from him."

GLITTER

BOOK TWO—VI.

Jock cut in, successively, on Gloria Martin, on a languid brunette with earrings the size of butter plates, on Norma Knight, on a blonde who was mildly intoxicated, on a theatrical-looking girl who called him "big boy," and on Winky Winters. They all greeted him graciously, and they all said much the same things. Well, it was about time he remembered they were there! They'd been wondering all evening when he was going to look their way. But of course, he'd been so absorbed in that queer little person Dopey Lane brought! . . . Every one of them had noticed him with Cecily, and knew approximately how long he had danced with her. Jock thought this very curious. Being that rara avis, a young man almost entirely without vanity, it did not occur to him that girls would always observe and mentally register all his activities, no matter how many other male beings there might be present.

Half an hour passed before he danced with Molly again. "Jock," she declared then, "I cannot stand it, that's all there is to it! I'll have to go back to the frat house and get another pair of shoes. These are brand new, and my feet are tired anyway from dancing constantly for two days, and I'm suffering agonies."

"I'll go back and get them. Tell me where they are."

"You never could find them—"

"Sure I could!" A suspicion that if Molly returned to the deserted fraternity house with him there would be another scene similar to the recent one in the roadster made Jock all the more emphatic. "Sure, Molly, I'll find them all right. Where'd you leave them? What do they look like?"

"They're silver," Molly said, "Silver brocade, and they tie on the instep with little tassels. They're in the closet—the only silver slippers in there unless Norma has a pair, in which case you'll know mine because they'll be the smallest. But I'd better go with you—"

Jock turned her over to an approaching stag, and went alone.

VII.

The room that Molly and Norma Knight were occupying was the one inhabited in more normal times by Jock and Bones. But even though it belonged to him, Jock entered it almost guiltily, like a furtive intruder. It looked so feminine! Its chairs were festooned with wispy garments in pastel colors. Its chiffoniers supported a miscellany of hairpins and round gilt boxes and pearl beads and perfume bottles and crumpled handkerchiefs and lipsticks, and, over all, a light snowfall of powder. There were suitcases under the beds, suitcases somewhat ajar and foaming lace at the mouth. Jock opened the closet door and peeped in. Gowns hung there in a row, and below them, innumerable small shoes trod carelessly on one another's toes.

He stooped to search for a pair of silver ones with little tasseled ties for the insteps, and as he did so he heard a sound.

He sat up, listening. He heard it again . . . a queer little muffled sound, rather like a whimper into a pillow. . . .

"Now who—?" he said aloud. But he knew. Of course. Who else, of all the Zeta Kappa guests, would be crying alone in the dark on prom night?

He went into the hall and called, "Cecily!"

No answer.

"Cecily, it's Jock Hamill. Let me talk to you a minute."

Still no answer.

Jock walked straight across to Dopey Lane's room, entered, and pressed the wall switch. Lights sprang out of the pitch blackness, revealing Cecily.

She lay face downward on the bed, in a heap, as though she had been crumpled like paper and flung there. The silk of her gown wrinkled over her like disturbed water, and her head was visible only as a mesh of thick brown hair framed in a triangle of arm. She looked tragic as she lay there, and crushed, and utterly hopeless.

"Why, Cecily!" Jock said. "Why listen—dear little kid—this won't do at all, you know!" She was the second weeping woman he had seen that night, but she did not affect him as Molly had. Instead she wrung his heart.

"Go away!" she mumbled.

"I will not! You sit up here this minute and tell me what it's all about."

Cecily shook her head so violently that tendrils of hair bounced like little springs.

"Then I'm going to wait here till you do," Jock told her firmly.

He waited in silence, and after an interval Cecily said, "Turn out the light."

When the room was in darkness again Jock could hear her stirring, sitting up—blowing her nose, even. Her voice came, still thick, but much more nearly normal. "What are you doing here, anyway?"

"I came over on an errand, and heard you—"

"How did you know it was I?"

"I missed you from the dance," Jock lied. "I was sure you couldn't be in the dressing room all that time. Cecily, tell me why—"

"You know why."

"No, I—"

"Oh, stop!" she wailed. "Don't lie to me—not now. Of course you know why I left, and why I'm crying, and just exactly what's wrong—of course you do. That's why you've been so wonderful to me ever since I came—because you were sorry for me. Oh, I know! I understood that, even though you acted just as if I was—was—as if you really liked me—"

"I do like you, Cecily."

"Do you really?"

"I really do."

"Enough to be absolutely frank with me?"

"Y-yes."

"Then tell me what to do!" cried Cecily passionately through the dark. "Tell me how to be like the rest of these girls—how to be popular! That's what I need—somebody who likes me well enough to be willing to tell me that!"

An honest appeal, straight from the heart. Jock was not the man to resist it. "Sure I'll tell you," he said, "if I can. I don't know much about it, but I'll do my best." He hesitated. "Let's go downstairs, Cecily, don't you want to? Somebody's liable to come in and find us here—not that I care, but it might not look so well for you—"

They went down, Cecily with her rough little hand thrust into Jock's trustingly.

Five Communities Have Merged Competing Congregations.

COLUMBUS, O., September 13.—The movement for consolidation of competing churches of different denominations in over-churched communities in Ohio, which began some 15 years ago, is gaining ground rapidly today, according to a report of such projects compiled by the Ohio Council of Churches.

Within the past year, the summary showed, churches have united in at least five Ohio communities—Welshfield, Nelson, Apple Creek, Fredericksburg and Monroe Township, Putnam county.

Several other merger projects are pending and may be carried out in the next few months, according to church council officials.

Through action taken in 1921 by church officials, the Protestant denominations of the state are committed to a policy of favoring consolidation of churches in small communities, to achieve the ideal of having a resident minister and a well-equipped church in every community with 500 or more people. Principles adopted at that time hold that any community with fewer than 1,000 population is best served by a single well-equipped Protestant church with "adequate resident pastoral leadership." Many of the church consolidations in the state have been effected in the five years since this action was taken.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

OPEN SCHOOL BIDS OCT. 19

Brick and Concrete Structure Will be Erected.

Bids for the new Grant district elementary and high school building to be erected in Newell, will be opened by the board of education on Tuesday, October 19, it was announced today.

Call for proposals will be issued next week. This publication will continue for four weeks.

Plans for the new structure which will occupy a site on what was formerly a part of the Kenilworth Country Golf club golf links, donated by the North American Manufacturing company, probably will be approved within the next ten days.

The building will be brick and concrete and fire proof in every respect. It will be one story high with a basement. Its approximate cost will be $100 000, including equipment.

Peterson & Clark, Steubenville architects, who supervised the building of the East Liverpool high school, the Mary A. Patterson Memorial Christian home new schools in Toronto and Steubenville, will be in charge of the work.

The three-room Grandview school building, in what is known as Lawrenceville, has been completed, as the result of funds made available through the $75,000 bond issue approved at the August election.

LEGION TO AID GASSED VETERAN

The Weirton American Legion post will aid Buckley O'Connor, 30, World war veteran, who was held for a time as a suspect in the mysterious fire which destroyed the Cove Lumber company's plant at Hollidays Cove.

O'Connor, members of the legion claim, served 22 months overseas and is suffering from the effects of being gassed. He is crippled in one foot and has an impediment in his speech. Weirton police ordered his release when they could not connect him with the lumber mill blaze.

Officials of the legion post are trying to obtain employment for the man.

Discharged from Hospital.

Mrs. Paul Brookes, who has been confined in the East Liverpool hospital, was removed to her home in Jefferson street in the Arner ambulance Saturday morning.

Q. How much money is received in royalties for films shown abroad, and what is paid for foreign films? C. M.

A. In the last six years motion picture royalties have amounted to at least $300,000,000, while foreign films have cost $1,000,000 for exhibition here. Last year Europe paid the most, $52,000,000; Latin America next, $7,500,000; Canada, $3,500,000; Asia and rest of world, $12,000,000; making a total for 1925 of $75,000,000.

Q. How many people are killed at grade crossings? L. D.

A. During the last ten years, more than 19,000 persons have been killed and over 52,000 injured on grade crossings.

Q. Does the forest land of the Northwest yield more lumber to the acre than the eastern forests did? H. J.

A. In the East, 5000 or 6000 feet per acre was considered a normal yield, the forests of the west coast average nearly 40,000 feet and acre, and some yield as high as 150,000 feet.

Q. What is the rug of skin that a native black in South Africa wears, called? N. A. F.

A. The square of cloth or skin is called a kaross.

Q. When was the recall first practiced in American politics? B. T. L.

A. Contrary to general opinion the recall is not an innovation of modern politics, but has been known since reveutionary times. Pennsylvania's delegates to the Continental Congress who refused to sign the Declaration of Independence were recalled and others sent in their places. Los Angeles was the first city to adopt the recall, the amendment to its charter in 1903 being modeled after the cantonal law of Schaffhausen, Switzerland.

A. Manutius, a Venetian printer, first used them about 1500 A. D.

Q. Did the gas mask provided the soldiers during the war, protect them against illuminating gas? S. D. N.

A. The army mask which afforded protection against the gases used in warfare, would not be effectual against common illuminating gases.

Q. What are the fat-forming and non-fat-forming foods? C. S.

A. The fat-forming concentrated foods are of several classes and consist of such substances as first, butter, cream, fatty portions of meat, salad oil and nuts; second, starchy foods, such as bread and pastry, the bread being taken as a rule with butter, giving a very concentrated fat and starch combination, while pastry has both fat in the form of butter, and sugar; third, sweets and sugars. Sugars are used largely to add to the palatability of certain foods. The non-fat-forming foods consist in general of the bulky vegetables, fruits, lean meat, and fish without fat.

Q. What is meant by a 5 per cent solution? C. E. W.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that the term per cent solution is used loosely in two or three ways. For instance a 5 per cent solution of calcium chloride means, to some chemists, a solution made up by dissolving 5 grams of the salt in 100 cubic centimeters of water. It may also mean a solution made by dissolving 5 grams of the salt in enough water to make 100 cc. In the strict sense, a 5 per cent solution is one of such strength that 100 parts by weight contain 5 parts by weight of the salt.

Q. How did "Jesus Lover of My Soul" happen to be written? T. O.

A. Wesley was one day standing at a window where a hawk began to chase a small bird. Suddenly the bird saw the figure at the window, flew in, and nestled in Wesley's coat. This experience gave him the inspiration for the hymn.

She was only a plumber's daughter, but, oh, boy, those fixtures!—Fostoria Times.

Stomach Bloated With Gas Was His Worry

Mr. D. Zelinka, of New York, N. Y., writes: "I want you to know that no day passed for months and months that did not find my stomach bloated with gas and shooting pains darting through my stomach. I felt hungry at times, but as soon as I started eating, food nauseated me and I became bilious. My tongue was coated, had bad taste and breath was offensive. I never thought this could all be from my liver, but my liver it must have been, for the very first day after taking your wonderful Carter's Little Liver Pills I felt like a new person. The small dose makes them easy to take too." For sale at all druggists.

Futile Pride

Spain, refused a permanent seat on the council of the league of nations, withdraws from the league because her feelings are hurt.

Here is old-fashioned "Castilian pride" still alive and still operating, as it has done for centuries, to Spain's own disadvantage.

As matters stand, Spain's retirement hurts Spain more than it does the league. The latter gains prestige by keeping faith with Germany and refusing to be bulldozed into changing its policies by a member with whom there was really a good deal of sympathy. The welfare of the league was placed above favoritism and threats.

Spain has not "fired" the league, but the league has, however, regretfully, fired Spain.

So Spain is left with her pride, and little else. And pride, in a man or nation, is of little use when it is not accompanied by substantial strength or achievement.

It was really absurd that a nation which has lost the vast empire which was once Spain's, and dwindled in power until it was beaten to a standstill by a handful of Moroccans, should presume to dictate to a majority of the powers of the earth.

The Castilian nobleman, dwelling ragged in a tumble-down castle, and starving because he is too proud to work for a living, is still a symbol of Spain. That is why Spain fails to prosper and why, in spite of her great past, she fails to exert power in international councils, and ever her Spanish-American offspring fails to support her.

The New Immortality

Valentino's body is laid to rest, but "his soul goes marching on." His career continues amazingly after his death. The "pictures" he created, instead of being withdrawn, as in the case of various other film actors, are being shown more widely than ever. Death has increased his popularity, has even started a new vogue for him.

"The Valentino the fan knows," says a movie writer, "will only die with this generation, and in some of his impersonations he may continue still longer."

It has always been possible, in a way, for a poet or dramatist or painter or sculptor to live on in his accomplished work; but here we have, or seem to have, the actual, living man himself still before our eyes. It is this sense of complete illusion given by the moving picture that so amazingly prolongs the career of a film favorite and gives him what seems, at least for the time being, a veritable immortality.

Moreover, since it is said to be possible to preserve present-day films indefinitely, a Valentino or any other actor on any stage of modern life may conceivably be preserved and brought forth again before the eyes of remote generations.

Present and future may be merged as never before. The future will know its past as we cannot know ours. We have now incentive to work for the future, knowing that our work can be preserved.

Sunlight

The sunshine gospel—which is a scientific gospel—continues to spead. At a gathering of sanitary inspectors in Brantford, Ont., the chief health inspector of Winnipeg spoke forcibly on "Light and Health" emphasizing the need of "natural light" in living and working quarters.

The four chief needs for the health of the community, he declared, are these:

A clean atmosphere in cities and towns.

The admission of direct sunlight to all working and living quarters, particularly in homes where there are growing children.

The perfection of a window glass to admit ultra-violet rays—the part of sunlight especially promoting health and growth.

The inculcation in the minds of the people of the absolute need of direct sunlight in winter as well as summer, for the maintenance of health.

It would be well if health officers everywhere were harping on this subject. It has taken the human race a good many thousand years to learn how sunshine affects life, and to start making intelligent use of it and, where it is lacking, to begin providing the best substitutes possible.

The Miser

Poor little old Matilda Ries, a laudress by day and a pencil vendor by night, was taken by the New York police for soliciting alms in the subway and was subsequently sent to the insane asylum.

She had $1,800 in bills sewed into her clothing, and under her bed in the hovel where she lived was half a ton of small coins worth nearly $10,000. She had toiled and hoarded and reveled in her treasure and sought ever more eagerly to add to it until the treasure possessed her. She wore herself out, body and mind, and looked to be 63 instead of 43, and finally lost all count of dollars and days. It got to be so hard to add up her savings, with pencil and paper, that she couldn't sleep any more. And then, the responsibility of safeguarding it! At every step on the stairs she would start up and cry, "Are you coming to rob me?"

Of course that has nothing to do with any of the rest of us. Yet there is more than one kind of useless hoarding. And many are the people "demented with the mania of owning things," who clutter up and wear out their lives taking care of useless possessions instead of living.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Early up to drive to Pompton Lakes where Albert Payson Terhune and his lady were celebrating the 25th anniversary of their marriage, and a distinguished gathering there.

So to the city where my barber told me that in five years I would be bald, my idea of nothing to worry about. Some of the most distinguished men I know are hairless and anyway the trying part of one's toilette is brushing the hair.

In the evening to a play and heard a comedian imitate an auto siren and going home found I could and never so pleased in my life and crossing the street behind a man so frightened him he threatened to knock my head off. Thence to bed, a contrite smart alec.

Broadway has a way of reaching out and plucking those in humble paths for the glare of the spotlight. A set of twin dancing sisters were a short while ago $15-a-week ushers in a theatre. A clever comedian was selling soap from door to door.

A rather obscure singer of the cellar cabarets is now the omni-present Balief of a glorified revue. A trick dancer was a year ago doing his steps between calls for companions on a messenger boy's bench.

And it is an old story that Fanny Brice sold newspapers at the Brooklyn end of Brooklyn Bridge. Now she is a Belasco star. The theatre is one institution that has no interest in a past. If one has the stuff recognition is inevitable.

Broadway is filled with men and women who came up from gutter environments to the imperious grandeur of swoop-nose imported cars. Their wits have been sharpened on flag stones. And it is natural for them to strut.

The successor to those electrical chewing gum acrobats which graced a Broadway cornice is noted. It is a lone puppet that kicks his hat off and then kicks it back on with a precision that charms curb loafers.

Broadway calls spats "ankle awnings" and a monocle "a porthole." And those who essay full evening dress are "whitefronts." Full evening dress for a time threatened to shelve the Tuxedo for strictly formal wear, but the European idea didn't click for long. Full evening dress is now left for visiting Europeans. And head waiters.

And Broadway's current popular "blue" song is the theme of an old hymn. Which recalls the chorus girl who, when asked her favorite hymn, replied: "Jack Barrymore."

There is something appealingly frank in this sign in the luminous entrance of a Turkish Bath near Times Square: "No matter what condition you are in when you visit our baths, we will take care of you." That—hic—is a promise!

The original name of Washington News was Stable Alley—and then a painter set up a studio and gradually the place became "arty." Other stables became civilized centers of thought. Rents went up and rubber-neck megaphonists pointed it out as one of the sights of the Village. Two novels have glorified it. Even noted European artists have declared it offered an atmosphere rarely felt outside of Florence.

A truthful lady vouches for this. A workman left two fresh eggs near a steam pipe in the boiler room of a prominent hotel. The other day a chicken pecked out of one of the eggs. Copyrighted, 1926, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The English Coal Strike.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—The end of the English coal strike may be at hand now that the miners by slightly more than a two-thirds vote have authorized their council to make a settlement with the operators. This may mean the capitulation of the strikers, or it may result merely in tedious negotiations and the prolonging of the dealock, but it is generally regarded as a step toward peace. That the outlook is not altogether promising is indicated, however, by the fact that some 225,000 of the miners voted against the authorization. With such a large element of bitter-enders among the workers after all the privations that they and their dependents have endured, the officials of the union are likely to be slow in making concessions.

Unionists and employers as well in the United States have been amazed at the continuation of the English coal strike after the general strike collapsed. The general strike was called, presumptively, as a last desperate measure of British trade unions to force the government and the coal operators to meet the demands of the miners. Certainly it was called to aid the coal workers, and when it failed—and it did fail signally—it was assumed here that the miners would throw up their hands at once. Such would have been the result in this country, if it were conceivable that a general strike could be attempted here in support of any one group of unionists.

Strikes collapse in the United States when the strikers and their leaders realize that public sentiment is against them to a marked degree. The general strike in England developed the most amazing adverse popular sentiment. All classes of the people rallied 'round in the most determined and most efficient cooperation to defeat the strike and the end was not long in doubt. Even the strikers themselves seemed to cooperate, for they indulged in no sabotage and no riotous demonstrations against strike breakers, and to glory in the manner in which their country met a perilous situation. It was industrial warfare, but the most peaceable warfare the world has ever known.

No National Hysterics

There was no exhibition of national hysteria, such as would have been inevitable in this country in a similar situation. No bitter hatreds were engendered, and neither side manifested a determination to rule or ruin. The strikers said, in effect, "This is how we feel about this situation, and here is our demonstration," to which the British public replied emphatically in substantially the same words. Whereupon the unionists said "Well, if that's the way you feel about it, the general strike is off."

But the coal strike went on. All the trade unions in England could not win in a concerted action, but one group, in whose behalf the concerted action was taken, carried on. The only explanation of this extraordinary development in a great industrial conflict is that while British public sentiment was overwhelmingly against the general strike it was not correspondingly hostile to the cause of it. The miners must have popular sympathy to an appreciable degree.

Evidence of this is seen in the public support that has been given the striking miners. Just as during the World war a city or an organization in the United States would "adopt" a village or town in France or Belgium and provide for the support of its inhabitants, so parishes and similar social entities in England have adopted mining districts. For instance, Balina, in Wales, where there has been perhaps greater and longer distress than in any district in the coal mining regions, has been adopted by a parish in one of the poorest boroughs in London which sends from one to three hundred pounds a week for distribution among the strikers and their families.

For the most part the striking miners are fed by funds that are raised by the distressing committees of their federation, while their wives and children are supported by the poor law relief dispensed by public guardians.

What It Is All About.

The strikers, notably in Wales, keep up their spirit and maintain their morale largely by jazz music. They organize jazz bands, occasionally as many as thirty or forty in a district, and hold concerts and festivals at which the bands compete for prizes for the most striking costumes and the best music. Recently, however, there has been some rioting in Wales, and it has been made apparent that the spirit of the strikers has come either to the danger point or to the breaking point.

In this country it has long been

THE PERFIDY OF THE SCOT.

Among golfers this one is at present having a more or less deserved circulation.

A Yankee enthusiast on his return home from the grand tour was telling his friend of his experience on foreign links.

"Say," he said, "the Scotch are a mighty tricky race. You know what I mean—liars and that sort of thing."

"Surely not all of them," protested his audience.

"Well, I'm only going by a sample specimen that I ran into. He may not have been typical, but I'll say this for him; he was a sharp practitioner. I met him one morning at a club in the Lowlands. I was looking for a partner and he seemed to be alone, too, so I said to him:

"'What do you generally go around in?'

"'Oh,' he said, 'about 105 or 106 when I'm on my game.'

"'That's me, too' I said, 'if I break 110 on any course I'm doing pretty well. I guess we're pretty well mated. Suppose we play together for a shilling a hole?'

"Well, he took me up," continued the American, "and he turned out to be one terrible liar. Why, that Scotch son-of-a-gun made an eighty-two and I had to play my head off to take three shillings away from him."

AWARD VANPORT CROSSING JOB

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has awarded the contract for the elimination of the Vanport grade crossing, one of the two remaining crossings on the route between this city and Beaver, to the Milliron company of DuBois, Pa.

Representatives of the concern are on the ground, making ready to begin active work for the over-grade crossing, which, by order of the public service commission, should be completed by December 31.

The estimated cost of the improvement is $156,122.79, of which Beaver county is to pay $26,000; the Pennsylvania Railroad company $70,000; the State Highway Department $50,000 and the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company $1,000. In addition to its share of $26,000 the county is to pay for property damages incurred by the construction but which are expected to be small since only the Sebring property is affected.

The overgrade crossing is to be located several hundred feet east of the present grade crossing and on the other side of the Vanport station. A road will be made south of the railroad tracks from the present end of the concrete to the over-grade bridge and thence northwest over the Sebring property to join the Borough township pavement. It was not announced whether a footpath which has been sought by the residents of Borough township will be included in the work.

Children's eyes are a special study with us. We fully realize the great care necessary in their cases.

Possibly the children are backward in their studies. Perhaps the dullness is not due to the child, but to eye strain.

Q. How much money is received in royalties for films shown abroad, and what is paid for foreign films? C. M.

A. In the last six years motion picture royalties have amounted to at least $300,000,000, while foreign films have cost $1,000,000 for exhibition here. Last year Europe paid the most, $52,000,000; Latin America next, $7,500,000; Canada, $3,500,000; Asia and rest of world, $12,000,000; making a total for 1925 of $75,000,000.

Q. How many people are killed at grade crossings? L. D.

A. During the last ten years, more than 19,000 persons have been killed and over 52,000 injured on grade crossings.

Q. Does the forest land of the Northwest yield more lumber to the acre than the eastern forests did? H. J.

A. In the East, 5000 or 6000 feet per acre was considered a normal yield, the forests of the west coast average nearly 40,000 feet and acre, and some yield as high as 150,000 feet.

Q. What is the rug of skin that a native black in South Africa wears, called? N. A. F.

A. The square of cloth or skin is called a kaross.

Q. When was the recall first practiced in American politics? B. T. L.

A. Contrary to general opinion the recall is not an innovation of modern politics, but has been known since reveutionary times. Pennsylvania's delegates to the Continental Congress who refused to sign the Declaration of Independence were recalled and others sent in their places. Los Angeles was the first city to adopt the recall, the amendment to its charter in 1903 being modeled after the cantonal law of Schaffhausen, Switzerland.

Q. What are the fat-forming and non-fat-forming foods? C. S.

A. The fat-forming concentrated foods are of several classes and consist of such substances as first, butter, cream, fatty portions of meat, salad oil and nuts; second, starchy foods, such as bread and pastry, the bread being taken as a rule with butter, giving a very concentrated fat and starch combination, while pastry has both fat in the form of butter, and sugar; third, sweets and sugars. Sugars are used largely to add to the palatability of certain foods. The non-fat-forming foods consist in general of the bulky vegetables, fruits, lean meat, and fish without fat.

Q. What is meant by a 5 per cent solution? C. E. W.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that the term per cent solution is used loosely in two or three ways. For instance a 5 per cent solution of calcium chloride means, to some chemists, a solution made up by dissolving 5 grams of the salt in 100 cubic centimeters of water. It may also mean a solution made by dissolving 5 grams of the salt in enough water to make 100 cc. In the strict sense, a 5 per cent solution is one of such strength that 100 parts by weight contain 5 parts by weight of the salt.

Q. How did "Jesus Lover of My Soul" happen to be written? T. O.

A. Wesley was one day standing at a window where a hawk began to chase a small bird. Suddenly the bird saw the figure at the window, flew in, and nestled in Wesley's coat. This experience gave him the inspiration for the hymn.

She was only a plumber's daughter, but, oh, boy, those fixtures!—Fostoria Times.

MIDLAND COPS DIAMOND CLASH

A. B. C. Club Blanks Local League Nine.

Pitcher Dillard, working for the Midland A. B. C., against the Wellsville City Industrial league club, turned in a no-run, no-hit performance as the Pennsylvanians copped a 4-0 decision here Saturday.

Dillard fanned nine men and was given airtight support. Patterson also hurled a good game but three miscues hurt his team's chances.

Officers of the Wellsville club today announced plans for a benefit contest on Saturday, September 25, for Carl Morgan, former player, who was injured recently in an accident in the yards of the Crucible Steel company at Midland. A strong team of all star performers is being organized for the occasion.

The Newell and Chester league clubs, now in the throes of a pennant series, will also play a benefit for Morgan at the close of the flag battles.

The Wellsville team is endeavoring to complete negotiations for the appearance of the Hammondsville team of the Toronto league here tomorrow evening.

ANNONCE PLAN FOR NEW HOTEL

Start Work in Two Weeks on $90,000 Structure.

Plans for the reconstruction of the Riverview hotel, which was totally destroyed a little more than a month ago in one of the most disastrous blazes in the city's history, were announced today by Fred Wilke, the owner.

Wilke expects to let the contract for a new three-story brick building, to cost $90,000, within the next few days and, if plans proceed according to schedule, to have workmen on the site within two weeks. He expects to have the building completed and ready for occupancy within four months.

The building, according to specifications, will have 50 rooms, all to be known as outside rooms, and each with a shower or tub. Each room will be moderately furnished.

On the first floor, in addition to the customary layout, will be a modern dining room.

The greater part of the basement will be turned into a public garage, in which cars driven by hotel guests, can be stored.

Through the recent purchase of the adjoining property, formerly owned by George Petrakes, who operated a candy manufacturing establishment before the fire, Wilke will be able to completely isolate the hotel structure through the construction of an alley or passage way off Main street.

Workmen are now engaged in clearing off the bricks and debris remaining from the fire ruins.

AWARD VANPORT CROSSING JOB

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has awarded the contract for the elimination of the Vanport grade crossing, one of the two remaining crossings on the route between this city and Beaver, to the Milliron company of DuBois, Pa.

Representatives of the concern are on the ground, making ready to begin active work for the over-grade crossing, which, by order of the public service commission, should be completed by December 31.

The estimated cost of the improvement is $156,122.79, of which Beaver county is to pay $26,000; the Pennsylvania Railroad company $70,000; the State Highway Department $50,000 and the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company $1,000. In addition to its share of $26,000 the county is to pay for property damages incurred by the construction but which are expected to be small since only the Sebring property is affected.

The overgrade crossing is to be located several hundred feet east of the present grade crossing and on the other side of the Vanport station. A road will be made south of the railroad tracks from the present end of the concrete to the over-grade bridge and thence, northwest over the Sebring property to join the Borough township pavement. It was not announced whether a footpath which has been sought by the residents of Borough township will be included in the work.

HOOVER CALLED UPON TO FIGHT DAMAGE CASE

City Will Ask Court to Set Aside $650 Verdict.

HAMILTON CASE

Council Transfers Fund of $10,515 to Pay Salaries.

Expressing the opinion that the liability is one which rests with the street car company and not with the municipality, members of council, at a special meeting Saturday night, instructed Solicitor Frank Hoover to file a petition in common pleas court asking that the verdict of $650 against the city in the damage case fo Mrs. Jennie Hamilton, College street, be set aside.

Solons Hughes, Poole, Goodballet and Farrall voted affirmatively, while Councilmen Hayes and Heddleston, urging a conference with the traction company to discuss the claim, cast their votes against the motion.

Attorney Ben L. Bennett, counsel for Mrs. Hamilton, appeared before the solons to explain the accident in which two suits, for $10,000 each, had been filed against The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company and the city. Mrs. Hamilton, he claimed, had received permanent injuries when she stepped into a hole in the street paving while crossing Broadway in front of the waiting room.

The street car company, Bennett said, had settled their suit by the payment of $650 and the same offer had been made to drop the proceedings against the city. Council about a month ago enacted legislation instructing the solicitor to settle the claim for this figure but the ordinance was vetoed by Mayor Benedum. Despite the veto, the solicitor is said to have gone into court with attorneys for the plaintiff and agreed to a $650 judgment against the city.

Attorney Bennett said that the primary liability of the accident rested with the street car company inasmuch as the hole in the street into which Mrs. Hamilton had stepped was alongside the street car tracks. He said that the city could recover from the traction company any judgment which might be returned against the municipality in the damage suit. The attorney expressed the belief that a judgment of $2,000 to $3,000 against the city would be returned if the case were carried into court. Mrs. Hamilton, he declared, had already spent several hundred dollars in physicians' bills and was arranging for another operation upon her knee.

Councilman Farrall said that the city should not be held liable for one cent of damage and offered a motion that the solicitor be instructed to petition the court to set aside the verdict. Hughes seconded the motion.

Solon Hayes declared that council should meet representatives of the street car company in an effort to have the company assume the damage claim. Councilman Heddleston expressed the same opinion.

Motion to set aside the verdict must be filed before court adjourns next Friday.

The legislators also approved an ordinance transferring $10,515 to the safety department to pay the salaries of members of the police and fire departments. This ordinance was approved by unanimous vote.

The decline of the Flapper is heralded in the victory of a quiet, unbobbed girl as America's new Queen of Beauty. Her hair is unbobbed, her hair is dark, her eyes are blue and her complexion fair. She is far from the "flapper" style.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—With few exceptions industrial stocks continued their decline to slightly lower price levels in the early trading today. Professional traders flooded the market with selling orders in the industrial leaders in the motor, steel accessory and oil lists, and against these offerings no progress in the upward movement of prices could be made.

There were no signs of an easing up in the call money market, where renewal rates were again posted at 5 per cent, but funds were in good supply, and bankers looked for an improvement after the quarterly income tax day on Wednesday. Industrial and business reports were generally favorable, and a decrease in brokers' loans was looked for in the weekly statement by the Reserve bank.

On its new basis, General Motors opened at 142¼, which compares with a final price of 143¾ for the stock on the curb on Saturday. The stock made some progress to above 143, but promptly retreated to around 140½, where a good volume of stock was sold.

Studebaker was the strong spot of the Independent Motors and sold at the year's high price 61½. The accessory stocks, as well as the rubber and tire stocks, moved downward, in well directed selling. Pullman led a moderate rally in the equipments, in which Baldwin and Lima participated. Oil and copper stocks, sugar tobaccos and specialties were inactive rather than weak, but price trends were mostly downward.

Commodity markets were steady, with grain and cotton inactive and featureless.

22 Words, Badly Misspelled, May Save Condemned Men

DEADHAM, Mass, Sept. 13.—Twenty-two words, badly misspelled and scrawled over a ragged sheet of cheap paper, may save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vansetti, Italian communists, from the electric chair.

The words, written by Celestino Madeiros of New Bedford, convicted Portuguese murderer of a Wrentham bank cashier, are:

"I hearby confess to being in the South Braintree Shoe Company crime and Sacco and Vanzetti was not in said crime." Celestino Medeiros.

The brief note was written by Madeiros in the Deadham jail in a last-minute effort to save Sacco and Vanzetti from the chair for slaying a shoe company payroll messenger and his guard six years ago. As a result of the note Governor Fuller has extended the date of Madeiros' execution pending the outcome of the plea before Judge Webster Thayer today for a new trial for the two Italians.

KLANSMEN POUR INTO CAPITAL FOR CONCLAVE

Claim 25,000 Robed Figures Will March in Parade.

SPECIAL TRAINS

Police Take Precautions Against Possible Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.— They spelled the national capital with a capital "K" today.

In travel-stained automobiles and by special train, some thousands of Ku Klux Klansmen and their women folk poured into the city from a half a dozen nearby states for the demonstration the hooded order is to stage between the capitol dome and the White House.

The big event is the parade, scheduled for 3 o'clock this afternoon, down historic Pennsylvania avenue from the capital to the executive mansion. Klan officials have claimed that 25,000 robed figures will be in line, but police and other estimates do not run half as high. Last year's parade had about 30,000.

A number of special trains ran into Union station during the night and discharged hundreds of white-robed passengers. Some came from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and there was one of 14 cars from Florida. Nearby Maryland and Virginia furnished a few trainloads and innumerable dusty automobile caravans.

After today's parade there will be a business session of the national leaders, the exact nature of which they refuse to reveal.

Police are taking precautions against any possible trouble. Pennsylvania avenue will be closed to traffic from 2 p. m. until the conclusion of the parade, with policemen in every block, and lines of fire hose laid for possible emergencies. The police, however, as last year, when the visitors ever, were not so concerned over the number twice as many, and everything went off as peacefully as a Boy Scouts' parade.

Vestryman is Ready To Tell Everything In Hall-Mills Case

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 13.—Ralph Gorsline, declaring he had been made a scapegoat in the Hall-Mills murder case announced today to Prosecutor John J. Underwood, that he was ready to do everything in his power to help solve the mystery of the killings.

Gorsline, who was a vestryman in the church of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and sang in the choir with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, the woman slain with the minister, has admitted that he was near the scene of the crime, and heard shots and screams.

He was accompanied on the fatal night by Miss Catherine Rastall, who has corroborated his story of the tragedy. Gorsline stated that his home had been broken up, and his daughter's life at school made unbearable by insinuations against him.

France Delivers Protest.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—France has already delivered a mild protest to Premier Mussolini against Italian attacks upon France in connection with the attempt to assassinate Mussolini last Saturday.

The French charge at Rome, after conveying the congratulations of the French government upon the escape of Mussolini, registered a protest against an article in the Giornale D' Italia, which attacked France in connection with the outrage. The French charge expressed to Premier Mussolini the hopes of his government that the Italian government would take steps to prevent opinion being led astray.

This protest, it is understood, was delicately phrased but was intended as an indication of the French government's displeasure with the statements made by Premier Mussolini himself with regard to the French tolerance of anti-Facist activities.

Press Under Restraint.

While the public in France is aroused over Premier Mussolini's speech, the press is under restrain as it has been requested by government spokesmen to realize that Mussolini's speech was delivered in the heat of the moment for home consumption.

Le Temps, which is regarded as speaking for the government, says: "Just as France will not tolerate any abuse of its hospitality, neither will she admit that any action can be taken against foreigners who are under her protection and whose only crime is that they are not in agreement wit the government of their own country.

The newspapers point out that an Italian assassinated the former President Carnot of France, at Lyons, but that there was no outcry for holding the Italian nation responsible.

Jesse Guilford And Mackenzie Off In Golf Tourney

BALTUSROL COUNTRY CLUB, SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 13.—Jesse Guilford ex-champion, and Roland Mackenzie, the 1925 medalist, began the qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship this morning with varying success, Guilford going to the fifth hole with even 4's while the young Washingtonian was four strokes over that magic figure. Mackenzie needed all of five strokes on each of the first three holes and, after getting a par 3 on the water hole at the fourth he took a terrible six on the fifth.

This pair were the only big timers to get away with the early starters.

MIDLAND COPS DIAMOND CLASH

A. B. C. Club Blanks Local League Nine.

Pitcher Dillard, working for the Midland A. B. C., against the Wellsville City Industrial league club, turned in a no-run, no-hit performance as the Pennsylvanians copped a 4-0 decision here Saturday.

Dillard fanned nine men and was given airtight support. Patterson also hurled a good game but three miscues hurt his team's chances.

Officers of the Wellsville club today announced plans for a benefit contest on Saturday, September 25, for Carl Morgan, former player, who was injured recently in an accident in the yards of the Crucible Steel company at Midland. A strong team of all star performers is being organized for the occasion.

The Newell and Chester league clubs, now in the throes of a pennant series, will also play a benefit for Morgan at the close of the flag battles.

ANNONCE PLAN FOR NEW HOTEL

Start Work in Two Weeks on $90,000 Structure.

Plans for the reconstruction of the Riverview hotel, which was totally destroyed a little more than a month ago in one of the most disastrous blazes in the city's history, were announced today by Fred Wilke, the owner.

Wilke expects to let the contract for a new three-story brick building, to cost $90,000, within the next few days and, if plans proceed according to schedule, to have workmen on the site within two weeks. He expects to have the building completed and ready for occupancy within four months.

The building, according to specifications, will have 50 rooms, all to be known as outside rooms, and each with a shower or tub. Each room will be moderately furnished.

On the first floor, in addition to the customary layout, will be a modern dining room.

The greater part of the basement will be turned into a public garage, in which cars driven by hotel guests, can be stored.

Through the recent purchase of the adjoining property, formerly owned by George Petrakes, who operated a candy manufacturing establishment before the fire, Wilke will be able to completely isolate the hotel structure through the construction of an alley or passage way off Main street.

Workmen are now engaged in clearing off the bricks and debris remaining from the fire ruins.

SOUTHALL STILL IN JAIL HERE

Robert Bloor, Injured in Auto Accident, Improving.

With his fine of $1,500 still unpaid, David Southall, of the Lincoln highway, near Stop 55, was in jail here today on charges of selling intoxicating liquor.

Southall pleaded not guilty at a hearing before Mayor W. L. Fogo, Saturday to three separate charges of Charles Haines, of State street, East Liverpool; James Perry, of Vine selling, on information given by street, East Liverpool, and Robert Martin, of East End, East Liverpool.

Haines, Perry and Martin, together with Claire Hoffman, of the Northside, East Liverpool, and Robert Bloor of East Liverpool, were occpants of an automobile, which police say was owned by Perry's father and driven by young Perry, which got beyond control of the youth Friday night at the top of the Lisbon road out of Wellsville and was ditched.

Bloor was cut about his head and neck and was taken to the hospital where, it was announced today, he is recovering.

Republicans of New Hampshire True to Tradition

When Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire failed to win renomination in the recent gubernatorial primaries in that state the Republicans were merely holding to a tradition. Not since 1878, when the two-year term for governor was adopted, has the state sent a governor back for the second term. Huntley N. Spaulding above, was the G. O. P. choice in the recent primaries.

ANNE NICHOLS' HIT IS COMING

"Abie's Irish Rose" at Ceramic for Two Days.

A signal event in local stage history will be the engagement here at the Ceramic theatre for two days, Thursday and Friday, of Anne Nichols record-breaking comedy success, 'Abie's Irish Rose."

This wonder play is now in its fifth year at the Republic theatre, New York, and ran over a year at the Studebaker theatre, Chicago.

HOOVER CALLED UPON TO FIGHT DAMAGE CASE

City Will Ask Court to Set Aside $650 Verdict.

HAMILTON CASE

Council Transfers Fund of $10,515 to Pay Salaries.

Expressing the opinion that the liability is one which rests with the street car company and not with the municipality, members of council, at a special meeting Saturday night, instructed Solicitor Frank Hoover to file a petition in common pleas court asking that the verdict of $650 against the city in the damage case fo Mrs. Jennie Hamilton, College street, be set aside.

Solons Hughes, Poole, Goodballet and Farrall voted affirmatively, while Councilmen Hayes and Heddleston, urging a conference with the traction company to discuss the claim, cast their votes against the motion.

Attorney Ben L. Bennett, counsel for Mrs. Hamilton, appeared before the solons to explain the accident in which two suits, for $10,000 each, had been filed against The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company and the city. Mrs. Hamilton, he claimed, had received permanent injuries when she stepped into a hole in the street paving while crossing Broadway in front of the waiting room.

The street car company, Bennett said, had settled their suit by the payment of $650 and the same offer had been made to drop the proceedings against the city. Council about a month ago enacted legislation instructing the solicitor to settle the claim for this figure but the ordinance was vetoed by Mayor Benedum. Despite the veto, the solicitor is said to have gone into court with attorneys for the plaintiff and agreed to a $650 judgment against the city.

Attorney Bennett said that the primary liability of the accident rested with the street car company inasmuch as the hole in the street into which Mrs. Hamilton had stepped was alongside the street car tracks. He said that the city could recover from the traction company any judgment which might be returned against the municipality in the damage suit. The attorney expressed the belief that a judgment of $2,000 to $3,000 against the city would be returned if the case were carried into court. Mrs. Hamilton, he declared, had already spent several hundred dollars in physicians' bills and was arranging for another operation upon her knee.

Councilman Farrall said that the city should not be held liable for one cent of damage and offered a motion that the solicitor be instructed to petition the court to set aside the verdict. Hughes seconded the motion.

Solon Hayes declared that council should meet representatives of the street car company in an effort to have the company assume the damage claim. Councilman Heddleston expressed the same opinion.

Motion to set aside the verdict must be filed before court adjourns next Friday.

The legislators also approved an ordinance transferring $10,515 to the safety department to pay the salaries of members of the police and fire departments. This ordinance was approved by unanimous vote.

"Flapper" Type Doomed by Victory of "Miss Tulsa" in Beauty Contest

The decline of the Flapper is heralded in the victory of a quiet, unbobbed girl as America's new Queen of Beauty. She is Miss Norma Smallwood, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, whose winsome loveliness gained the Atlantic City pageant decision for her over "Miss Washington" and "Miss New York," who took second and third place respectively. Her hair is unbobbed, her hair is dark, her eyes are blue and her complexion fair. She is far from the "flapper" style.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—With few exceptions industrial stocks continued their decline to slightly lower price levels in the early trading today. Professional traders flooded the market with selling orders in the industrial leaders in the motor, steel accessory and oil lists, and against these offerings no progress in the upward movement of prices could be made.

There were no signs of an easing up in the call money market, where renewal rates were again posted at 5 per cent, but funds were in good supply, and bankers looked for an improvement after the quarterly income tax day on Wednesday. Industrial and business reports were generally favorable, and a decrease in brokers' loans was looked for in the weekly statement by the Reserve bank.

On its new basis, General Motors opened at 142¼, which compares with a final price of 143⅜ for the stock on the curb on Saturday. The stock made some progress to above 143, but promptly retreated to around 140½, where a good volume of stock was sold.

Studebaker was the strong spot of the Independent Motors and sold at the year's high price 61½. The accessory stocks, as well as the rubber and tire stocks, moved downward, in well directed selling. Pullman led a moderate rally in the equipments, in which Baldwin and Lima participated. Oil and copper stocks, sugar tobaccos and specialties were inactive rather than weak, but price trends were mostly downward.

Commodity markets were steady, with grain and cotton inactive and featureless.

22 Words, Badly Misspelled, May Save Condemned Men

DEADHAM, Mass, Sept. 13.—Twenty-two words, badly misspelled and scrawled over a ragged sheet of cheap paper, may save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vansetti, Italian communists, from the electric chair.

The words, written by Celestino Madeiros of New Bedford, convicted Portuguese murderer of a Wrentham bank cashier, are:

"I hearby confess to being in the South Braintree Shoe Company crime and Sacco and Vanzetti was not in said crime." Celestino Medeiros.

The brief note was written by Madeiros in the Deadham jail in a last-minute effort to save Sacco and Vanzetti from the chair for slaying a shoe company payroll messenger and his guard six years ago. As a result of the note Governor Fuller has extended the date of Madeiros' execution pending the outcome of the plea before Judge Webster Thayer today for a new trial for the two Italians.

KLANSMEN POUR INTO CAPITAL FOR CONCLAVE

Claim 25,000 Robed Figures Will March in Parade.

SPECIAL TRAINS

Police Take Precautions Against Possible Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.— They spelled the national capital with a capital "K" today.

In travel-stained automobiles and by special train, some thousands of Ku Klux Klansmen and their women folk poured into the city from a half a dozen nearby states for the demonstration the hooded order is to stage between the capitol dome and the White House.

The big event is the parade, scheduled for 3 o'clock this afternoon, down historic Pennsylvania avenue from the capital to the executive mansion. Klan officials have claimed that 25,000 robed figures will be in line, but police and other estimates do not run half as high. Last year's parade had about 30,000.

A number of special trains ran into Union station during the night and discharged hundreds of white-robed passengers. Some came from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and there was one of 14 cars from Florida. Nearby Maryland and Virginia furnished a few trainloads and innumerable dusty automobile caravans.

After today's parade there will be a business session of the national leaders, the exact nature of which they refuse to reveal.

Police are taking precautions against any possible trouble. Pennsylvania avennue will be closed to traffic from 2 p. m. until the conclusion of the parade, with policemen in every block, and lines of fire hose laid for possible emergencies. The police, however, as last year, when the visitors ever, were not so concerned over the number twice as many, and everything went off as peacefully as a Boy Scouts' parade.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 13.—Ralph Gorsline, declaring he had been made a scapegoat in the Hall-Mills murder case announced today to Prosecutor John J. Underwood, that he was ready to do everything in his power to help solve the mystery of the killings.

Gorsline, who was a vestryman in the church of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and sang in the choir with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, the woman slain with the minister, has admitted that he was near the scene of the crime, and heard shots and screams.

He was accompanied on the fatal night by Miss Catherine Rastall, who has corroborated his story of the tragedy. Gorsline stated that his home had been broken up, and his daughter's life at school made unbearable by insinuations against him.

France Delivers Protest.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—France has already delivered a mild protest to Premier Mussolini against Italian attacks upon France in connection with the attempt to assassinate Mussolini last Saturday.

The French charge at Rome, after conveying the congratulations of the French government upon the escape of Mussolini, registered a protest against an article in the Giornale D' Italia, which attacked France in connection with the outrage. The French charge expressed to Premier Mussolini the hopes of his government that the Italian government would take steps to prevent opinion being led astray.

This protest, it is understood, was delicately phrased but was intended as an indication of the French government's displeasure with the statements made by Premier Mussolini himself with regard to the French tolerance of anti-Facist activities.

Press Under Restraint.

While the public in France is aroused over Premier Mussolini's speech, the press is under restrain as it has been requested by government spokesmen to realize that Mussolini's speech was delivered in the heat of the moment for home consumption.

Le Temps, which is regarded as speaking for the government, says: "Just as France will not tolerate any abuse of its hospitality, neither will she admit that any action can be taken against foreigners who are under her protection and whose only crime is that they are not in agreement wit the government of their own country.

The newspapers point out that an Italian assassinated the former President Carnot of France, at Lyons, but that there was no outcry for holding the Italian nation responsible.

Jesse Guilford And Mackenzie Off In Golf Tourney

BALTUSROL COUNTRY CLUB, SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 13.—Jesse Guilford ex-champion, and Roland Mackenzie, the 1925 medalist, began the qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship this morning with varying success, Guilford going to the fifth hole with even 4's while the young Washingtonian was four strokes over that magic figure. Mackenzie needed all of five strokes on each of the first three holes and, after getting a par 3 on the water hole at the fourth he took a terrible six on the fifth.

This pair were the only big timers to get away with the early starters.

JOCKEY DIES AS RESULT OF FALL

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—Frank Batiste, 33, New Orleans jockey, is dead here today as the result of injuries caused by a spill at the Brooklyn track last week.

THREE FACE DRY LAW COUNT

One Man Pays $100; Another's Fines are Suspended.

Three alleged liquor law violators were nabbed by police during the week-end.

Philip Wingrove was arrested at his home in Rural lane, charged with the home in Rural lane, charged with illegal possession after Chief of Police McDermott and Captain Conley located a gallon of moonshipe whiskey. He paid a fine of $100 and costs after arraignment before Municipal Judge Hanley today.

The houseboat of Scott Bailey, at the foot of Union street, was raided Saturday afternoon by Chief McDermott. Police found five half pint bottles of liquor on which were tied strings hanging over the side of the boat. Bailey was fined $100 and costs upon a charge of the illegal possession and $50 and costs for being drunk.

Both fines were suspended upon condition that Bailey with his family of seven children leave the houseboat.

John Croxall was arrested in Rural lane Saturday night, charged with selling liquor. He will be arraigned this afternoon.

The claim papers to $7,000,000 in property of the American Metl company as filed by the Society Suisse through Richard Merton, German financier, on July 6, 1921, were read to the jury this morning.

STAGE ADVICE BY MAE MACK

"No Small Bottles, No Flirtations," She Warns.

"No small bottles, no flirtations." Let the girl who wants to go on the stage and be a successful star remember this," is one of the many emphatic admonitions given by charming Mae Mack of the Red Mack Players, the big musical comedy company now playing at the Strand theatre.

Miss Mack says: "It's a hard, hard row to hoe even for a girl who has health, beauty and influential friends to help her make a start. Girls are attracted by the glamor and the lights and seldom look deeper into the gaudy tinsel trimmings. If any of them had the slightest idea of the endless amount of work in the production of —say, one song, she would have her artistic ambitions curtailed at the very start.

"The first thing to do is to get a playright who understands you and your individual style. Then you think and study and plan to elaborate some idea until both your heads are in a state of unparalleled giddiness. At last the lyrics are in order and the work commences in earnest. Every line, every word, every phrase has to be analyzed.

"Then comes the costumer. The gown must fit the song; it must fit the wearer and it must harmonize with the general color scheme of the act. Nothing is left to chance, everything is eliminated that could, by any means, mar the effect.

"After all things are completed, every detail perfect, you set a date to try out your new masterpiece—the song that is to create a furor—to make you famous, as it were. Your mother goes out in front to encourage you, the manager stands, all attention, in the rear, the orchestra is perceptibly nervous (for orchestras hate new songs) and the whole atmosphere seems surcharged with expectancy.

"Your introduction is played and the song is launched. You sing with all the fervor you can command, you dance with all the skill you possess, you act (as you think) with becoming warmth; then you await for the approval of your supreme critic—"the audience"—and in the awful silence that follows you know that the song is doomed.

"Then comes the reaction, storming at the audience, wild raving at the song, abuse of yourself for your rendition of it and a hurry call for the playright, with some brand new ideas for another lyric. Perhaps this process is repeated a dozen times or more with varying results, till you finally get a song that thoroughly pleases. And this is but one of the trials of the stage.

"Now do you see the point of the bottle and flirtation story? All your time must be free to apply to your art. I might add, small flirtations are distracting; and men are demoralizing. Think it over well, girls, and then—marry some nice boy and be happy."

Republicans of New Hampshire True to Tradition

When Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire failed to win renomination in the recent gubernatorial primaries in that state the Republicans were merely holding to a tradition. Not since 1878, when the two-year term for governor was adopted, has the state sent a governor back for the second term. Huntley N. Spaulding above, was the G. O. P. choice in the recent primaries.

ANNE NICHOLS' HIT IS COMING

"Abie's Irish Rose" at Ceramic for Two Days.

A signal event in local stage history will be the engagement here at the Ceramic theatre for two days, Thursday and Friday, of Anne Nichols record-breaking comedy success, 'Abie's Irish Rose."

This wonder play is now in its fifth year at the Republic theatre, New York, and ran over a year at the Studebaker theatre, Chicago.

Loses Auto and Disposition.

MARION, O.—Earl Miller, Marion, had a perfectly good borrowed automobile and a friendly disposition toward hikers before he started on a trip to Galion.

Before he reached his destination he was minus both. The machine was stolen by two youths he gave a lift and he subsequently lost his disposition. The car has not been found.

HOFFEE HELD ON RUM CHARGE

Man Wanted Since July 30 Captured at Point of Gun.

George Hoffee, formerly of Lisbon, against whom an affidavit was filed in the court of Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon, July 30, charging him with possessing implements for the manufacturing of liquor, was arrested in Hanover township Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and Constable Clarence Wetzel of Center township.

When officers went to the home of a relative of Hoffee, the suspect jumped out of a parlor window and ran to the woods in an effort to escape. He hid himself in a thicket, and when the officers threatened to shoot, Hoffee raised his head and looked into a gun held by Constable Wetzel. He was then placed under arrest and later held under $2,000 bail for the grand jury.

Hoffee left the county last July after Albert Shasteen, a tenant in the Hoffee property in Hanover township, had been arrested on a similar charge. In the raid, police found a still at work in the basement of the house ae well as sugar, mash and corn liquor.

After Shasteen had been placed in jail, the raiders made another trip to the house and confiscated the contrabrand.

Shasteen entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned, and was bound over to the grand jury. He declared the still was in the house when he rented it from Hoffee, and when Hoffee was arraigned Saturday afternoon he admitted trucking mash and sugar to the house.

STAGE ADVICE BY MAE MACK

"No Small Bottles, No Flirtations," She Warns.

"No small bottles, no flirtations." Let the girl who wants to go on the stage and be a successful star remember this," is one of the many emphatic admonitions given by charming Mae Mack of the Red Mack Players, the big musical comedy company now playing at the Strand theatre.

Miss Mack says: "It's a hard, hard row to hoe even for a girl who has health, beauty and influential friends to help her make a start. Girls are attracted by the glamor and the lights and seldom look deeper into the gaudy tinsel trimmings. If any of them had the slightest idea of the endless amount of work in the production of —say, one song, she would have her artistic ambitions curtailed at the very start.

"The first thing to do is to get a playright who understands you and your individual style. Then you think and study and plan to elaborate some idea until both your heads are in a state of unparalleled giddiness. At last the lyrics are in order and the work commences in earnest. Every line, every word, every phrase has to be analyzed.

"Then comes the costumer. The gown must fit the song; it must fit the wearer and it must harmonize with the general color scheme of the act. Nothing is left to chance, everything is eliminated that could, by any means, mar the effect.

"After all things are completed, every detail perfect, you set a date to try out your new masterpiece—the song that is to create a furor—to make you famous, as it were. Your mother goes out in front to encourage you, the manager stands, all attention, in the rear, the orchestra is perceptibly nervous (for orchestras hate new songs) and the whole atmosphere seems surcharged with expectancy.

"Your introduction is played and the song is launched. You sing with all the fervor you can command, you dance with all the skill you possess, you act (as you think) with becoming warmth; then you await for the approval of your supreme critic—"the audience"—and in the awful silence that follows you know that the song is doomed.

"Then comes the reaction, storming at the audience, wild raving at the song, abuse of yourself for your rendition of it and a hurry call for the playright, with some brand new ideas for another lyric. Perhaps this process is repeated a dozen times or more with varying results, till you finally get a song that thoroughly pleases. And this is but one of the trials of the stage.

"Now do you see the point of the bottle and flirtation story? All your time must be free to apply to your art. I might add, small flirtations are distracting; and men are demoralizing. Think it over well, girls, and then—marry some nice boy and be happy."

HOFFEE HELD ON RUM CHARGE

Man Wanted Since July 30 Captured at Point of Gun.

George Hoffee, formerly of Lisbon, against whom an affidavit was filed in the court of Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon, July 30, charging him with possessing implements for the manufacturing of liquor, was arrested in Hanover township Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and Constable Clarence Wetzel of Center township.

When officers went to the home of a relative of Hoffee, the suspect jumped out of a parlor window and ran to the woods in an effort to escape. He hid himself in a thicket, and when the officers threatened to shoot, Hoffee raised his head and looked into a gun held by Constable Wetzel. He was then placed under arrest and later held under $2,000 bail for the grand jury.

Hoffee left the county last July after Albert Shasteen, a tenant in the Hoffee property in Hanover township, had been arrested on a similar charge. In the raid, police found a still at work in the basement of the house ae well as sugar, mash and corn liquor.

After Shasteen had been placed in jail, the raiders made another trip to the house and confiscated the contrabrand.

Shasteen entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned, and was bound over to the grand jury. He declared the still was in the house when he rented it from Hoffee, and when Hoffee was arraigned Saturday afternoon he admitted trucking mash and sugar to the house.

STAGE ADVICE BY MAE MACK

"No Small Bottles, No Flirtations," She Warns.

"No small bottles, no flirtations." Let the girl who wants to go on the stage and be a successful star remember this," is one of the many emphatic admonitions given by charming Mae Mack of the Red Mack Players, the big musical comedy company now playing at the Strand theatre.

Miss Mack says: "It's a hard, hard row to hoe even for a girl who has health, beauty and influential friends to help her make a start. Girls are attracted by the glamor and the lights and seldom look deeper into the gaudy tinsel trimmings. If any of them had the slightest idea of the endless amount of work in the production of —say, one song, she would have her artistic ambitions curtailed at the very start.

"The first thing to do is to get a playright who understands you and your individual style. Then you think and study and plan to elaborate some idea until both your heads are in a state of unparalleled giddiness. At last the lyrics are in order and the work commences in earnest. Every line, every word, every phrase has to be analyzed.

"Then comes the costumer. The gown must fit the song; it must fit the wearer and it must harmonize with the general color scheme of the act. Nothing is left to chance, everything is eliminated that could, by any means, mar the effect.

"After all things are completed, every detail perfect, you set a date to try out your new masterpiece—the song that is to create a furor—to make you famous, as it were. Your mother goes out in front to encourage you, the manager stands, all attention, in the rear, the orchestra is perceptibly nervous (for orchestras hate new songs) and the whole atmosphere seems surcharged with expectancy.

"Your introduction is played and the song is launched. You sing with all the fervor you can command, you dance with all the skill you possess, you act (as you think) with becoming warmth; then you await for the approval of your supreme critic—"the audience"—and in the awful silence that follows you know that the song is doomed.

"Then comes the reaction, storming at the audience, wild raving at the song, abuse of yourself for your rendition of it and a hurry call for the playright, with some brand new ideas for another lyric. Perhaps this process is repeated a dozen times or more with varying results, till you finally get a song that thoroughly pleases. And this is but one of the trials of the stage.

"Now do you see the point of the bottle and flirtation story? All your time must be free to apply to your art. I might add, small flirtations are distracting; and men are demoralizing. Think it over well, girls, and then—marry some nice boy and be happy."

Sol McCoy's Laughlins Draw First Blood In City Series

Two Hits, a Pass and McMath's Error Give Visitors Three Runs in Ninth and Ties Score, 4-4; Cebula's Miscue, Plus Two More Safe Drives in Final Inning, Clinches Game.

Calling upon every available resource, utilizing every strategic move and fighting until the last man was out, Laughlin and Chester, clashing Saturday at Smith field in the first game of the "baby world's series" for supremacy in the City Industrial league, battled for 10 innings before a capacity crowd before the Riley cohorts bent the knee in submission to a last inning rally by the Laughlinites that enabled McCoy and his crew to shove off with a 6 to 4 conquest.

Two hits, a pass and an error by Second Baseman McMath in the ninth, translated into three runs, brought Laughlin from behind to tie the score at 4 to 4. Then, in the tenth, a miscue by Pete Cebula plus two more safe drives gave the visitors two more runs and the game. Briggle, supplanting Ashe in the ninth and tenth, blanked Chester in both periods.

With "Mike" Cebula unable to work because of a sprained wrist sustained in a dash for second in last week's game with Turk-Nash, P. Bennett, schoolboy twirler, accepted the responsibility of the flinging role for Chester. And until the fateful errors of McMath and Cebula behind him in the ninth and tenth, he had "curve balled" Laughlin into what seemed certain defeat.

Pitches Great Game.

Until the ninth he had blanked Laughlin in all but two frames. One run was made off him in the seventh which, had L. McMath covered second, might have been prevented since a double play would possibly have been consummated. In that interim he had allowed but three hits, scattered, from Crawford, the first man facing him in the first, to Bubin, first man up in the fifth. He fanned 10, walked three and hit one. Once, in seven chances, he missed, on a running assist, touching the first bag, an almost excusable miscue in the rush to which he was put.

Opposing him was the elongated and speedy Ashe. He, too, was in rare form. He also, after a bad start, when two bunts got away from him and Herbert, following a single, augmented by his hitting of Wilde and forcing in the first run that paved the way for two more in that period and another in the second due to two blows, a steal and a passed ball, blanked Chester for six straight innjngs. Taken out for W. Watson, a pinch hitter in the crucial ninth, he was succeeded by Briggle, who in the best form he has shown this year, kept scoreless the batters facing him for the two final innings of play. Ashe struck out six, walked two and hit one.

Chester scored in the first two innings of play, three and one while Laughlin duplicated the feat in the final two periods of activity, three and two with another in the fifth.

McMath's Error Costly.

Chester was laeding 4 to 1, at the outset of the ninth. Parsons flew to L. McMath. Finley walked. Herbert singled to right. Then the managerial gray matter began to function on the Laughlin bench. Finley had reached third on the blow and Herbert scored on the throw to the hot corner. L. Digman, nemesis of Chester in the first half and recently back from a visit to the wilds of Idaho, was sent in to hit for Babb, who previously had not driven the ball out of the infield. Digman sent a liner to P. Cebula, who assisted to Heckathorne, retiring the western visitor but at the cost of a run for Parsons ambled across the plate and Herbert took third making the figures, 4 to 2. Then Bubin drove to L. McMath. Handled, the play would have made the third put out, but the second sacker juggled the ball and got it to first too late as Herbert scored. It was now a 4 to 3 situation. Aufterheide ran for Bubin. A passed put "Aufty" on second. Sayers singled to right, but Aufterheide seemingly was held from scoring and camped on third base.

Bedlam now broke loose among the Laughlin rooters. The youthful, but brilliant W. Watson was sent to bat for the veteran Ashe. As he batted a passed ball permitted Aufterheide to count and the score was evened, 4 to 4. Watson then walked.

Crawford, facing his old B. & W. associate had the chance to win the game then and there, but Bennett fanned him, the feat being the third consecutive time that the clever gardener, after singling the first time up, had swung and missed.

After Aufterheide, in right muffed P. Bennett't fly in Chester's half of the ninth, Briggle retired Evans, C. Marshall, swatting for Heckathorne and P. Cebula in a row.

Digman Hits Timely.

Digman, now playing first, after starting the serious batting rally of his team in the ninth by driving in the club's second run with a timely triple to deep right, scored two runs and won the contest for Laughlin in the tenth. Hunselman, up, fanned. Parsons drove to P. Cebula, who fumbled and the gardener was safe instead of registering the second put out. Finley flew to Evans, a play that should have retired the side barring the aforesaid miscue. Herbert singled to right, putting Parsons on third and himself on second on the throw-in. Then Digman did his stuff. It was a mighty swat, the ball going into the gully beyond C. Marshall in right as Parsons and Herbert scampered across the plate, making the count 6 to 4. Then Aufterheide fanned.

Chester still had a chance. Wilde, up, flew to Aufterheide. Steffel, batting for L. McMath, fanned. Potts revived hopes by singling to left, but F. Marshall, for the fifth consecutive time, failed to reach first base as the steady Sayers threw him out at first and the game was history.

Crawford, the brilliant Laughlin gardener thrilled the spectators with the most brilliant play of the game when, in the seventh, he ran back and sideways into middle-left and with his back to the crowd pulled down on a hard run Heckathorne's near home run. Then in turn he captured flies from P. Cebula and Wilde's bat, retiring the entire side himself. He was roundly cheered as he came to the bench, but refused to doff the now famous green cap he always affects.

Herbert's play back of third in knocking down Pott's hard drive and his resultant long assist to first in the fifth was another that stood out in the great contest.

Bubin captured three dangerous flies to right before, two of them stopping potential runs.

Evans, in grabbing Finley's fly in the tenth also made a fine play. P. Cebula missed one of eight chances.

Sayers was a veritable stone wall at second where he accepted five chances while hitting at a .500 clip for the day, a batting feat that Herbert duplicated.

Potts led both clubs in hitting with a double and two singles in five attempts, a .600 mark while P. Cebula followed with one blow less, making for a .400 average during the defeat for his team.

BOBBY JONES SHOOTS FOR NEW GOLF MARK

GENE'S "RIGHT;" HE'S PEEVISH

Slams Partners Savagely in Four-round Workout.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Gene Tunney is on edge and therefore peevish and sullen, which is a sure sign of condition. The challenger for Jack Dempsey's title is reasonably close to physical perfection and he is, as a result, about the most irritable human being on the face of the earth. He is willing to quarrel with his closest friends with or without provocation. Moreover he does.

Tunney has worked hard, lost most of his excess weight and his nerves, as a result, have become a bit frazzled.

Tunney is not stale, nor dangerously near staleness. He is just "in shape" and therefore peevish.

Tunney boxed four rounds yesterday. Boxed without paying much attention to the feeling of his sparring partners. He crossed to the jaws of Billy Vidabeck and Harold Mays and belted them about the body viciously. A snarl transfixed his usually calm face most of the time as he ducked and dodged his sparring partners' punches and countered them.

Johnny Dundee, Harry Perrson and Jimmy DeForest watched his work and liked his form. Dundee, a former champion, said that Dempsey was in good shape but that Tunney was in even better condition. Dundee predicted that Gene will defeat the champion.

DeForest, too, liked Tunney's condition. The former trainer of Dempsey estimated that he was not overly enthusiastic about Dempsey's condition.

Tunney will box again today and rest on Tuesday.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The shot in golf that is easiest to make, the long drive, is the one the golfer works hardest to get. The shot that is hardest to make and which often serves the player best, the niblick shot from the trap, is the one he pays the least attention to. Most golfers, when they find their ball in a trap at the side of the green, are satisfied merely to clout at it, hoping for the best—the best in each case being the hope that the ball will stop somewhere on the green or not too far away from it, if it gets out of the trap at all. The niblick is a useful club and not by any means is its usefulness confined to lofting the ball from traps. Out of the rough the niblick should invariably be used, while for pitches to hard greens or to small greens it cannot be beaten. The class might well give this week to lessons with the niblick. We will begin tomorrow.

EVEN MONEY ON BANTAM FIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Bets at even money were being made today on the Charlie Rosenberg-Bud Taylor bantamweight title match scheduled for Cubs' park Thursday, Sept. 16. The trend of the sentiment indicates that Champion Rosenberg may enter the ring a 5 to 3 favorite.

TUNNEY'S NICE BOY SAYS JACK

Champ Sure of Winning, But How Soon—He Won't Say.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13.—Discovered in his cottage, in the act of trying to apply a combination headlock and half Nelson upon the frames of Mike Trant and Jerry the Greek, at once and the same time, Jack Dempsey was asked:

"How long do you think this Tunney fight will last?"

"Wait a minute—wait until I get these dudes pinned," replied Dempsey and with a final twist of Trant's arm and a final squeeze on Jerry's head, he flopped both men, sat on them. Demanded that they cry "uncle" and when they did, he climbed up and said:

"Well, of we were battling with books and Shakespeare and this fellow Shelley and this Keats and that I guess I'd lose in half minute. But this thing is with gloves, isn't it? And that makes a difference. How long will it last? Say I'm not a fortune teller—just a knuckle thrower—that's all. So I cannot do any answering. I'll do it in the ring."

"What do you think of Tunney?" pursued the interviewer.

"A nice boy, great scholar, too," answered the champion, and I hear he has a good sock in either hand and he's mighty clever on defense. We'll he'll need to be. I have my title at stake when I meet him and I sort of like this thing of being champion, even if it has added a lot of lawyers to my payroll. And I don't like to lose, at that."

"I sure think I'll win but I don't know when or how long," he said. And Dempsey's whole attitude reflects a calm, quiet confidence. The mere fact that he spends part of his time roughing it and frolicking around with his attaches demonstrates that his mental adjustment is perfect. He doesn't seem to have a real care in the world nor a worry. His appetite is splendid and when night comes and he hits the pillow he's off to sleep inside of five minutes.

Favorite To Capture National Amateur Go

Faces Prospect of Being First Man to Win Title Over Three Successive Campaigns, and Add to Laurels as Open Champion of America and Great Britain.

BALTUSROL COUNTRY CLUB, SHORT HILLS, N. J. Sept. —Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., and 151 ordinary mortals this morning will begin the week-long quest that leads to rainbow's end and the title of amateur champion of golfing America. No pot of gold awaits the ultimate survivor at the end of the multi-colored trail; no promise of mere wealth beyond the dreams of evarice.

Fortunate, indeed, is the man who loses all else save honor and there will be honor in plenty for the entry who wins the 1926 National Amateur golf championship. If that man should happen to be Bobby Jones, the honors that have been his in the past must be enhanced beyond all reason. If the winner comes from the ranks of the ordinary 151, his new-born greatness must be amplified by the fact that it came to him over the figurative dead body of such a man as Bobby Jones.

What price mere money in these circumstances? It is to laugh. There are millionaires in the field that will break from the barrier in the first half of the 36-hole qualifying round today and the writer could name a few who would gladly lose their wealth for the chance to call the championship cup their own.

Big Chance For Bobby.

To Jones, of course, it is the big moment of his career. Amateur champion in 1924 and 1925, he faces the alluring prospect of being the first man to win the title over three successive campaigns. pen champion of America and Great Britain. He can add this three-time trick to his reperatoire and go down into history as the man who ruled alone.

Can he achieve what many regard as the impossible? Jones can achieve anything. If he wins this title, with all the laws of "percentage" against him, it will cause no great surprise. If he loses, the element of surprise will be lacking again, for everyone knows that witchcraft died in the early days at Salem and that legerdemain cannot be turned off and on like a faucet.

In his salad days as a competitor, there was always some rival who stepped up with a display of unbeatable golf against Jones and national honors were denied him. Today, the positions are reversed. For three years, it was Jones who played unbeatable golf and it was the field that took the beating.

Therefore, when the fact is mentioned that Francis Ouimet, Chick Evans, Max Marston, Jesse Guilford, George Von Elm, Bob Gardner, Roland Mackenzie, Watts Gunn and other big timers will be arrayed against the Atlantic wizard, it is merely to state that the line of Jones' victims is forming on the left.

Play Under Way Today.

However, miracles will happen; so will mistakes. In the last British amateur championship, the only major title yet to elude our hero, he was eliminated before the final round by one Jamieson, who is neither a champ nor chump. Such a form-handspring can happen in this tournament.

MAY USE MIKE IN THIRD TILT

Chester Pilot Not Downcast; McCoy Tossers Optimistic.

DESPITE the fact that his club lost the first game of the "baby world's series" and despite the added facts that "Mike" Cebula will not be available for pitching duty before Wednesday, if then, and that Les McMath, second baseman, will be absent from the club for the remainder of the series, Frank Riley, Chester pilot, refuses to be downcast over his prospects.

"Mike" is suffering from the effects of a sprained wrist, received in a game last week. The swelling has almost disappeared and Manager Riley today declared he hoped to use Cebula against Laughlin Wednesday night. Wilde probably will be his selection tonight.

McMath has left on a vacation. He will be away the remainder of this week and all of next.

It is likely that Evans will be brought in from the outgarden and placed at second, with the two Marshalls and probably Cebula in the field.

The second series battle this evening will be played at Newell field, beginning at 5 o'clock, and will go seven innings. Fleming and Andrew, Midland arbiters, will handle the contest.

Manager McCoy, of Newell, asserts the series is going along as he predicted. He expects a sweeping victory for Laughlin.

CARDS' LEAD IS THREATENED

Pace Setters Now in Front of Reds by Only One Game.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—As a result of double victories by Pittsburgh and Cincinnati yesterday, the Cardinals lead on first place in the National league race is seriously threatened this morning. St. Louis now leads the Reds by only one game, while the Pirates trail Cincinnati by only one and one-half games.

The Cleveland Indians, fighting tooth and nail to get within striking distance of the Yankees, beat Washington again and cut New York's lead to seven games.

Tobin's homer with the bases loaded featured Boston's 11 to 3 victory over the Browns, but the Red Sox tagged Gaston for only two hits in the nightcap and were whitewashed, 1 to 0.

HOFFEE HELD ON RUM CHARGE

Man Wanted Since July 30 Captured at Point of Gun.

George Hoffee, formerly of Lisbon, against whom an affidavit was filed in the court of Justice M. K. Zimerman at Lisbon, July 30, charging him with possessing implements for the manufacturing of liquor, was arrested in Hanover township Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and Constable Clarence Wetzel of Center township.

When officers went to the home of a relative of Hoffee, the suspect jumped out of a parlor window and ran to the woods in an effort to escape. He hid himself in a thicket, and when the officers threatened to shoot, Hoffee raised his head and looked into a gun held by Constable Wetzel. He was then placed under arrest and later held under $2,000 bail for the grand jury.

Hoffee left the county last July after Albert Shasteen, a tenant in the Hoffee property in Hanover township, had been arrested on a similar charge. In the raid, police found a still at work in the basement of the house ae well as sugar, mash and corn liquor.

After Shasteen had been placed in jail, the raiders made another trip to the house and confiscated the contrabrand.

Shasteen entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned, and was bound over to the grand jury. He declared the still was in the house when he rented it from Hoffee, and when Hoffee was arraigned Saturday afternoon he admitted trucking mash and sugar to the house.

Admits He Made Self "at Home" in Pondi House.

Jacob Orestean pleaded guilty in Mayor Clark's court Saturday night to entering the home of John Pondi, near the Beaver creek bridge on the East Liverpool-Lisbon road last Monday night, while the family was away. For four days, it is alleged, he "made himself at home," partaking of all the fruit and vegetables that had been "put up" by Mrs. Pondi for winter use, it is charged.

TILDEN DEFENDS NATIONAL TITLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The national men's tennis championship gets under way at the West Side Tennis club, at Forest Hills this afternoon, with William T. Tilden defending the title which he won for six straight years. Tilden is presented with the opportunity of equalling a record that has stood since 1887, for not since then, when Richard S. Sears won his seventh straight tennis championship, has any man been able to win the United States singles title for seven years in succession.

Opening of a new broadcasting station at Zagreb, Yugoslavia, has quickened the interest in radio there.

proverbial that a strike is always for more pay and shorter hours, but the English miners in the present instance are striking against longer hours and less pay. They have been making a desperate stand against relinquishing any part of the economic advantage they and their forebears have gained through long years of struggle.

For many years they waged a fruitless fight to better their conditions, but by 1908 their organization had grown sufficiently strong to enable them to persuade Parliament to enact a law which gave them an 8-hour day. It is true that there was a last-moment amendment to the act which provided that the day should be reckoned from the first cage down to the last cage up in the mines, which meant really an 8½-hour day, but it was a great victory for the miners.

And having gained that much they went after more, with the result that presently there was a strike and a committee was named to consider the problem. This committee, of which Sir Arthur Balfour was chairman, recommended a seven-hour day, and even said that it might well be six. Whereupon, in 1919, the seven hour day law was enacted, but with the one-winding-time proviso which made it in effect a 7½-hour day.

Post-war conditions speedily brought about a crisis in the coal industry. It appeared that it was in very much the same condition as the coal industry in the United States—over-manned, not always efficiently managed, and with low-cost mines rapidly putting out of business the mines of high operating costs. The operators declared they could not go on unless the miners would agree to a return to the so-called 8-hour day and to a slight reduction in wages. The miners declared they could not live on less wages, and that they would not go backward in the matter of the hours of labor.

That was the deadlock last year when Parliament met the threat of a strike on August 1 by passing the act subsidizing the mines for a period of nine months. At the same time a royal commission was created to make a study of the industry and report in May of this year.

The subsidy, it is charged by the miners, was not as efective as it should have been because it was paid in part to mines that were not entitled to it, and the royal commission failed to come through with an acceptable adjustment proposal. Then came the general strike.

Critics of the productiveness of the average American worker under present day conditions may be interested in knowing that the average annual output of the British miner prior to the strike was 217 tons, whereas in this country the miner produces on an average 655 tons.

SECTION III. That the plans, profiles, specifications and estimates of said proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Engineer and now on file in the Office of the Director of Public Service, where the same are open for public inspection, be and the same are hereby approved.

SECTION IV. That the whole cost of said improvement less one-fiftieth (1/50) thereof shall be assessd by the foot frontage upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit:

All lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement between and including the termini of said improvement, which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefitted by said improvement, and in an amount to be levied and assessed, respectively, pursuant hereto; and the cost of said improvement shall include the cost and expense of the preliminary and other surveys, and of printing and publishing the notices, resolutions and ordinances required, and the serving of said notices, the cost of construction, together with interest on notes and bonds issued in anticipation of the levy and collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

SECTION V. That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in five (5) annual installments with interest on deferred payments, at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the levy and collection thereof; said rate not to exceed six per cent (6%) per annum; provided, that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty (30) days after the passage of the assessing ordinance.

Sol McCoy's Laughlins Draw First Blood In City Series

Two Hits, a Pass and McMath's Error Give Visitors Three Runs in Ninth and Ties Score, 4-4; Cebula's Miscue, Plus Two More Safe Drives in Final Inning, Clinches Game.

Calling upon every available resource, utilizing every strategic move and fighting until the last man was out, Laughlin and Chester, clashing Saturday at Smith field in the first game of the "baby world's series" for supremacy in the City Industrial league, battled for 10 innings before a capacity crowd before the Riley cohorts bent the knee in submission to a last inning rally by the Laughlinites that enabled McCoy and his crew to shove off with a 6 to 4 conquest.

Two hits, a pass and an error by Second Baseman McMath in the ninth, translated into three runs, brought Laughlin from behind to tie the score at 4 to 4. Then, in the tenth, a miscue by Pete Cebula plus two more safe drives gave the visitors two more runs and the game. Briggle, supplanting Ashe in the ninth and tenth, blanked Chester in both periods.

With "Mike" Cebula unable to work because of a sprained wrist sustained in a dash for second in last week's game with Turk-Nash, P. Bennett, schoolboy twirler, accepted the responsibility of the flinging role for Chester. And until the fateful errors of McMath and Cebula behind him in the ninth and tenth, he had "curve balled" Laughlin into what seemed certain defeat.

Pitches Great Game.

Until the ninth he had blanked Laughlin in all but two frames. One run was made off him in the seventh which, had L. McMath covered second, might have been prevented since a double play would possibly have been consummated. In that interim he had allowed but three hits, scattered, from Crawford, the first man facing him in the first, to Bubin, first man up in the fifth. He fanned 10, walked three and hit one. Once, in seven chances, he missed, on a running assist, touching the first bag, an almost excusable miscue in the rush to which he was put.

Opposing him was the elongated and speedy Ashe. He, too, was in rare form. He also, after a bad start, when two bunts got away from him and Herbert, following a single, augmented by his hitting of Wilde and forcing in the first run that paved the way for two more in that period and another in the second due to two blows, a steal and a passed ball, blanked Chester for six straight innings. Taken out for W. Watson, a pinch hitter in the crucial ninth, he was succeeded by Briggle, who in the best form he has shown this year, kept scoreless the batters facing him for the two final innings of play. Ashe struck out six, walked two and hit one.

Chester scored in the first two innings of play, three and one while Laughlin duplicated the feat in the final two periods of activity, three and two with another in the fifth.

McMath's Error Costly.

Chester was laeding 4 to 1, at the outset of the ninth. Parsons flew to L. McMath. Finley walked. Herbert singled to right. Then the managerial gray matter began to function on the Laughlin bench. Finley had reached third on the blow and Herbert scored on the throw to the hot corner. L. Digman, nemesis of Chester in the first half and recently back from a visit to the wilds of Idaho, was sent in to hit for Babb, who previously had not driven the ball out of the infield. Digman sent a liner to P. Cebula, who assisted to Heckathorne, retiring the western visitor but at the cost of a run for Parsons ambled across the plate and Herbert took third making the figures, 4 to 2. Then Bubin drove to L. McMath. Handled, the play would have made the third put out, but the second sacker juggled the ball and got it to first too late as Herbert scored. It was now a 4 to 3 situation, Aufterheide ran for Bubin. A passed put "Aufty" on second. Sayers singled to right, but Aufterheide seemingly was held from scoring and camped on third base.

Bedlam now broke loose among the Laughlin rooters. The youthful, but brilliant W. Watson, was sent to bat for the veteran Ashe. As he batted a passed ball permitted Aufterheide to count and the score was evened, 4 to 4. Watson then walked.

Crawford, facing his old B. & W. associate had the chance to win the game then and there, but Bennett fanned him, the feat being the third consecutive time that the clever gardener, after singling the first time up, had swung and missed.

After Aufterheide, in right muffed P. Bennett's fly in Chester's half of the ninth, Briggle retired Evans, C. Marshall, swatting for Heckathorne and P. Cebula in a row.

Digman Hits Timely.

Digman, now playing first, after starting the serious batting rally of his team in the ninth by driving in the club's second run with a timely triple to deep right, scored two runs and won the contest for Laughlin in the tenth. Hunselman, up, fanned. Parsons drove to P. Cebula, who fumbled and the gardener was safe instead of registering the second put out. Finley flew to Evans, a play that should have retired the side barring the aforesaid miscue. Herbert singled to right, putting Parsons on third and himself on second on the throw-in. Then Digman did his stuff. It was a mighty swat, the ball going into the gully beyond C. Marshall in right as Parsons and Herbert scampered across the plate, making the count 6 to 4. Then Aufterheide fanned.

Chester still had a chance. Wilde, up, flew to Aufterheide. Steffel, batting for L. McMath, fanned. Potts revived hopes by singling to left, but F. Marshall, for the fifth consecutive time, failed to reach first base as the steady Sayers threw him out at first and the game was history.

Crawford, the brilliant Laughlin gardener thrilled the spectators with the most brilliant play of the game when, in the seventh, he ran back and sideways into middle-left and with his back to the crowd pulled down on a hard run Heckathorne's near home run. Then in turn he captured flies from P. Cebula and Wilde's bat, retiring the entire side himself. He was roundly cheered as he came to the bench, but refused to doff the now famous green cap he always affects.

Herbert's play back of third in knocking down Pott's hard drive and his resultant long assist to first in the fifth was another that stood out in the great contest.

Bubin captured three dangerous flies to right before, two of them stopping potential runs.

Evans, in grabbing Finley's fly in the tenth also made a fine play. P. Cebula missed one of eight chances.

Sayers was a veritable stone wall at second where he accepted five chances while hitting at a .500 clip for the day, a batting feat that Herbert duplicated.

Potts led both clubs in hitting with a double and two singles in five attempts, a .600 mark while P. Cebula followed with one blow less, making for a .400 average during the defeat for his team.

The Reds trounced Brooklyn twice, 5 to 0 and 4 to 3, and advanced to within one game of the Cardinals. Pete Donohue held the Dodgers to three hits in the opener and then saved the second game in the ninth when Luque faltered.

Pittsburgh jumped right back into the thick of the fighting by swamping the Giants twice, 5 to 1 and 7 to 1. Aldridge and Meadows pitched gilt-edged ball while Waner starred at bat with two homers, a triple, a double and a single.

Cleveland made it three straight from Washington, winning 14 to 4. Speaker and Burns had a perfect day at bat with four hits apiece, Burns getting his 62nd and 63rd doubles of the season.

BOBBY JONES SHOOTS FOR NEW GOLF MARK

GENE'S "RIGHT;" HE'S PEEVISH

Slams Partners Savagely in Four-round Workout.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Gene Tunney is on edge and therefore peevish and sullen, which is a sure sign of condition. The challenger for Jack Dempsey's title is reasonably close to physical perfection and he is, as a result, about the most irritable human being on the face of the earth. He is willing to quarrel with his closest friends with or without provocation. Moreover he does.

Tunney has worked hard, lost most of his excess weight and his nerves, as a result, have become a bit frazzled.

Tunney is not stale, nor dangerously near staleness. He is just "in shape" and therefore peevish.

Tunney boxed four rounds yesterday. Boxed without paying much attention to the feeling of his sparring partners. He crossed to the jaws of Billy Vidabeck and Harold Mays and belted them about the body viciously. A snarl transfixed his usually calm face most of the time as he ducked and dodged his sparring partners' punches and countered them.

Johnny Dundee, Harry Perrson and Jimmy DeForest watched his work and liked his form. Dundee, a former champion, said that Dempsey was in good shape but that Tunney was in even better condition. Dundee predicted that Gene will defeat the champion.

DeForest, too, liked Tunney's condition. The former trainer of Dempsey estimated that he was not overly enthusiastic about Dempsey's condition.

Tunney will box again today and rest on Tuesday.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The shot in golf that is easiest to make, the long drive, is the one the golfer works hardest to get. The shot that is hardest to make and which often serves the player best, the niblick shot from the trap, is the one he pays the least attention to. Most golfers, when they find their ball in a trap at the side of the green, are satisfied merely to clout at it, hoping for the best—the best in each case being the hope that the ball will stop somewhere on the green or not too far away from it, if it gets out of the trap at all. The niblick is a useful club and not by any means is its usefulness confined to lofting the ball from traps. Out of the rough the niblick should invariably be used, while for pitches to hard greens or to small greens it cannot be beaten. The class might well give this week to lessons with the niblick. We will begin tomorrow.

EVEN MONEY ON BANTAM FIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 13—Bets at even money were being made today on the Charlie Rosenberg-Bud Taylor bantamweight title match scheduled for Cubs' park Thursday, Sept. 16. The trend of the sentiment indicates that Champion Rosenberg may enter the ring a 5 to 3 favorite.

TUNNEY'S NICE BOY SAYS JACK

Champ Sure of Winning, But How Soon—He Won't Say.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13.—Discovered in his cottage, in the act of trying to apply a combination headlock and half Nelson upon the frames of Mike Trant and Jerry the Greek, at once and the same time, Jack Dempsey was asked:

"How long do you think this Tunney fight will last?"

"Wait a minute—wait until I get these dudes pinned," replied Dempsey and with a final twist of Trant's arm and a final squeeze on Jerry's head, he flopped both men, sat on them. Demanded that they cry "uncle" and when they did, he climbed up and said:

"Well, of we were battling with books and Shakespeare and this fellow Shelley and this Keats and that I guess I'd lose in half minute. But this thing is with gloves, isn't it? And that makes a difference. How long will it last? Say I'm not a fortune-teller—just a knuckle thrower—that's all. So I cannot do any answering. I'll do it in the ring."

"What do you think of Tunney?" pursued the interviewer.

"A nice boy, great scholar, too," answered the champion, and I hear he has a good sock in either hand and he's mighty clever on defense. We'll he'll need to be. I have my title at stake when I meet him and I sort of like this thing of being champion, even if it has added a lot of lawyers to my payroll. And I don't like to lose, at that."

"I sure think I'll win but I don't know when or how long," he said. And Dempsey's whole attitude reflects a calm, quiet confidence. The mere fact that he spends part of his time roughing it and frolicking around with his attaches demonstrates that his mental adjustment is perfect. He doesn't seem to have a real care in the world nor a worry. His appetite is splendid and when night comes and he hits the pillow he's off to sleep inside of five minutes.

Favorite To Capture National Amateur Go

Faces Prospect of Being First Man to Win Title Over Three Successive Campaigns, and Add to Laurels as Open Champion of America and Great Britain.

BALTUSROL COUNTRY CLUB, SHORT HILLS, N. J. Sept. —Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., and 151 ordinary mortals this morning will begin the week-long quest that leads to rainbow's end and the title of amateur champion of golling America. No pot of gold awaits the ultimate survivor at the end of the multi-colored trail; no promise of mere wealth beyond the dreams of evarice.

Fortunate, indeed, is the man who loses all else save honor and there will be honor in plenty for the entry who wins the 1926 National Amateur golf championship. If that man should happen to be Bobby Jones, the honors that have been his in the past must be enhanced beyond all reason. If the winner comes from the ranks of the ordinary 151, his new-born greatness must be amplified by the fact that it came to him over the figurative dead body of such a man as Bobby Jones.

What price mere money in these circumstances? It is to laugh. There are millionaires in the field that will break from the barrier in the first half of the 36-hole qualifying round today and the writer could name a few who would gladly lose their wealth for the chance to call the championship cup their own.

Big Chance For Bobby.

To Jones, of course, it is the big moment of his career. Amateur champion in 1924 and 1925, he faces the alluring prospect of being the first man to win the title over three successive campaigns. pen champion of America and Great Britain. He can add this three-time trick to his reperatoire and go down into history as the man who ruled alone.

Can he achieve what many regard as the impossible? Jones can achieve anything. If he wins this title, with all the laws of "percentage" against him, it will cause no great surprise. If he loses, the element of surprise will be lacking again, for everyone knows that witchcraft died in the early days at Salem and that legerdemain cannot be turned off and on like a faucet.

In his salad days as a competitor, there was always some rival who stepped up with a display of unbeatable golf against Jones and national honors were denied him. Today, the positions are reversed. For three years, it was Jones who played unbeatable golf and it was the field that took the beating.

Therefore, when the fact is mentioned that Francis Ouimet, Chick Evans, Max Marston, Jesse Guilford, George Von Elm, Bob Gardner, Roland Mackenzie, Watts Gunn and other big timers will be arrayed against the Atlantic wizard, it is merely to state that the line of Jones' victims is forming on the left.

Play Under Way Today.

However, miracles will happen; so will mistakes. In the last British amateur championship, the only major title yet to elude our hero, he was eliminated before the final round by one Jamieson, who is neither a champ nor chump. Such a form-handspring can happen in this tournament.

MAY USE MIKE IN THIRD TILT

Chester Pilot Not Downcast; McCoy Tossers Optimistic.

DESPITE the fact that his club lost the first game of the "baby world's series" and despite the added facts that "Mike" Cebula will not be available for pitching duty before Wednesday, if then, and that Les McMath, second baseman, will be absent from the club for the remainder of the series, Frank Riley, Chester pilot, refuses to be downcast over his prospects.

"Mike" is suffering from the effects of a sprained wrist, received in a game last week. The swelling has almost disappeared and Manager Riley today declared he hoped to use Cebula against Laughlin Wednesday night. Wilde probably will be his selection tonight.

McMath has left on a vacation. He will be away the remainder of this week and all of next.

It is likely that Evans will be brought in from the outgarden and placed at second, with the two Marshalls and probably Cebula in the field.

The second series battle this evening will be played at Newell field, beginning at 5 o'clock, and will go seven innings. Fleming and Andrew, Midland arbiters, will handle the contest.

Manager McCoy, of Newell, asserts the series is going along as he predicted. He expects a sweeping victory for Laughlin.

CARDS' LEAD IS THREATENED

Pace Setters Now in Front of Reds by Only One Game.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—As a result of double victories by Pittsburgh and Cincinnati yesterday, the Cardinals lead on first place in the National league race is seriously threatened this morning. St. Louis now leads the Reds by only one game, while the Pirates trail Cincinnati by only one and one-half games.

The Cleveland Indians, fighting tooth and nail to get within striking distance of the Yankees, beat Washington again and cut New York's lead to seven games.

Tobin's homer with the bases loaded featured Boston's 11 to 3 victory over the Browns, but the Red Sox tagged Gaston for only two hits in the nightcap and were whitewashed, 1 to 0.

RENEE ADOREE IN "TIN GODS"

"Big Parade" Star With Meighan at Ceramic.

Renee Adoree, whose portrayal in "The Big Parade," has been acclaimed one of the outstanding performances of the year, began her screen career, oddly enough, as an Irish girl. Tom Moore's sister in one of his pictures, the little French mademoisele successfully interpreted a daughter of Erin and thus embarked on a film career that has given her a wide range of parts.

Miss Adoree has a preference for roles in which she can give full rein to a vivid personality. Unlike other players, she doesn't read or joke between scenes.

While appearing opposite Thomas Meighan in Paramount's "Tin Gods," which comes to the Ceramic today for a three day run and again on Saturday, Miss Adoree would retire to her portable dressing room. There she concentrated on the character she portrayed—a Latin-American singer in a border cafe. Or else, she talked to Meighan, Director Allan Dwan, Aileen Pringle and William Powell about the scenes that followed.

To the role of "Carita" in "Tin Gods," Miss Adoree brings all the charm and warmth of a volatile personality. Her part in the screen version of William Anthony McGuire's stage play is that the untutored girl who by her love and tender care regenerates Thomas Meighan, whom his ambitious, indifferent wife, Aileen Pringle, had debauched and nearly succeeded in destroying.

Miss Adoree professes no preferences as to roles she is called to portray, stipulating only that they be colorful and life-like.

FAMOUS "SLIM" IN RUDY FILM

Valentino's "Son of Sheik" Opens at American.

Karl Dane, giant character actor,—the famous "Slim" of "The Big Parade,"—plays an important role in Rudolph Valentino's last starring vehicle, "The Son of the Sheik," which opened a three-day run today at the American theatre.

Dane has scored signal successes in character parts of the gum-chewing soldier and the concierge with the walrus moustache in another feature film. His role of Ramadan in "The Son of the Sheik" is reported to give him full opportunity for his talents, not the least interesting of which is his knack of bunching his lips to a moue and bringing a great finger up to them, silencing the lovely Vilma Banky.

In his support of Valentino, Dane is a giant follower, bent upon protecting his master, Ahmed, who is constantly battling with a robber band for possession of the dancing girl, Yasmin.

Valentino has a remarkable cast beside Karl Dane in support, for producer John W. Considine, Jr., signed Agnes Ayres, George Fawcett, Bull Montana, Montagu Love and William Donovan, too. Vilma Banky, exotic Hungarian beauty, is the leading lady.

Simple Remedy For Bad Stomach Gives Quick Relief

No Need of Strong Medicine or Diet—Famous but Simple Old English Recipe Keeps Stomach in Fine Condition, Banishes After-Eating Distress.

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this simple advice.

Don't take strong medicines, artificial digestants or pull down your system by following unnecessary starvation diets.

Never hurry your meal or overeat of anything, but within reason most folks may eat what they like—if they will keep their stomach sweet, clean and active and free from the souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion.

And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a small amount of pure Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless and inexpensive form of Magnesia that promptly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A week's trial of Bisurated Magnesia, which may be obtained from any druggist for only a few cents, will easily convince you of the great value of this old English recipe.

Be sure and get BISURATED Magnesia—not a laxative.

TILDEN DEFENDS NATIONAL TITLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The national men's tennis championship gets under way at the West Side Tennis club, at Forest Hills this afternoon, with William T. Tilden defending the title which he won for six straight years. Tilden is presented with the opportunity of equalling a record that has stood since 1887, for not since then, when Richard S. Sears won his seventh straight tennis championship, has any man been able to win the United States singles title for seven years in succession.

Opening of a new broadcasting station at Zagreb, Yugoslavia, has quickened the interest in radio there.

proverbial that a strike is always for more pay and shorter hours, but the English miners in the present instance are striking against longer hours and less pay. They have been making a desperate stand against relinquishing any part of the economic advantage they and their forebears have gained through long years of struggle.

For many years they waged a fruitless fight to better their conditions, but by 1908 their organization had grown sufficiently strong to enable them to persuade Parliament to enact a law which gave them an 8-hour day. It is true that there was a last-moment amendment to the act which provided that the day should be reckoned from the first cage down to the last cage up in the mines, which meant really an 8½-hour day, but it was a great victory for the miners.

And having gained that much they went after more, with the result that presently there was a strike and a committee was named to consider the problem. This committee, of which Sir Arthur Balfour was chairman, recommended a seven-hour day, and even said that it might well be six. Whereupon, in 1919, the seven hour day law was enacted, but with the one-winding-time proviso which made it in effect a 7½-hour day.

Post-war conditions speedily brought about a crisis in the coal industry. It appeared that it was in very much the same condition as the coal industry in the United States—over-manned, not always efficiently managed, and with low-cost mines rapidly putting out of business the mines of high operating costs. The operators declared they could not go on unless the miners would agree to a return to the so-called 8-hour day and to a slight reduction in wages. The miners declared they could not live on less wages, and that they would not go backward in the matter of the hours of labor.

That was the deadlock last year when Parliament met the threat of a strike on August 1 by passing the act subsidizing the mines for a period of nine months. At the same time time a royal commission was created to make a study of the industry and report in May of this year.

The subsidy, it is charged by the miners, was not as efective as it should have been because it was paid in part to mines that were not entitled to it, and the royal commission failed to come through with an acceptable adjustment proposal. Then came the general strike.

Critics of the productiveness of the average American worker under present day conditions may be interested in knowing that the average annual output of the British miner prior to the strike was 217 tons, whereas in this country the miner produces on an average 655 tons.

RENEE ADOREE IN "TIN GODS"

"Big Parade" Star With Meighan at Ceramic.

Renee Adoree, whose portrayal in "The Big Parade," has been acclaimed one of the outstanding performances of the year, began her screen career, oddly enough, as an Irish girl. Tom Moore's sister in one of his pictures, the little French mademoisele successfully interpreted a daughter of Erin and thus embarked on a film career that has given her a wide range of parts.

Miss Adoree has a preference for roles in which she can give full rein to a vivid personality. Unlike other players, she doesn't read or joke between scenes.

While appearing opposite Thomas Meighan in Paramount's "Tin Gods," which comes to the Ceramic today for a three day run and again on Saturday, Miss Adoree would retire to her portable dressing room. There she concentrated on the character she portrayed—a Latin-American singer in a border cafe. Or else, she talked to Meighan, Director Allan Dwan, Aileen Pringle and William Powell about the scenes that followed.

To the role of "Carita" in "Tin Gods," Miss Adoree brings all the charm and warmth of a volatile personality. Her part in the screen version of William Anthony McGuire's stage play is that the untutored girl who by her love and tender care regenerates Thomas Meighan, whom his ambitious, indifferent wife, Aileen Pringle, had debauched and nearly succeeded in destroying.

Miss Adoree professes no preferences as to roles she is called to portray, stipulating only that they be colorful and life-like.

FAMOUS "SLIM" IN RUDY FILM

Valentino's "Son of Sheik" Opens at American.

Karl Dane, giant character actor,—the famous "Slim" of "The Big Parade,"—plays an important role in Rudolph Valentino's last starring vehicle, "The Son of the Sheik," which opened a three-day run today at the American theatre.

Dane has scored signal successes in character parts of the gum-chewing soldier and the concierge with the walrus moustache in another feature film. His role of Ramadan in "The Son of the Sheik" is reported to give him full opportunity for his talents, not the least interesting of which is his knack of bunching his lips to a moue and bringing a great finger up to them, silencing the lovely Vilma Banky.

In his support of Valentino, Dane is a giant follower, bent upon protecting his master, Ahmed, who is constantly battling with a robber band for possession of the dancing girl, Yasmin.

Valentino has a remarkable cast beside Karl Dane in support, for producer John W. Considine, Jr., signed Agnes Ayres, George Fawcett, Bull Montana, Montagu Love and William Donovan, too. Vilma Banky, exotic Hungarian beauty, is the leading lady.

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this simple advice.

Don't take strong medicines, artificial digestants or pull down your system by following unnecessary starvation diets.
